Hughes and Hoover.
Two Thankful Men.
Happy, Busy Wall St.
Curing an Atheist.

(Copyright, 1928)

EX-GOVERNOR HUGHES knows how to make a political speech. He begins by praising Governor Smith, whom he opposes, then makes a point concerning Mr. Hoover's availability that Mr. Hoover's friends will emphasize if they are wise.

MR. HUGHES hopes that prosperity will last, and by the way, it WILL, but, says he, "if any difficult situation should arise the one man who more than anyone else could be depended upon to bring the widest knowledge and the greatest resourcefulness to the devising of means to meet the emergency would be Herbert Hoover. It wouldn't be necessary for him to appoint a commission. He doubtless would seek the widest co-operation and the best counsel. But he himself would be about as good a commission as he could get already organized and in action."

That kind of statement makes votes.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, selecting Thursday, November 29th, a national day for Thanksgiving, expresses grateful recognition to "the giver of all goods," mentions the fact that "tranquility reigns throughout the land," our country is protected "as a whole" against pestilence and disaster. "Our fields have been abundantly productive, our industries have flourished, our commerce has increased, wages have been lucrative, and contentment has followed the undisturbed pursuit of honest toil."

That proclamation is as near to a political speech as President Coolidge has come in this campaign.

ON November 29th, two men should be grateful—Hoover and Smith. One will be grateful for the chance to show what he can do as a president, the other will, or ought to be, grateful that the heavy responsibility has passed him by.

HAPPY, busy day in Wall Street. Oil stocks were strong, and copper stocks stronger. The public bought more than 4,500,000 shares.

HIGH finance doesn't seem much disturbed by the kind of "state socialism," attributed to Governor Smith by Mr. Hoover.

United States Steel went higher than it ever had been; General Electric reported bigger earnings than ever, and so on and so forth. Poor bears, they might as well turn bull and be done with it.

CHARLES SMITH, president of the American Association for the advancement of atheism, locked up in Arkansas for insulting the deity, started a hunger strike and lost 11 pounds while gaining a week's beard. He won't eat until after election.

THIS fasting may cure Mr. Smith of several things, including atheism. When he finds what his body can stand he will doubtless say with the good book: "I will praise the Lord, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made."

Arkansas, by the way, never voted to forbid Darwin's evolution theory. The idea was suggested, but beaten. Arkansas never copies other states, it originates.

DOROTHY DIX, able newspaper woman, returns from a visit to the Syrian desert, which she crossed from Damascus to Bagdad.

Miss Dix went to the desert too late. She found sheiks riding on Ford cars instead of prancing Arab horses and wearing clothes cut out 10,000 suits at a time in Chicago, Rochester or some other American city.

A BRITISH citizen, over a powerful radio owned by the government, sent a message addressed to a lady living on Mars, never nearer this earth than 40,000,000 miles.

The usual fee was charged, and lo and behold, after the prepaid message started on its 18,700-meter wave, a strange message came back through the loud speaker, "giving dots and dashes quite clearly without interruption." Martians know that we can't understand their language. In all probability they had nothing to do with those "dots and dashes," but it is interesting.

In connection with dots and dashes, it is well to remember that several members of Congress were once beaten for re-election because "they were fools enough to vote public money for an impossible contraption called the telegraph that would send messages over a wire." The "contraption" now works, even without wires.

THE National City Bank, richest private institution in the world, will interest itself to the extent of $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 in airplane development.

And Mr. Mitchell, head of the National City, shows wisdom in encouraging a flying organization of Seattle. That energetic city of the Northwest, close to Asia, has good reasons for developing aviation and is doing it.

WHEN will the big General Motors Company begin airplane manufacture? Mr. Sloan knows that his giant company will be making airplanes sooner or later, why not NOW?

TESTIFIES BEFORE GRAND JURY

Today the grand jury probing graft knows some, at least, of what Alfred W. Forney, racketeer serving a federal sentence in Allegheny county jail, knows of organized vice in Greater Pittsburgh. For today, Forney, as he promised in Federal Court, told. Here he is in his trip from the jail to the district attorney's office and thence to the grand jury witness chair. This is the first picture known to have been taken of Forney. Note his cigar and grim look. In the center, to the rear, is Warden John McNeil of the county jail.

SLOT BARON LEAVES CELL TO FACE JURY GRILL

Alfred W. Forney has told. The racketeer who admits fracturing the liquor laws and directing a great slot machine ring, and who rose from the lowly surroundings of a poorly paid clerk to a mansion in Perrysville avenue, today told in part at least what he knows of organized graft, a graft system said to involve police, politicians and lawmakers.

Forney, a federal prisoner, was escorted from the county jail on a court order at 1:25 p. m. After a short conference in District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner's office he was placed in the witness chair at 2:30 before a grand jury that for five weeks has been hearing evidence to support the charges of John J. Verona, the Republican rebel of the Hill district.

It was a sober-faced racketeer, rich from the quarters and half-dollars that poured into countless slot machines, who walked from the county jail with Warden John McNeil, Attorney Hiram D. Hirsh, his counsel, and a county detective.

DODGES CAMERAS

A diamond pin in his tie, two rings on his fingers and a plain blue suit covering his tall, ample form, Forney reached the corridor of the courthouse to be greeted by the flashlights of news photographers. Hurriedly he jerked down his slouch hat and hid his face behind his right arm, his lighted cigar forgotten for the moment.

What Forney told the grand jurors is, of course, secret with that jury. When the District Attorney this morning went into Federal Court with a petition asking permission to examine the man, that petition set forth that Forney had been mentioned in other testimony and that apparently he had important knowledge of the racket world.

Forney went before the grand jury unwillingly. His counsel, Attorney Hirsh, and Gardner held repeated conferences and attempted to "get together" on Forney's testimony. They were unable to agree on the conditions under which he should testify, whether, possibly, he should receive a measure of leniency for contributing incriminating testimony.

Judge James B. Drew, who ordered this investigation after Alderman Verona charged wholesale graft to the city police, apparently ended that disagreement. Gardner said today that Judge Drew was opposed to giving Forney any protection whatever.

PROMISES EVIDENCE

If Forney honors a promise he made in Federal Court two months ago, he will "tell all," as he then promised to do. One of the 167 racketeers, politicians and policemen indicted in the Federal rum probe, he pleaded no defense to conspiracy and was sentenced to six months in jail. In pleading he said his conscience was bothering him, that he wanted to turn over a new leaf.

To hear Forney, the grand jury was kept in session today. Then it will be dismissed while Gardner and his assistant, Andrew T. Park, prepare the presentment—a digest of the testimony, citing specific violations—which will be submitted to Judge Drew. Judge

ZEPPELIN DUE OVER CITY AT NIGHT

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 25. —Aviation's greatest foe—the weather—is cheating millions of Americans out of seeing the Graf Zeppelin soar over their heads today.

The airship's Mid-Western trip was postponed from 20 to 24 hours at 9:45 o'clock last night at a time when all members of the crew were at their posts and 22 passengers were already aboard with their baggage.

START AT 5 P. M.

However, shortly before noon today it was announced that the hour for departure had been tentatively set for 5 o'clock, just before darkness descends over the station. Weather reports along the route of travel was regarded as favorable by the ship's navigators.

Commenting on the number of requests concerning the ship's radio wave length for receiving and sending messages, the radio officers stated today that all amateur stations are being asked to refrain from trying to communicate with the ship as well as Army and naval stations in order that the Zeppelin's one receiving set might be clear for important weather bulletins and other necessary communications. The ship will be able to receive messages on any wave length between 1,300 and 2,500 meters.

A low depression area moving from the Great Lakes northeast, bringing rain squalls and high winds in its train, caused the sudden postponement yesterday.

Capt. Hans Fleming announced the postponement in German. It was not understood by most of the passengers, the few spectators who had gathered in the hangar and scores of newspapermen who had waited all day to flash word of the Zeppelin's departure, until some one passed the word in English. Disappointment could be read in everyone's eyes. The passengers were the last to grasp the meaning of Capt. Fleming's command. Glumly they carried their baggage from the cabins and filed out of the hangar.

To the press, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, explained the postponement had been decided upon not because the ship could have avoided the depression area, but principally because the purpose of the flight—to show the dirigible to the people of the Mid-

SMITH BRANDS SOCIALISM TAG AS SCREEN

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 25.—Grinning, happy, but still a bit dizzy over the most turbulent reception he has ever participated in or seen during his quarter century in politics, Gov. Al Smith went out of Boston today wholly convinced that the 18 electoral votes of Massachusetts are his next month.

He faced southward today, campaigning through Rhode Island and Connecticut, and tonight he will sleep in New York. A hard 12-hour day was ahead of him. But it held no terrors for him after Boston, and nothing that Philadelphia, Baltimore, Newark, Brooklyn and New York can do hereafter will surprise him—after Boston.

This ancient citadel of Irish democracy literally turned itself inside out for the Democratic candi- of the arena in which he spoke last night, they smashed the windows, they almost mobbed him, they pushed his automobile by physical

BUTLER GARAGE MAN ADMITS FIRE MURDER

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 25.—J. Earl Jones, 38, West End garage owner, murdered his wife, Nellie Adams Jones, 33, then burned her body, he confessed last night. Gaunt and haggard at the end of a 48-hour grilling, Jones was near collapse when he was led into a cell in the county jail and announced that he would tell all.

Previously he had made some admissoins and many conflicting statements. As the cell door clanked behind him he "broke."

To Capt. Jacob Mauk, of the state police, the sheriff and detective of Butler county, Jones detailed the events of last Friday night, with the burning of an old log house on the Patterson farm, six miles away, into which he had carried the body of his wife.

According to the police version of his confession, Jones and his wife quarreled Friday night because he would not take her on an auto ride. After lunch in their home they quarreled. He insists the shooting of his wife was accidental. In a struggle, he says, a revolver which was on a dresser, was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking his wife.

MAGISTRATE FLOUTS LAW IN VICE CASES

Three clear-cut examples of the system under which Pittsburgh police magistrates virtually license commercial vice came to light in Magistrate George R. England's court on the North Side.

Ignoring the law requiring magistrates to hold for the grand jury defendants against whom a prima facie case of violating the Snyder act has been presented, England dismissed with a fine of $100 each three men accused of infringing that statute.

The defendants were George Bodick, 37, of 3183 McClure avenue; George Salbek, of 4 Penway street, and Andrew Puhac, of 2822 Preble avenue. Lieut. John Lynch raided the homes of the three last night and found liquor in all of them and

SUN-TELEGRAPH WILL LIGHT SKIES FOR ZEP

If, as scheduled, the Graf Zeppelin flies over Pittsburgh on its western tour tonight, the Sun-Telegraph will welcome the big air liner with a battery of giant searchlights which will illuminate the skies and give Pittsburghers an opportunity to see the big trans-Atlantic air liner as it has never been viewed before.

The big searchlights, supplied by the Pittsburgh Reflector Company, the most powerful available, will bathe the big ship in a flood of light, presenting a spectacle never before seen here. The weather man promises clear skies and a full moon. Pittsburgh surely is in for a rare treat. Hearst newspaper correspondents' dispatches are the only ones radioed direct from the big air liner. They appear EXCLUSIVELY in the Sun-Telegraph in Pittsburgh.

GIRL VICTIM BEATS NEGRO AT HEARING

Women shrieked and fainted in Morals Court today and the court room was thrown into confusion as a rush was made at Arthur Adams and Eugene Miller, North Side Negroes, who have admitted a long list of attacks on girls, when the pair were arraigned before Magistrate John Orie.

A half dozen police formed a cordon around the prisoners to repel the attack of a score or more persons who shouted for summary justice. It was not until the Negroes were rushed back into cells that order was restored and the hearing held in two sections. At one, eight women victims briefly corroborated statements they had given police. After the women had been taken out of the court room, the Negroes were

BUS, CAR QUIZ BY TRADERS STARTS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

The relationship of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to the other organizations of the Byllesby system and the possibility that excess payments are being made by the street car lines for services performed by the related companies will be the local point of the investigation of street car and bus transportation started by the transportation committee of he Allied Boards of Trade at a meeting last night.

A list of questions to be asked A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia Company, was approved. Harry Bastow, secretary of the committee, was directed to present the questions today.

Every phase of the transportation system including the 25-cent bus fare, salaries paid to officials, one-man cars and finances is covered by the questions.

Of the 32 detailed points on which information is sought, 17 were concerned with the charges paid by the railways company to the Duquesne Light Company, the Philadelphia Company and the Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation. These covered the price paid for power to the Duquesne Light Company and the arrangements for engineering and financial services performed by the other organizations in the group.

BASIS FOR PROBE

Answers to the questions were requested by November 1 if possible. The information secured by the questions will form the basis for additional fact finding.

The questions follow:

1. Ownership: What is the stock and bond structure upon which interest or dividends are being now paid, or on which interest or dividends are accruing as a liability?

2. Comparison: Compare the present stock and bond structure with that existing as of Janauary 1, 1926.

3. Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation?

4. Maintenance, new construction and improvements:

(a) What, if any, contracts exist between the Pittsburgh Railways Company the Philadelphia Company, and the Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation, covering maintenance, new construction and improvements? What emolument or consideration is received by the Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation on sums expended for such work?

(b) Is this consideration or emolument always for actual service rendered, and does the company receive full value for the sums so expended?

(c) Is such payment a charge against the income resulting from the operations of the railways system?

(d) Does the Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation use its own capital, or are these improvements or additions made by the use of the capital or income of the Pittsburgh Railways Company?

5. Finance:

(a) What, if any, contracts or arrangements exist between the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the Philadelphia Company, and the Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation in reference to financing the Pittsburgh Railways Company, or any of its subordinate companies?

(b) Does your company contend that they cannot afford to furnish better facilities to the public at the present eight and one-third cent rates of fare?

11. One Man Cars:

(a) Do your records show by increase of accidents that the hazard to the public is greater through operation of one man cars?

INQUEST HOLDS FIRE DEATH GIRL ON MURDER CHARGE

Seemingly in a daze, 15-year-old Marie Hecker heard the reading of a verdict by a coroner's jury today holding her for the grand jury on a charge of murder.

The girl admitted, according to testimony of County Detective James Reddington, that she had set fire to the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hecker, 209 Washington street, East McKeesport, October 16, burning to death Claire Peterson, 2.

"I did it because I didn't like Sarah Hickey," the girl confessed, Reddington testified. Sarah, 6, was rescued from the burning building by William Rafferty. The Hecker girl, left with the two children, locked the doors and departed with her baby, after firing a basket of clothes, it is charged.

Slot King Facing Jury

Drew should have the presentment by Tuesday, Gardner said.

The jury will be reconvened when Judge Drew returns the presentment, with recommendations for indictment. It will be necessary to call at least one witness to each true bill, and in Gardner's opinion there will be 200 true bills drawn.

SURPRISE PROMISED

According to Gardner, the indictments will be returned by November 2, four days before the presidential election. Some of the names on the true bills will be of startling prominence, Gardner has declared.

With the drafting of indictments, the jury's task of breaking the grip of graft still will be far from complete. An order was issued in court yesterday continuing the October jury as a special investigating body and it will sit in conjunction with the November jury to finish the job. The inquiry will go on for at least three weeks longer, but, even so, Gardner said, he has small hope of tearing all the tentacles of the graft octopus from their grip on the public purse.

SQUIRE, CONSTABLES GUILTY OF FRAUD

Four raiding constables and a "fixing squire" were found guilty of conspiracy to defraud and of extortion in two of three cases, when the jury's verdict was returned in Criminal Court this afternoon. Raymond Bengle, Aleppo township constable, was found guilty in a third extortion charge and the others found not guilty.

Justice of the Peace C. J. Ranshaw, Neville township; and Constables Paul Sweeney, Bengle, J. V. Groom, Findley township, and Frank Hartz, Neville township, were accused of forcing the payment of $375 from Anthony Puniak, 2823 Preble avenue, and extorting $100 from Charles Poehlman, 697 Preble avenue, after liquor raids. Only Bengle was found guilty on the charge involving the extortion of $100 from Martin Slanina, 183 Cass avenue.

Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk, who prosecuted the case, summed up this morning, and the charge of Judge James H. Gray was given shortly before noon in a courtroom packed with politicians.

The raids were made March 21, last, and when Puniak reported an offer to fix the case, city, county and federal officers swooped down on the squire's office and arrested the five defendants.

Application was made for a new trial, and the court fixed the bail of each of the defendants at $5,000. They were released.

The record of the "Yankee Doodle," a Lockheed Vega monoplane, for the transcontinental flight last summer was 18 hours and 58 minutes.

"Despite the fact that we could have flown over almost any route, the flight would have been a mistake," Dr. Eckener explained. "Wind was good for taking the ship out of the hangar but when weather reports showed existence of the depression and promised squalls and mist, we held it best to postpone the flight until the weather clears up and will make it possible for the people to see our ship."

Dr. Eckener stated that he hoped to visit all large cities in the Middle West and mentioned Chicago, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Cincinnati, and Detroit among them. He said, however, that all his plans would necessarily depend upon the weather encountered.

England Defies Law

a still in Salback's house, he testified.

IGNORES ORDER

England's action in assuming jurisdiction in the case was the more striking because only yesterdey Magistrate A. D. Brandon issued a public statement in which he said he had been told by Judge James B. Drew, presiding in Quarter Sessions Court, that it was mandatory upon a magistrate to hold for court every liquor case. Brandon said that the city law department, on being informed of Judge Drew's instructions, told him to comply with them. England's action also is remarkable in that it comes only one day after District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner had admitted that magistrates unlawfuly assuming jurisdiction in liquor case were liable to prosecution for malfeasance in office.

England's defense is that he acted under a city ordinance based on an act of Assembly of 1869, which is said to authorize the police to enter without a warrant a house where the liquor laws are violated, and to authorize magistrates to fine the defendants on the charge of keeping a disorderly house.

Evidence was presented against Bedick to the effect that a raid on his house disclosed 13 quarts of whisky and seven barrels of mash, of which he admitted ownership.

The testimony against Salback was that a 10-gallon still and seven quarts of whisky were found in his house. The still was idle.

Puhac was accused of the possession of three gallons of whisky. He was not at home when Lieut. Lynch called, but was arrested this morning by Lieut. Harry Moore.

BANDITS HEADED HERE KIDNAP TROOPER

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—(INS.)—A gun girl, who is as hard boiled as she is pretty, early today kidnaped a Pennsylvania state trooper, with the aid of two male companions, and brought him through Baltimore, finally dumping him out at Halethorpe, Md.

At least that was the story related to Captain of Detectives Burns, of the Baltimore police, by Robert Troup, of Harrisburg, state policeman, who, minus gun and other equipment, made his way to headquarters today.

Troup stated he and a companion were patrolling the Lee highway, near Lancaster, Pa., when a machine with only one headlight burning speeded down the road. The car was stopped and Troup got in. He said the occupants were two "hard-boiled babies" and a pretty bobbed-haired blonde.

The other officer proceeded into Lancaster leaving Troup to follow him in the car. A short distance from Lancaster, Troup stated, the pretty blonde dragged out a gun that looked like a French 75 and stuck it in his ribs ordering silence. One of the male companions then proceeded to relieve him of his gun, blackjack and other equipment, he said.

Turning around Troup stated the car speeded to Belair where he was used as a decoy to stop another motorist. The occupants of the stopped car were ordered out at the point of a gun and chased into a nearby woods. Troup said the bandits then proceeded to transfer a machine gun and about 10 automatic pistols to the stolen machine. They then proceeded through the heart of Baltimore until they reached Halethorpe, where Troup was unceremoniously propelled from the car by the sharp toe of the bobbed haired bandit's shoe.

Troup declared he heard snatches of conversation from the trio that indicated they were to join a band of criminals in Pittsburgh tonight, where a big robbery is to be staged. When he last saw the car in which his abductors escaped the officer declared it was heading toward Washington.

Capt. Burns expressed a belief the bandits were the same, who, several weeks ago, held up and shot John Thomas Revell in Baltimore. Revell later died.

Neither Chief George W. Murren of the county detective force nor Inspector Frank Boyd of the city detective bureau have been notified of the contemplated Pittsburgh robbery, reported by State Highway Patrolman Troup to Baltimore officers.

VICTIMS BEAT NEGROES

brought in, admitted the charges and were held for court on 10 charges.

When the prisoners were called before the magistrate, Miss Catherine Bergin, maid in the home of the Rev. Maitland Alexander, Ridge avenue, leaped at Adams and with clenched fists began beating him. Simultaneously the other women became hysterical and their shrieks aroused all in the room.

Catherine Lynch, 912 Reedsdale street, victim of an attack last February, fainted.

A score or more persons in the court room, including husbands and friends of the victims, made a rush for the prisoners, and Inspector James Hoey and a squad of officers threw themselves between the prisoners and the crowd and edged the accused back into the cell room. After the women had been quieted, they were called before the magistrate and stated that they had made statements to police concerning the various attacks.

ADMIT CRIMES

The Negroes were brought out and Adams admitted the following attacks, in some of which Miller participated:

November 20, 1927, Mrs. W. B. Wadsworth, Phipps apartments, at Lacock and West Canal street, stole purse containing $3.

December 3, 1927, attacked Margaret Norton, 705 Ridge avenue, at Ridge avenue and Bank street.

December 28, 1927, beat and attacked Florence Kerr, 15, of 515 West Jefferson street, at West Jefferson and Atlanta streets.

September 24, 1928, robbed Mary Higgins, United Presbyterian Home, at Beuna Vista and West Jefferson streets; obtained $3.25.

October 21, 1928, robbed Julia Curren, 957 Ridge avenue, of purse in North Lincoln avenue.

October 21, 1928, tore tonsils of Catherine Burgen, 920 Ridge avenue, in stifling her cries when attacked.

October 19, 1928, dragged Margaret Keller, 14, of 105 West Carrington street, into shed in Arch street extension.

October 21, 1928, hit Mrs. Helen Reiter, 1608 Buena Vista street, with brick when she resisted at Monterey and Eloise streets.

October 22, hit David McConnell, 1610 Monterey street, in attempting to escape from McConnell's home when cornered by police.

Miller admitted participating in the attacks on the Norton, Curren, Burgen, Keller and Reiter women. He also admitted robbing Catherine Lynch, Reedsdale street, on February 27, last, obtaining $2.

The prisoners were arrested by Patrolmen Henry Ocharzak and Joseph Scanlon last Sunday after three attacks had been reported. Adams was arrested after a chase over rooftops in the vicinity of McConnell's home and Miller was arrested in his home in Gershon street.

JUDGE FLAYS WOMAN FOR HAIR-PULLING IN COURT

Mrs. Sue Kowalchik, of Munhall, who pulled a lawyer's hair in Criminal Court yesterday just to show the jury how her own hair had been pulled by her sister-in-law, won her case today. Her sister-in-law, Stella Cutnell, was found guilty of assault and battery.

However, there was some humiliation for Mrs. Kowalchik. And in the end there was triumph for Stella Cutnell. Judge Josiah Cohen reprimanded Mrs. Kowalchik for bruising the court's dignity and he paroled Stella.

At Judge Cohen's order, Mrs. Kowalchik apologized to the court, to the jury and to Attorney Frank Zappala, the counsel for Miss Cutnell.

It was Zappala whose hair was pulled enthusiastically. Mrs. Kowalchik, on the stand, went into action when Zappala asked her to illustrate her complaint.

CAMPBELL, ESTEP, BECK, CONGRESSMEN, WET

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Sun-Telegraph Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Four additional candidates for Congress in Pennsylvania, including three at Pittsburgh, have pledged themselves to work for repeal or modification of the Volstead act and Eighteenth Amendment in the event of their election on November 6 next.

Their pledges were given in response to a questionnaire sent out to all candidates for congressional office by the Association Against the Prohibition Amedment, leading modification organization of the country. The three Pittsburghers include Representative Guy E. Campbell; Representative Harry A. Estep, and John J. Murray, Democratic opponent of Mr. Estep.

Representative James M. Beck, of Philadelphia, the fourth Pennsylvania candidate responding to the questionaire, said that while he was opposed to the general policy of canvassing members of Congress on public questions, feeling that they should be left free to excercise "free judgment" on problems that come up, he unhesitatingly pronounced himself in opposition to the present national liquor laws.

"I have no hesitation in saying" he wrote, "That I have never believed, and do not now believe in the Eighteenth Amendment, although, as solicitor general I loyally supported the side of the government in every litigated question that arose under that amendment and the enforcement laws."

Representative Campbell recommended that the Eighteenth Amendment be repealed and the subject of prohibition left with the individual states "where it belongs."

Declaring that the prohibition laws have been anything but a success, Representative Estep urged the whole question be placed before the country in a referendum for final determination. He said he was in favor of modification of the Volstead act " if such modification can be accomplished without violatig the constitution of the United States.'"

Mr. Murray expressed himself in favor of the removal of the Eighteeth Amendment from the Federal constitution. The problem is one, he said, which should be solved by the individual states. He declared for absolute repeal of the Volstead act.

HOOVER SPURS AIDES TO GET OUT VOTE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—With his departure for the West Coast one week away, Herbert Hoover laid plans today to spur his Republican organization into a final drive for presidential votes.

The Republican nominee, convinced by optimistic reports that he will win on November 6 if his organization gets out the vote, planned a series of conferences with Eastern leaders and with various political groups during his final week in the East. These conferences will be held at his headquarters here and their purpose will be to whip up a highly enthusiastic organization for action on election day.

LONG JOURNEY TO VOTE

Hoover will set an example to the rest of the country by making a 3,400-mile journey to his home in Stanford University, Cal., to vote. He will take along his wife and two sons to make the example all that more effective. He leaves next Thursday afternoon.

The nominee will make two more contributions to the campaign. First, he will speak in St. Louis on the night of Friday, November 2, a semi-final public appearance, while his last act in the campaign will be a radio speech from his home on the Monday night before election.

En route to St. Louis, Hoover will ride aboard a special train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, through Maryland, West Virginia and Kentucky.

He has scheduled stops at Cumberland, Md., and Louisville, Ky., but if crowds gather to greet him during the daylight hours, he probably will be prevailed upon to make other rear platform appearances.

HOME ELECTION EVE

Leaving St. Louis, the nominee will take a "bee-line" route to the coast. His train will be run over the Burlington road from St. Louis to Grand Island, Neb., via St. Joseph, Mo. In Nebraska his train will be switched to the tracks of the Union Pacific through Wyoming, Utah and Nevada. The last lap, through Sacramento, Cal., will be made over the Southern Pacific lines. He expects to reach his home late the afternoon of Monday, November 5.

His St. Louis speech, in effect, will be his last public bid for votes. In it, he will discuss the mid-western waterway problem, rediscuss his program for agricultural relief and some collateral matters. It will deal with agricultural problems and the problems of the whole Mississippi Valley.

The radio address, scheduled for the night before election, may have but little Republican politics in it. Under present plans, the nominee probably will make a simple appeal to the American electorate to go to the polls and vote. Havng set such an example himself, by crossing the continent to vote, Hoover can well urge his fellow citizens to go to the trouble of using their suffrage in a presidential election.

DRY PADLOCK DOOMS FIRE ALARM IN MONONGAHELA

The town of Monongahela is about to lose its fire-alarm whistle. The siren is in the plant of the Monongahela Beverage Company.

Yesteday Federal Judge Nelson McVicar signed a decree directing United States Marshal J. C. McGregor to "padlock" the plant for one year, the court having found it was conducted as a "common nuisance," because of having been used in violating the prohibition law.

At a hearing of an injunction suit last week, brought against the plant by the government, L. B. Frye, director of public safety of Monongahela, testified the whistle was an asset to the town.

In the court decree the marshal is directed to destroy all the beer in the plant, except that to be held as evidence. There is a criminal suit pending in connection with the operation of the plant.

At the injunction hearing before Judge McVicar prohibition agents testified to seizing five barrels of high-test beer in the plant on July 20.

LAWRENCE CO. LEANING TO HOOVER

Lawrence county, which offers a peculiar political problem in Western Pennsylvania, will give Herbert Hoover a marked advantage over Gov. Alfred E. Smith November 6, according to the complete canvass of the county by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in its straw vote poll of Pennsylvania.

It will increase in its Republicanism, according to final returns. President Coolidge carried the county, winning 67 per cent of the total vote cast in 1924. Hoover will receive 79 per cent of the total vote on the face of the straw vote canvass.

A strange situation exists in Lawrence county, with the Democratic state chairman, because he will not support Smith. Ballots cast by voters in New Castle and Elwood City indicate that Smith will obtain considerable support in those places, not sufficient to carry the towns or affect the result in the county.

The usual situation in Western Pennsylvania counties is apparent in Lawrence county. Hoover will capture the votes of new electors by a ratio of approximately 2 to 1. Smith will profit by party defections by at least 2 to 1 and will capture the bulk of the LaFollette vote. The women's vote will go to Hoover in this county by 2 to 1, less than in many rural counties, where the ratio is as high as 5 to 1.

The Pennsylvania poll, conducted in connection with the nation-wide canvass by the Hearst papers, with the latest returns reaches a total of 103,095 ballots, with Hoover leading by 31,169.

The standing is: Hoover 67,182, including 54,506 men and 12,676 women; Smith 35,913, including 27,869 men and 8,044 women. This vote in 1924 was divided as follows: Coolidge 71,264, including 57,595 men and 13,669 women; Davis 11,055, including 9,324 men and 1,731 women; LaFollette 6,027; not voting 14,749.

WOMEN SWINGING REVOLT AGAINST SMITH IN SOUTH

By CHARLES N. WHEELER,
Noted Political Analyst.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—While the anti-Tammany insurrection is general throughout the entire South, percentage comparisons in the Hearst nation-wide poll this morning show that the spirit of revolt flames highest among the women voters.

With the exception of Tennessee, where Hoover is polling a plurality of both men and women, the entire South, as well as the border states, show this line of demarcation.

In Alabama and Georgia, which will be carried by Smith because of the men vote, the women sentiment, the Hearst poll today shows, is about evenly divided.

Mississippi, South Carolina, Louisiana and Arkansas also are placed in the Smith column, but what revolting is going on in these commonwealths is most articulate among the women.

Elsewhere throughout the South and the border territory the poll shows Hoover in the lead, with corroborative indications that if the sentiment can be registered at the ballot box these states, as of today, appear likely to break up the "Solid South" for the first time in 60 years.

FIGURES

The states of this group now indicating a preference for Hoover, with the percentage equivalents of men and women voters, follow:

	Men.	Women.
Florida	58.7	58.3
North Carolina	53.9	56.3
Texas	50.5	60
Virginia	49.9	52.5
Tennessee	55.3	54
Maryland	55.6	59
Kentucky	57.6	59.8
Missouri	53.5	58

Virginia and Texas, it will be observed, will go to Hoover, if at all, because of the women revolt against Gov. Smith's wet stand, as embodied in his telegram to the Houston convention repudiating the party pronouncement.

RUM THE ISSUE

The main actuating motive behind the revolt in the old dominion ows from the demon rum issue. All the scouts who have canvassed the state at first hand so report, and the newspapers generally reflect the accuracy of this conclusion.

Of all the commonwealths in the southern tier in which Hoover may have a chance, Virginia supplies the closest battle, and if the political miracle should eventuate and these 12 electoral votes delivered to the G. O. P., it would be due to the women vote.

The Washington Herald, which has charge of the poll in this territory, has completed a canvass of the entire 10 congressional districts in Virginia.

The Herald estimates the total vote in the state this year, after checking up on the registration, at 245,000, and extends its calculations in this wise:

"The Herald considers 30 per cent a conservative estimate of the women vote. This would call for a woman vote of between 70,000 and 75,000. With Hoover taking 52.5 per cent and Smith 47.5 per cent, Hoover would have a women majority of 3,500 to 3,750.

"On the basis of the poll returns, Smith has 50.1 per cent and Hoover 49.9 per cent of the men vote. Should these percentages prevail at the polls and 70 per cent of the total be cast by men, making that vote from 170,000 to 175,000, the difference would give Smith a margin in the men vote of less than 500. This would leave 3,000 or more to the good in the state.

"Of course, these are only hypothetical deductions, based on what The Herald's poll shows, for no one can foretell with accuracy what will take place on election day. Nevertheless they serve to show quite convincingly how the woman vote appears to be the controlling factor in the ultimate result."

LEGION'S CHAPLAIN WILL SPEAK HERE

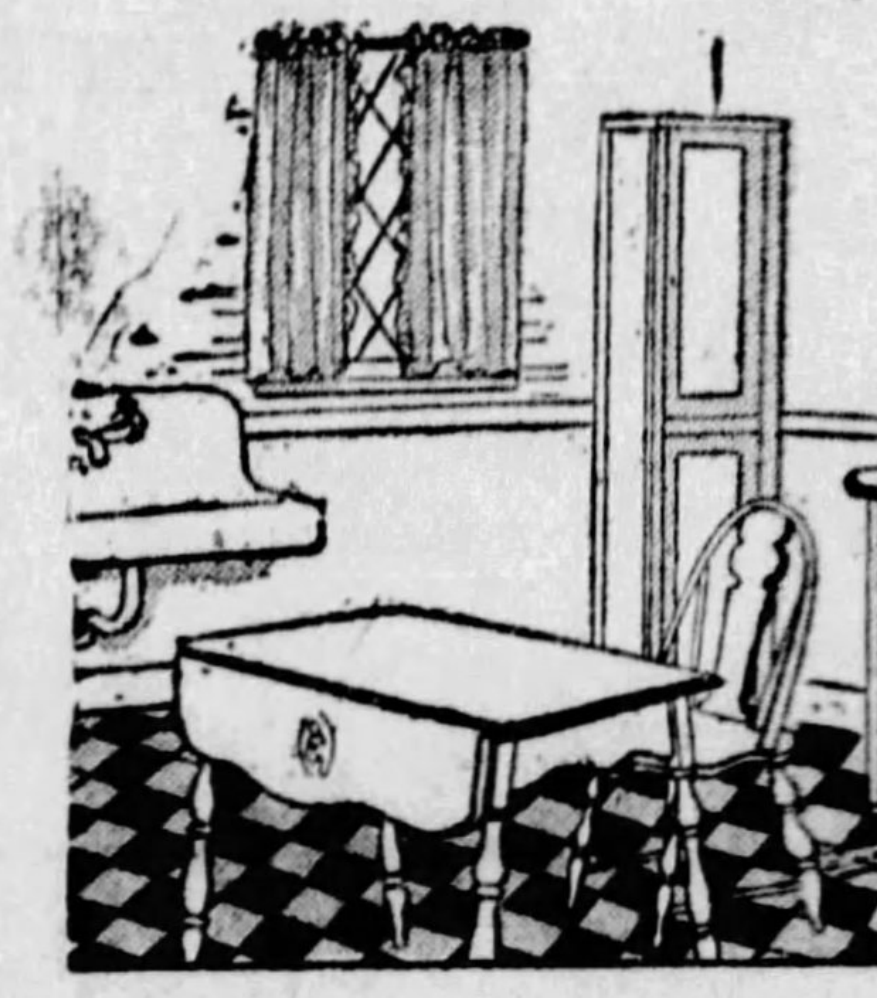
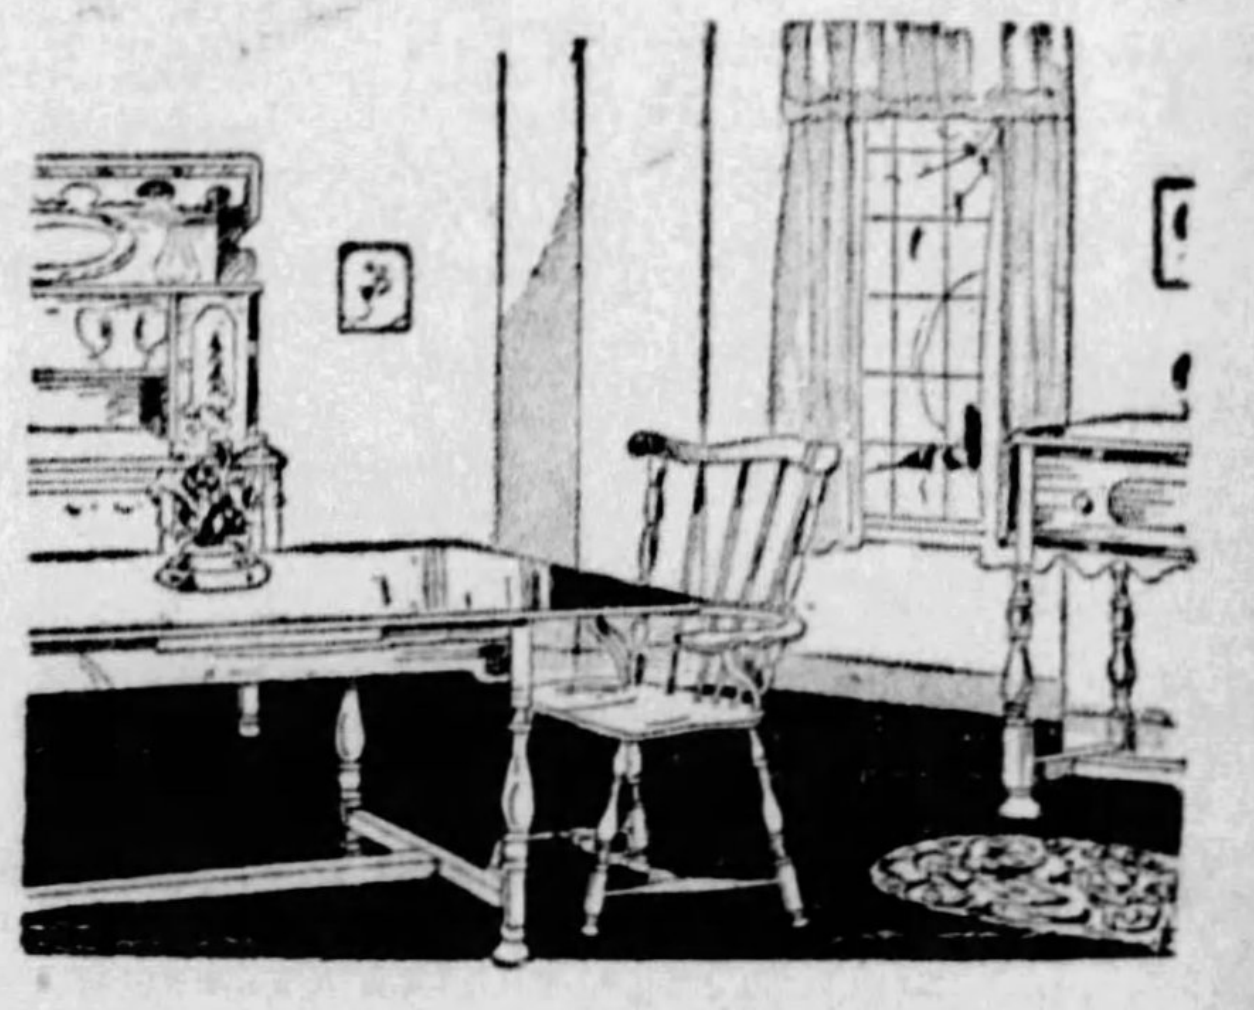
House & Garden Event—at Gimbels

The Early American Cottage Attractively Furnished

A real accomplishment . . . this beautifully furnished cottage completely set up in the Ninth Floor display. Our interior decorating staff, working with House and Garden, has grouped the pieces in these five rooms with two motives . . . to make it style-right, homelike and beautiful . . . and priced low enough to be within the reach of every home maker. It is complete in every detail, from the boudoir to the kitchen. Each room is individual, yet in perfect harmony with the Early American type. Don't fail to visit it while you are in the store.

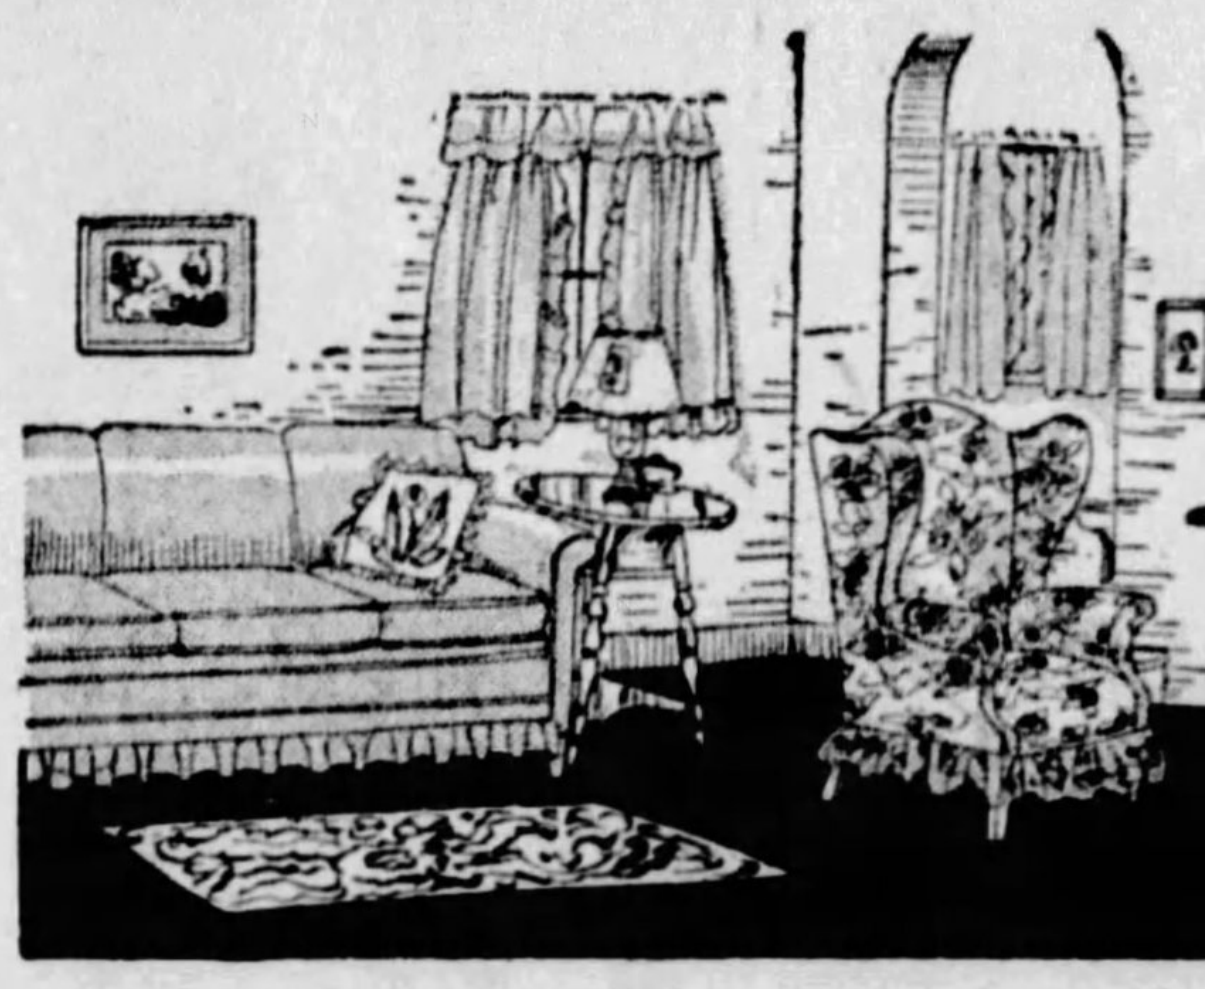


DURING Gimbels House and Garden Event, a special offer of House and Garden magazine, for a period of five months, is made available at the low price of $1.00. Subscription may be placed in the book department or at any service desk in the store.



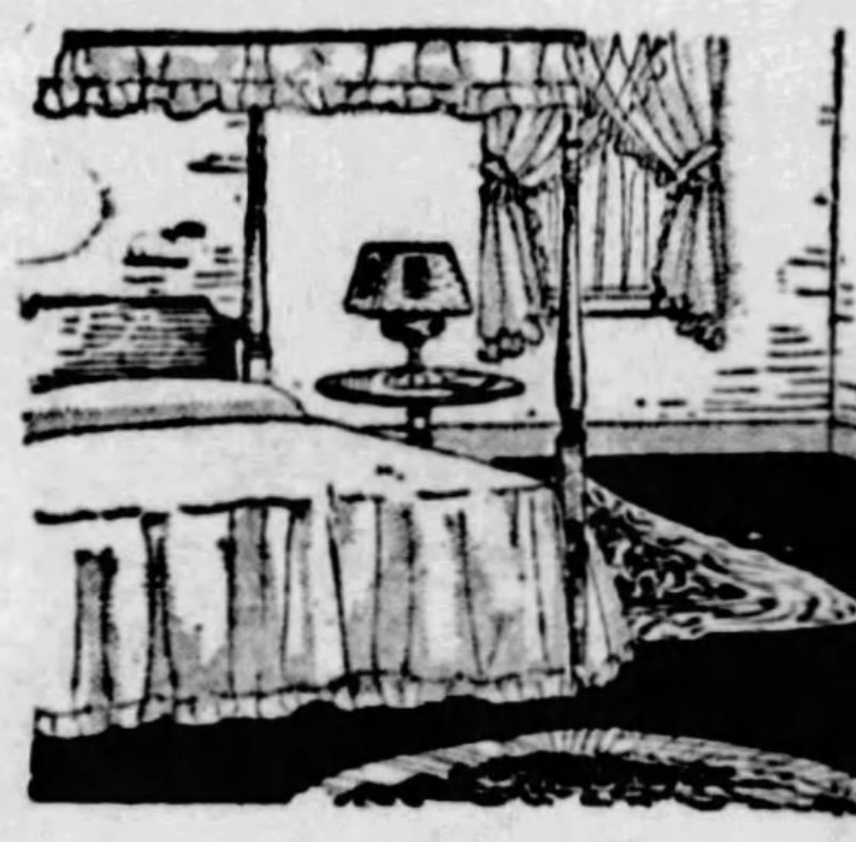
The Kitchen

This room is planned for convenience and charm. The dominating feature is the color scheme . . . color in the enamelware, stove, cabinet, and other furnishings. The walls, painted a sunshiny yellow, are matched by yellow voile curtains, attractively trimmed with green percale. All possible steps have been eliminated in placing the pieces.

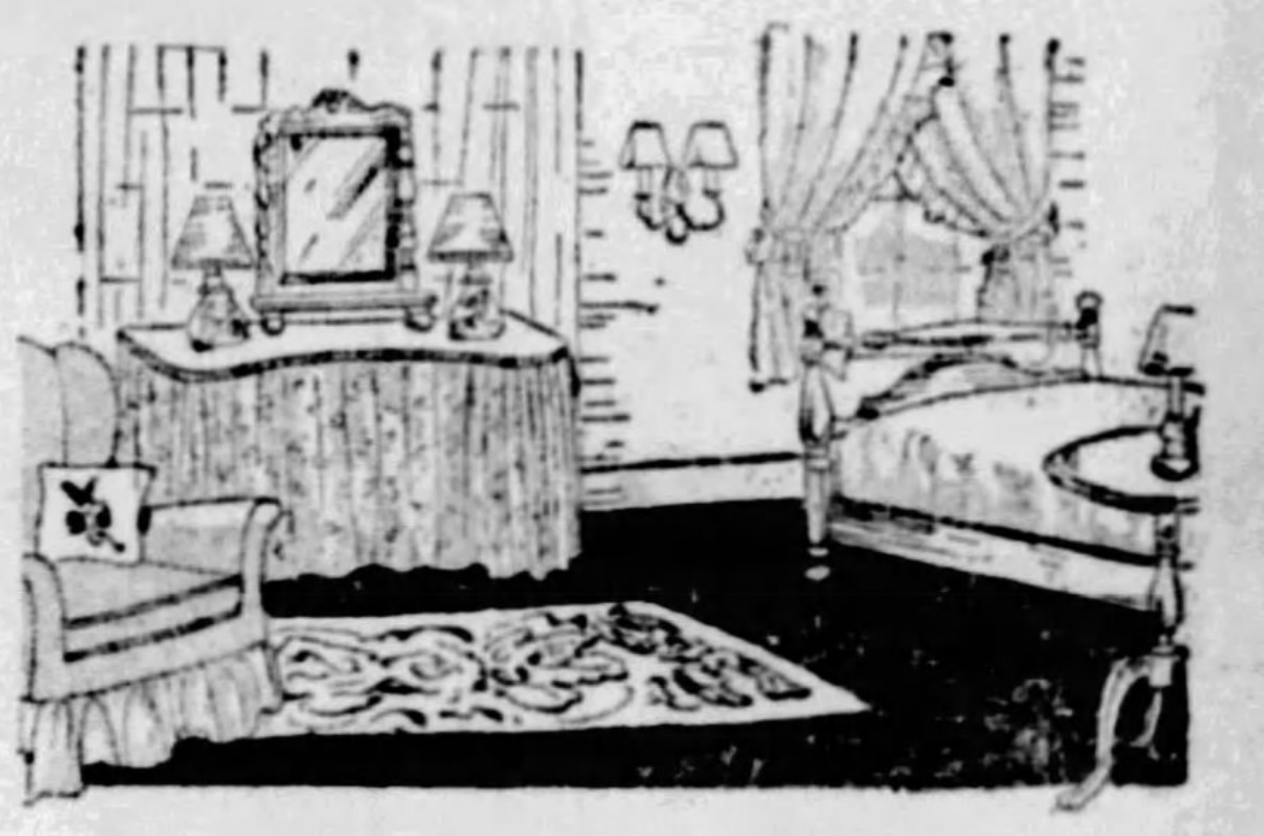


Dining Room

Yellow pine furniture has been used effectively in creating this delightful room. The pieces: extension table, comb-back Windsor chair, arm chairs, buffet, Welsh cupboard, safe-server, and bench, are scaled to fit into the average dining room. It has the quaintness of the period and is attractive in the setting of the cottage.



LISTEN in on Station WCAE, Gimbels, tomorrow morning, at 9:45 o'clock, for a radio talk by Miss Gladys Miller, who will speak on "How Our Interior Decorative and Budget Bureau Helps Solve Decorative Problems."



The Bedroom

Here is a room that will make you gasp in admiration. The adorable canopied bed, in maple, dominates, and is matched with maple highboy, chest, and wall mirror. The Windsor chairs are both useful and attractive. The combination of yellow, lavender and green in draperies and wall paper blend perfectly with the tone of the maple.

The Living Room

Occasional furniture, chosen with an eye toward uniformity, yet maintaining a distinct air of restfulness and beauty, make up this handsomely decorated room. The Lawson sofa, covered in green stripe, with box-pleated ruffles; maple secretary, wing chair covered in gay cretonne, and other pieces all assert themselves in the Early American atmosphere. Hand-hooked scatter rugs, on the floor, are soft to the tread. Wrought iron, and Early American glass lamps complete the picture.

Gimbels—Ninth Floor

The Boudoir

This charming little dressing room is annexed from the bed chamber, a delightful room papered in a gold star design. The draped dressing table, made with ample drawer and top space, beautifully covered with a glazed chintz. The odd chairs and lounge serve to make it cozy. It is a room in which one would truly enjoy dressing.

House & Garden Sponsors These:

New Floor Coverings

The most appropriate . . . and the most modern floor covering for the home of this type is the new Bigelow-Hartford machine-hooked rugs, offered now in the 9x12 room size. They are accurate reproductions of the old hand-made hook-rugs, being luxuriously soft to the tread, and exquisitely designed. They are in colors to match the furnishings.

9x12 Hook Rugs $125

Gimbels—Sixth Floor

Pewter Candlesticks

The simplicity and quaintness of these long slender candlesticks is in perfect keeping with the homey atmosphere that makes Early American cottages such delightful places to live in. And what could be more appropriate than Pewter? Pewter used so extensively in the first homes that dotted the colonies.

The Pair, $6.95

Gimbels—Ninth Floor

Colonial Draperies

Marquisette curtains have a place in the ensemble of the Early American home. They are quaint when made up in ruffle or kriss-kross styles, and entirely in keeping with the setting. For draperies, handsomely figured cretonnes, in vivid colors, may be used with beautiful effect.

Colonial Lamps

Quite in keeping with the Early American spirit of the Little Cottage are glass base lamps. For the boudoir a pair with rose-tinted bases is suggested, and for the living room the same type of glass but in much larger edition.

Parchment paper with a floral print the only design is used for the shades.

SOCIALISM CHARGE ONLY SCREEN, DECLARES SMITH

strength through the narrow, crooked, cow-path streets of the city, and had it not been for heroic battling by grim-faced cops they would have torn his overcoat from his frame and cut it up for souvenirs of the date. They broke down the doors wildest political night Boston has ever seen since the Tea Party.

Some of this riotous demonstration may have been due to shrewd democratic political management, but no political design could have encompassed the vision of such scenes as Boston witnessed last night and far into the early hours of this morning.

Political frenzy cannot be wholly managed, so if the Smith show in Boston was managed, the show got away from the managers.

The chief of police said today it was a bigger night in Boston than Armistice Night, and almost the entire police force agreed with him—as well as some members of the Governor's party who fought unsuccessfully to get into the arena where he spoke. An hour before last night's speech they had to bring the mounted police into play around the hall.

ANSWERS HOOVER

In such a setting as this, Gov. Smith delivered his reply to Herbert Hoover's New York speech. Twenty thousand people, crammed into space designed to hold 13,000, heard it, and they cheered and hollered in such volume that Gov. Smith at times had literally to plead for quiet enough to enable the radio audiences in far-away places to hear him, let alone the audience inside the hall.

His reply to Hoover was, as forecast, pungent, biting and sarcastic.

It was devoted mainly to a refutation of the Hoover charge at Madison Square Garden Monday night that the policies which Gov. Smith has been advocating with regard to water power, farm relief, and prohibition savor of "state socialism."

One by one he took them up, water power, farm relief and prohibition. He first would explain his own position, then read an extract from a Hoover speech and say:

"What does that mean? Where does he stand?"

On water power and farm relief, the Democratic candidate burlesqued a "roll call" of Republicans, who, he contended, stood for the policies which he has been advocating.

He reiterated his own stand in favor of government ownership and control of water power development and then read extracts from the writings and speeches of such distinguished Republicans as Theodore Roosevelt, the elder; Charles Evans Hughes, and ex-Gov. Nathan L. Miller, advocating similar ownership and control.

"If I am a Socialist," he said, sarcastically, "then so was Theodore Roosevelt."

"If I am a Socialist, so is Charles E. Hughes. How about Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company? In 1926, he wrote me at Albany putting his stamp of approval upon my theory of setting up a water power authority. If I am a Socialist, so is Owen D. Young."

Similarly with the farm relief. There, too, he "called the roll," while his appreciative and boisterous audience roared in approval.

"Let's see," he said. "Who are some of the Socialists on farm relief:

"No. 1—The Republican candidate for the vice presidency (Senator Curtis). But he is only 50 per cent Socialist because he voted for it the first time it came before the Senate, and when it was vetoed by the President he did not vote for it. He was either right or wrong the first time. He cannot have it both ways."

CITES LOWDEN

"And what about all the members of Congress who voted for farm relief? They must all be relegated to their proper places in the socialistic party.

"What about Gov. Lowden, of Illinois? According to Mr. Hoover, he is a Socialist. And what about the vice president, Mr. Dawes, who spoke only the other night for Mr. Hoover, never realizing that by the action of his own candidate in Madison Square Garden he was put into the Socialist group?

As for the farmers of the corn and wheat country who have advocated the McNary-Haugen bill and normally supported the Republican party, Gov. Smith said Mr. Hoover had "put them all in the Socialist class."

Then turning from the sarcastic to the serious, the Democratic nominee declared that Hoover's charge of "Socialism" was merely "subterfuge and smoke screen" to cover up his opponent's own reactionary tendencies. He said Mr. Hoover had been "sold" the Socialism charge by Edmund Machold, chairman of the Republican state committee of New York, who, he charged, is one of the leading spirits of the power trust.

Following his usual custom of selecting a single sentence from one of Mr. Hoover's speeches and making it the subject of his speech, Gov. Smith chose for his text last night this line from the Hoover speech of acceptance.

"We shall use words that convey our meaning, not to hide it."

"These words," he said, "held out to the American people the high hope that this campaign would be conducted in such a way as to let the people make an intelligent decision on the sixth of next November."

But the pledge has not been kept, he said, and in his keenest satirical vein he proceeded to regale his audience with extracts from Mr. Hoover's speeches, covering water power, farm relief and prohibition. He quoted Hoover as warning against "deadly and destructive doctrines" with regard to water power and farm relief and mockingly demanded:

"What does that mean?"

He quoted his Republican opponent as saying that prohibition was "a noble experiment which must be worked out constructively," and again demanded:

"What does all that mean?"

CHALLENGES HOOVER

"What is the matter with the noble experiment? Isn't it working? What does he intend to do about it? He admits 'grave abuses have occurred.' What does he intend to do about them?"

His audience rocked the building with cheers when he referred to his own solution for the prohibition problem—amendment of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act to allow each state, upon a referendum vote, to dispense liquors under state control.

The Governor ran the gamut of all the issues. He took Dr. Hubert Work, the Republican chairman, to task again for renewing Harry F. Sinclair's lease on the Salt Creek royalty oil production; and he ridiculed the page prosperity advertisement published by the Republican National Committee, in many newspapers proclaiming, "A chicken for every pot." The advertisement said the Republicans had filled the gasoline tanks of the workers and made this "a silk stockinged country."

He quoted statistics showing the average wage of the New England textile worker is $17.30 a week, with many out of employment.

"Can you picture a man at $17.30 a week," he asked, "going out to chicken dinner in his own automobile, with silk socks on?"

The audience roared appreciatively at this jibe, for the condition of the textile industry is an acute subject in New England.

They called Gov. Smith's visit and speech in Boston "a Democratic Rally." It came near being a Democratic riot.

Gov. Smith was introduced to his Boston audience by Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, youngest daughter of the late Woodrow Wilson, who placed her own and her father's stamp of approval on him. She acted as chairman of the turbulent gathering.

"I, a bone dry," she said, "am for Gov. Smith because on every issue he gives us honestly and courageously his mind. He stimulates my mind as he does yours to think through problems. He gives us hope that by dealing with facts he will not get a dead law enshrined on a shelf, but real protection from drunkenness and intemperance for our homes and children."

FIRE MURDER ADMITTED

half hour later he went to his garage, got his auto and drove back to his home. Wrapping the body in a blanket, he says, he drove to the Patterson farm and laid the body on the ground under a peach tree. Then he explored the old shack and carried the body into the house, sprinkled the floor with gasoline and set fire to it. Blood which had dripped on the ground under the peach tree he tried to efface by scraping dirt over it, using an old fruit can.

After setting fire to the shack he drove home and the next morning carried all his wife's clothing to the furnace in the basement and burned it. He also burned his wife's purse and a blood stained rug. He explained that he had burned his wife's personal effects to make her relatives believe that she had gone on a trip.

Detectives doubt portions of the confession. They are not satisfied that the murder occurred in the Jones home. The finding of an empty revolver shell at the scene of the fire on the farm leads them to believe the murder occurred there.

MORE GRILLING

Questioned as to whether he had assistance in the murder or disposal of the body, Jones is said to have replied that he alone was responsible.

The victim's father, Thomas Adams, of South McKean street, and Mrs. Jones' daughter by a former marriage, the latter now ill of scarlet fever, have not been told of the alleged confession.

Jones was arraigned before Alderman Carl E. Phillips and charged with first degree murder. He will be questioned again today by police to learn where the revolver was secreted after the shooting.

Today the coroner will endeavor to have the charred bones officially identified as those of Mrs. Jones, and it is expected they will be buried tomorrow.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Winter Ahead .. protect your car Now

Don't let the first cold snap catch you > put Radiator Glycerine in your car now > > one filling lasts all winter

DON'T let the first cold snap catch you unprepared. Put Radiator Glycerine in your car now. Give it positive, permanent freeze protection. Radiator Glycerine will not evaporate. One filling is enough. No running to the garage for more every time you have a cold snap. No guesswork.

Thousands of motorists rely on the safety of glycerine. Ample protection against freezing. No evaporation. It won't harm your car, overheat your motor or "perfume" your car when warmed up. Safe — because glycerine is a well-known, tried and tested product. Amundsen used it when he flew to the North Pole. Motor car manufacturers recommend it.

Make your car Glycerine Tight

Remember, only actual leakage or waste can prevent you from getting at least one whole Winter's service from one filling of Radiator Glycerine. So be sure the cooling system is tight. Make sure the few simple but important servicing instructions are carefully followed. Then enjoy your car this winter as you never did before.

Investigate Radiator Glycerine. Your own garage probably has it. Any distributor listed at the left can tell you where to get it. Put it in now.

MORE BOOTHS AND TIME AT POLLS CONSIDERED

Anticipated congestion at the closing hour of the polls November 6 is receiving serious consideration of Republican leaders and some action may be taken in the next day or two to assure every registered or enrolled elector an opportunity to cast his ballot.

Upon inquiry yesterday by a Sun-Telegraph reporter, who laid the possibility before County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the Republican County Committee, that official stated he would issue a statement after consideration of the matter.

He agreed that considerable confusion may result because of the fact that many office workers and employes of mills and factories will have but an hour or two after leaving work to cast their ballots.

The law at present, as pointed out by authorities, is that voters who are inside the polls at 7 o'clock the evening of election may cast their ballots. County officials will consider an order that all who appear before that time, whether able to enter the polling place or not, may be enabled to vote.

ORDER EXTRA BOOTHS

To facilitate voting, Commissioner Armstrong declared that additional booths will be installed in all voting places where increased registration demands it. Hundreds of additional booths have been ordered, with the sanction of Controller Robert G. Woodside, without bids, because of the limited time, he said. Ninety additional booths have been ordered for one ward of McKeesport alone, he said.

The necessity of action is shown by one district in Braddock, where there are 1,200 eligible voters, Commissioner Armstrong said. The bulk of these may be from industrial plants and may appear in a body to vote. Other districts, such as one district of the Nineteenth Ward, Pittsburgh, where probably 720 voters will be registered, illustrate the necessity for relief.

MAY EXTEND TIME

Whether it will be possible to permit last minute voters to form into lines outside the polls until 7 o'clock and be permitted to vote after that hour will be submitted to counsel, it was indicated.

The congestion will be caused in part by the additional time required for a voter to mark a ballot containing 14 proposed constitutional amendments, some of which have engendered much objection and some of which have the hearty approval of citizens generally, among the latter, the proposed amendment to permit voting machines, in addition to the candidates to be voted upon. The ballot is the largest in the history of the state.

It's a dramatic place—the great buildings of Underwriters' Laboratories—where they "play with fire" in testing building materials, electrical devices, gases, chemicals, hose, extinguishers, home utilities, and endless other things—all for the purpose of safeguarding your life, protecting your property, and reducing the cost of your insurance.

Here is the largest testing laboratory operated by any business or profession. Everywhere its exhaustive tests are accepted as authoritative and its labels of approval recognized as Symbols of Safety.

This invaluable and unique engineering service is one of the great contributions by the Stock Fire Insurance Companies to the protection of life and property in the home, in the factory, and wherever you may be in town, city or country.

Service . . . Not Profit . . .

is the underlying purpose of this work. The comprehensive equipment maintained by the Laboratories, and its corps of experienced engineers, afford unequaled facilities. These are available at actual cost.

Educators, engineers, scientists, underwriters and others journey far to study the equipment and the unusual tests that are always under way. The public is always welcome at Underwriters' Laboratories.

The long experience of the Laboratories in this work, and the methods employed for keeping in touch with manufacturers, users, and all other sources of information, have resulted in a general recognition of its standards and recommendations.

This work for the conservation of life and property is but one of the many contributions for the benefit of the American public made by Stock Fire Insurance Companies that transact more than ninety percent of the fire insurance business of this country.

Stiff Swollen, Painful Joints Relieved Instantly

Remarkable Scientific Discovery Guaranteed to Give Quick, Soothing Relief for Creaky, Swollen, Stiff, Painful Joints—Or Money Back!

German chemistry that has given to the world aspirin for headache pain and novocaine for painless dentistry has now come forward with another scientific discovery that brings quick relief to sufferers from enlarged, swollen, stiff and pain-racked joints. A new remedy that for the first time gets right at the cause of the trouble, brings instant relief in the most severe and stubborn cases.

Swollen, painful and distorted stiff joints, whether in the ankle, knee, thigh, shoulder, neck, wrist, elbow or fingers, are always due to some infection which has involved the tissue lining of the joints. This infection can often be traced to toxic poisons such as a blind pus pocket in a tooth or diseased tonsils; these poisons are carried in the blood to the joints, thereby setting up an infection of the delicate membrane lining the joints and causing them to become enlarged, swollen and painful.

Rheunesia Tablets, as this amazing treatment is called, helps the blood to throw off these violent poisons and neutralizes the toxic acids in much the same way as Milk of Magnesia neutralizes an acid stomach, thus giving instant relief from pain. Get Rheunesia Tablets today at all May's Drug Stores.

AGED LADY SAYS IT'S WONDERFUL

Claims Ten Herbs Ended Health Troubles After Other Medicines Had Failed.

"I am glad to endorse Ten Herbs to the public, for it surely is a wonderful medicine," was the recent statement of Mrs. Clementine Kaiser, 3 Lodge Avenue, Overbrook, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store,

MRS. CLEMENTINE KAISER

529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this successful new herbal compound.

"For six months I was troubled with an ulcerated and acid mouth," continued Mrs. Kaiser, who is 62 years of age. "My mouth felt as if it were burnt—I could not eat any fruit or food containing salt. My appetite was poor and what little I ate caused terrible distress. Gas would form and give me a bloated feeling and pains. I was in a rundown condition. I felt weak and my nerves were so bad that I could not sleep. Terrible headaches came on me. I had to take physics regularly because of constipation. I tried several kinds of medicines without getting any results.

"My daughter read about Ten Herbs in the newspapers, and she got some of your medicine for me. She feared that I was not going to get well, but since taking Ten Herbs I feel and look like a different person. The ulcerated and acid condition of my mouth has been relieved. My appetite has improved, and I can eat anything with pleasure. I am free of gas, pains and headaches. My nerves are quiet, and I sleep much better. Constipation has been corrected, and I no longer have to use physics."

Are you weak, nervous, depressed or feel all run-down? Does food cause distress? Are you troubled with sleeplessness, biliousness, or constipation? Try Ten Herbs. As your general health improves, your view of life will change and increased strength, new hope and greater happiness will come.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

VOTE MACHINE VITAL TO STOP FRAUD, SAYS HARRIS

ASKS SUPPORT OF 13TH STATE AMENDMENT

A call to the voters of Pennsylvania as "a sacred duty" to vote November 6 for the proposed amendment to the state constitution to permit use of voting machines, Amendment No. 13 on the ballot, was issued last night over the air by State Senator Frank J. Harris, broadcasting at Station KDKA.

"It will be the most forward step in the history of the state," he declared to thousands of listeners-in. "I hope you do not miss the opportunity to put Pennsylvania in the forefront of states which have demanded an honest count and a fair record of the franchise. Experience has shown that present laws are defective and insufficient and need amendment.

"Americans abhor sham, and with this abhorrance I cordially sympathize. Nothing is more injurious from every standpoint than laws which are merely noise and fury and false pretense.

"Let use put teeth in our election laws and blot out the sham by giving our people the power to get voting machines if they want them."

He urged also that voters give actual, not sentimental indorsement to the proposed Amendment No. 6, a companionate amendment to the voting-machine amendment, which would permit more than 250 electors to be registered in election districts in municipalities having more than 100,000 population. Under the constitution now the prohibition of more than 250 electors to a district is being violated, not fraudulently, but because conditions have outgrown the law, Senator Harris said, and the economy of voting machines will be prompted by increasing the population of election districts, reducing the number of districts and election expense.

"CHANGES NEEDED"

The wholesale indictments of election officials in Allegheny county resulting from frauds at the 1927 primary and election, with consequent convictions, pleas, fines and imprisonment, were pointed out by Senator Harris.

He said:

"No matter what the cause, whether they were unscrupulous, innocently careless or negligent in the performance of duties as election officers the arrest and conviction of such a great number in itself makes undebatable the conclusion that drastic changes in the election laws are necessary if we are to preserve the integrity of popular government."

The Senator declared that "the failure of many qualified citizens to vote means that a minority actually governs the people," the indifference of the people plus election cheating causing the defeat of the theory of rule by majority.

"Organized groups of people who have special interests to serve always vote," he declared adding, "if 80 to 90 per cent of the qualified electors would vote the result could not be changed by fraud."

Senator Harris asserted he believed in practical politics and praised political leaders who honestly influence the electorate vote and insist upon an honest count.

The practices of corrupt election boards, however, are unlawful, unfair and unsportsmanlike to a candidate, and extremely foolish in the light of recent election prosecutions, he said.

Election frauds deserve especial condemnation in a presidential election, according to Senator Harris. Enactment of the voting machine law, if the constitutional amendment is approved, "will do more to prevent dishonesty in elections than any other single piece of legislation ever enacted," Senator Harris declared.

He cited the use of machines this year in New York City, approved by "the practical, so-called hard-boiled politicians," reconciled to the wisdom of honesty in elections.

Old vacuum tubes used with new ones impair performance

A Doctor Talks
About Cascara

It is unfortunate that many people judge the thoroughness of a laxative by its violence. The salts that rush through the system may not even penetrate the film of poisonous matter that has coated the colon. A long list of drugs will "loosen the bowels" but what is the best way to CLEANSE them?

The world's best laxative is one that Mother Nature makes in her own laboratory. It is the bark of a tree, called CASCARA. The Indians used to chew this bark—and reach old age without a sick day. It is the best thing there is today, for any system: best for the blood. The most beneficial in its action on the bowels, of anything yet disclosed. Foor many reasons:

First of all, there is no HABIT formed from cascara. The bowels are not weakened, but strengthened by its occasional use. The occasions when one needs this aid grow less and less. Its influence is long-felt. You don't find yourself worse bound-up the day following. You do find the bowels more inclined to move of their own volition. The candy Cascaret that every drug store always has in stock is the ideal form of cascara.

No Sugar Pills or Crutches

THE outstanding problem of agriculture is surplus disposal. Which is a selling problem. And also the problem of all commerce.

Nobody knows that better than Herbert Hoover, the sales-expert.

He was born among the grain fields.

He chored in the grain fields.

As national Food Administrator and international bread-box filler, he mobilized the grain fields and put them in khaki.

For six years he was the biggest grain dealer in history.

He bought and sold and shipped more wheat and corn than any country annually consumes.

He knows the productivity of every grange, its traffic and its elevator facilities. He knows regional working costs, profit and dockage averages.

He knows that Federal legislation owes agriculture economic equality, protected markets and government cooperation.

And as President, Herbert Hoover will secure them.

He has endorsed no specific plan for farm relief, but he has specifically declared for the best possible plan.

And no experience is better equipped to recognise it.

His executive approval and party influence are pledged to make farming more efficient and profitable.

But the Republican platform and the candidate both insist that relief measures must be constructive, fundamental and within Constitutional limits—an honest remedy, not a sugar-pill.

Vote hunger has not inspired him to issue worthless campaign checks on Congressional authority. He has not promised from the stump what he cannot deliver from office.

The White House owes agriculture not only executive sympathy with its difficulties, but the practical training and the organization capacity to overcome them.

And Herbert Hoover is the one man for the job.

His analytical genius, his engineering mind, his organizing talent, and his scientific thoroughness cannot be tempted to espouse a half-cocked, Jerry-built program.

Agriculture's cry for consideration will never be stilled with subsidy soothing syrups.

Agriculture must be reorganized, must be rebuilt into an efficient unit, with stabilized outlets, ready and steady credit.

It must learn to keep accounts and budgets, to diversify and rotate crops, improve herds and income with better sires and silos—it must be shown the dividends hidden in chaff-pile, churn and chicken coop. It must be taught to stick tools in the hands of the clock and give every hour a productive task.

That sort of thing is Herbert Hoover's specialty.

He will put agriculture on a sound footing, instead of legislative crutches—tighten its loose screws, plug its leaks, substitute calculation for guess-work, introduce cost engineering, and straighten the wasteful kinks out of distribution.

He needs no intermediaries to interpret the significance of rural prosperity to national prosperity.

He speaks the farmer's language, just as he speaks the dialects of merchandising and diplomacy, mining and hydro-electrics, radio and aviation, manufacturing and railroading, finance and export, science and lumbering, construction and conservation—the speech of action and enterprise.

His calibre and his character have been universally tested by emergency and responsibility.

His record establishes him as the foremost American and our most useful citizen.

He realizes every ideal of true democracy.

ALL STILL HAVE CHANCE FOR $1,000 PRIZE IN AD TEST

FOURTH PERIOD WINNERS WILL KNOW SUNDAY

The prizes awarded by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph for the best advertisements submitted during the first three of the six periods of the Zain Ad-Test are winning warm commendation. Letters have been received from a number of winners expressing their delight over the awards. Hundreds of other prizes, including a grand prize of $1,000 in cash and several prizes of $100 each, are yet to be awarded, and you have as good a chance as anybody to win one or more of them. Because, to put all contestants on an equal footing, professional ad writers and newspaper employes are barred.

JUDGES AT WORK

The fourth period in the test expired at midnight last night. The judges are now picking the ads for which the $100 cash prize and 300 other prizes for the period will be awarded. The prize winners will be announced Sunday. The fifth period starts today.

You do not have to know anything about the technical side of advertising to write a prize-winning Zain ad. A simple statement, a slogan, a jingle may bring you rich reward. But to be eligible for the $1,000 prize you must write some time during the campaign at least one ad about each of the 39 local business concerns participating in the test. A list of these concerns and their products or service will be found elsewhere on this page.

Study the business of these concerns. Familiarize yourself with the things they sell. Read their advertisements. Visit their stores and ask questions. They will be glad to help you.

A FEW TIPS

A point well deserving of being emphasized in advertisements about the Duquesne Light Company is the service that electricity renders housekeepers. You can think of a mulitude of ways in which power bought from the Duquesne Light Company can be made to save labor in the home. Inquire about the cost of wiring old houses.

There's a big difference between Amoco gas and other gasolines, and you would do well to call attention to it in your ad about this well-known motor fuel. An automobile in which Amoco gas is used will leap forward, if you desire, like a race horse. It is an economical fuel, giving "more miles per gallon."

The Stevenson & Foster Company, 421-27 Seventh avenue, appears in the list of co-operating firms in two capacities, as printers and as stationers. You should write an advertisement about each of these branches of the company's business. In writing about the excellent printing jobs that Stevenson & Foster turn out you might mention that they also do engraving and lithographing.

A REAL TEST

There is no better way to get inspiration for an effective ad for Tech ice cream than by eating some. You can buy it in bricks in a variety of flavors, or, if you prefer, you can sample some at a soda fountain. In addition to being delicious, it is one of the wholesomest, best of foods. Tech ice cream, you know, is the kind advertised by the little girl in plaid kilts who "Smiles right back at you."

The rules for the Zain Ad-Test will be found elsewhere on this page. Read them carefully.

Write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, which should be at least as large as a postal card and preferably commercial letter size. Put your name and address on the back of each sheet, and also on the flap of the envelope in which you mail them. SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

Rules for Sun-Telegraph-Zain $15,000 Ad Test

1—$15,000 in cash and prizes distributed over seven weeks. Grand prize, $1,000. Grand weekly prize, $100. Five prizes each week for best ads written for each concern participating—195 each week, 1,170 prizes in all.

2—$1,000 for best ad submitted during entire campaign. Winners to be selected by committee of Pittsburgh advertising men and women.

3—Ads for fourth period must be received by midnight, October 24, at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Ads arriving after that time will be automatically entered for the next period, and so on.

4—Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received before midnight on November 15, 1928. In order to compete for grand prize, contestants must have submitted at least one ad on each concern listed.

5—One person may submit any number of ads. The test may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about any one or all, or any product or all, of the concerns listed. A person may win more than one prize.

6—Write only one ad on one piece of paper at least postcard size. Place name of advertiser at top, write words, phrase, poem, slogan, essay or letter. Sign YOUR name and address plainly on BACK of each sheet. Also on the flap of the envelope. SEND TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

7—Ads are to become property of advertiser to use in any manner he sees fit. No ads returned. No subscriptions necessary. No blanks to sign. No entrance fee required. No coupons to clip. All professional ad writers and newspaper employes barred.

8—In the event of a tie, the prizes will be awarded to EACH winner.

BUTLER JUDGE, HENNINGER, DIES AT 58

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 25.—Judge John R. Henninger, 58, prominent in judicial affairs, died last night in his home here after five weeks' illness.

Judge Henninger had served on the bench in Butler county for years and was well known in Pittsburgh, where he served as a visiting judge in Allegheny county courts. He was completing his fifth year as a judge in Butler county.

Born in Penn township in 1870, Judge Henninger had spent virtually all his life in Butler county. His boyhood days were spent on a farm in Penn township.

He was educated in the public schools and at Edinboro State Normal School, where he was graduated in 1892.

For five years he taught school and then entered the Dickinson School of Law, where he graduated in 1923 when elected judge.

From 1902 until 1905 he served as district attorney. He was a member of the State and County Bar Association, the Rotary Club and the First Presbyterian Church. He leaves his wife, a son and three daughters.

JOHNSTOWN, Oct. 25.—William D. Lambert, 44, burgess of Somerset, died suddenly of heart failure at the Community Hospital here. He was serving his second term as burgess.

LAUDS SUN-TELEGRAPH'S VOTE MACHINE DRIVE

A warning that citizens desirous of insuring honest elections in Pennsylvania must be on the alert, if the voting machine amendment to the Constitution is to be approved at the forthcoming election, is given by A. M. Imbrie, chairman of the Election Frauds Committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association, in a letter to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Mr. Imbrie says:

"In behalf of the Allegheny County Bar Association, and especially the Election Frauds Committee, of which I am chairman, this is to express great appreciation of your co-operation in our efforts to protect the sacred ballot.

"This work in which we are engaged is of the most unpleasant kind, yet the evil I am sure we all recognize as one that must be conquered. Our association and our committee are without funds to engage in any great campaign of publicity, which would crystallize the sentiment, and defeat the efforts of all those engaged in such things as were unearthed in the fall of 1927 primaries.

"We feel the voting machine amendment is tremendously important, and that too much publicity cannot be given the significant fact that many of its advocates for some strange reason seem utterly inactive at this time. What you have done and are doing undoubtedly has a salutary effect, and our committee volunteers its services for the people on every proper occasion."

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 25.—Apples and court costs proved expensive for Mrs. John W. Carroll, Laing avenue, convicted in People's Court yesterday of trespassing on the property of Samuel Logsdon, who charged the defendant removed a quantity of apples from his orchard. She was fined $1 and costs. Costs were $94.

He is charged with felonious shooting.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will, empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person.

Get a bottle today at any drug store and observe these three rules of health:

Play Houses Run Nip-and-Tuck With Production for Theaters

EASY TO BUILD NEW THEATERS, HARDER TO FILL THEM, MANAGERS FIND

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

THEY have built so many new theaters in New York City that they are having a hard time to keep them open. It is easier to build a theater than to write a play. That holds good despite the common superstition that anybody can write a play, just as any American boy can become President. But in the frantic effort to supply all the playhouses with something to keep them open, the New York producers have been putting out about one new play a day since the present season began. There will be eight new openings next week, which is one above the average.

For the week of Nocember 5 there are 11 new productions on the horizon. For the week of November 12 there have already been five openings announced. As we get closer to Christmas, the Broadway stocking will be bulging more and more.

Plays Made Out of Everything

THEY are dramatizing everything, from the life of Macchiavelli to the Sacco-Vanzetti case. They are reviewing everything, even "The Royal Box," a play Charles Coghlan used to star in—originally called "Kean," and taken from the French of Dumas. Shaw's "Major Barbara" is to be reviewed by the Theater Guild, and Tolstoy's "Living Corpse" by Alexander Moissi in German. "The Yellow Jacket" and "Sun-Up" are other old ones that are to be resurrected in the hope that they may draw new lines to the box-office.

Some of the best-known of our players are still waiting for something or getting something ready. Among the new things in immediate prospect are "Young Love," in which Dorothy Gish will appear; "Crashing Through," with a role for Henrietta Crosman; "The Kingdom of God," which Ethel Barrymore hopes will be hers; "A Most Immoral Lady," who is to be impersonated by Alice Brady; "The Age of Innocence," dramatized from an Edith Wharton book for Katherine Cornell; and a Molnar play, "Mima," also known as "The Red Mill," in which David Belasco will present Lenore Ulric.

Pittsburgh to Pick Winners

TWO of the new things Broadway is waiting for will be seen first in Pittsburgh—where so many of last season's sucesses got their start. The two before us are "The Jealous Moon," in which Jane Cowl has tried her hand as a playwright as she will show her power as an actress, and "Whoopee," heralded as the "biggest musical show yet," in which Eddie Cantor will be the main feature. This week we are having "Davy Jones' Locker," also in advance of New York or Chicago.

If these Pittsburgh tryouts prove such winners as "Showboat" and "The New Moon," the denizens of the Great White Way may acquire a superstitious reverence for Pittsburgh openings.

ALL COMEDY BILLS FOR STAGE

Frank Craven and Dorothy Blackburn head the cast of "The 19th Hole", Mr. Craven's comedy of golf and domestic life, which will play a return engagement in the Nixon next week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. The company is said to be practically unchanged since last season, when the play was in the same theater.

Jane Cowl comes to the Alvin for an engagement of one week only, opening next Monday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, in her latest play, "The Jealous Moon", on which she collaborated with Theodore Charles. "The Jealous Moon" is said to be one of the most elaborate productions in which Miss Cowl has ever appeared.

What is said to be the Pittsburgh farewell for "Abie's Irish Rose" will take place in the Pitt next week. Patricia Quinn, who played the title role in the last appearance of the Anne Nichols comedy in the Pitt last February, will be seen in the same part again.

One of the features of the Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis Theater next week will be Ann Gold, who will offer a group of lyrics and descriptive numbers called "As Others See Us". Miss Gold will have Walter Buckley at the piano.

Ruth Elder makes her screen debut as Richard Dix's leading woman in "Moran of the Marines", next week in the Penn. Teddy Joyce will conduct the stage program.

"The Night Watch", Billy Dove's newest picture for First National, will be featured on the Stanley screen next week. Donald Reed and Paul Lukas have the roles opposite the star.

Odette Myrtil, singing and dancing violinist, together with "Fuzzy" Knight, comedian and instrumentalist, comprise the Metro-Movietone acts to be offered next week in Loew's Aldine.

The new edition of "Girls From Happyland," headed by Irving Selig, will be next week's attraction in the Academy. Ben Lerner and Rose Lee are in the cast.

"The Singing Fool", now being screened in the Grand in its second week there after a record-breaking week in the Stanley, will open in the Regent Saturday.

Jeanette of France and her four doughboys are included in the vaudeville in the Harris next week. Two screen features, "Sally's Shoulders," and Tom Mix, in "Son of the Golden West," will be shown.

Among the attractions in the Sheridan Square next week will be "Arms and the Girl," a musical comediette. On the screen will be Sue Carol and Arthur Lake in "The Air Circus" and Reene Adoree and Conrad Nagel in "The Michigan Kid."

Louise Homer, Pittsburgh's very popular contralto, assisted by her daughters, Louise Homer Stires, soprano, and Katherine Homer, pianist, gave a sort of home-coming concert in Syria Mosque last evening. There were many flowers, a large audience, and a sentimental program.

The mother's voice has lost little of its power, but has grown monotonous and colorless. While she has the grand manner of the world's finest singers, with whom she associated for a quarter of a century, only in her opera and oratorio airs does she master an adequate style. Her songs have always lacked imagination, and her diction is rarely clear enough to be convincing beyond the footlights.

Louise Homer Stires is singing very well. The voice is a parlor voice of lovely quality, and intelligently trained. Since last heard here, Mrs. Stires has unquestionably gained in musicianship, particularly noticeable in her first group of songs. But she lacks still breadth of declamation which must give her music a bigger character.

As encores there were several time-worn duets, "Long, Long Ago," and Nevin's "Oh! That We Two Were A'maying," some children's songs and the ever-present "Cuckoo Song." Katherine Homer played unsophisticated accompaniments. It was a charming family party.

MISS DOROTHY CRAY

Winner!

The artist friend who advised lovely Dorothy Cray, 254 West 12th St., New York City, to enter two recent beauty contests, is probably saying, "I told you so." She won both of them and a movie engagement into the bargain! Too bad, pictures can't show the loveliness of her skin and the gleaming beauty of her dark brown hair, points which, the judges say, swayed their decisions.

"When I consider how people admire my hair now and how different it was not long ago," says Miss Cray, "I can't help telling about it. Dandruff had nearly ruined my hair. It had gotten stringy, dull, and was falling out. My scalp was terribly uncomfortable. Then a friend got me started on this method of caring for the hair which is all the rage among New York girls. Now, I just put a little Danderine on my brush each time I use it. Since I have been doing this regularly, all dandruff has disappeared; my scalp has become perfectly comfortable and healthy; my hair has stopped falling out and has become soft, gleamy and pretty."

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair, restores its natural color, gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy to dress and keeps it in place. It stops dandruff. It isn't oily and doesn't show. At all drug stores, 35c. A delicately fragranced toilet necessity for the well-groomed girl.

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Put this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in obstinate bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

ENVOY'S ART PRIZE PLAINT TO MELLON HELD BASELESS

Ambassador Nobile Giacomo de Martino has nothing to worry about even though his countrymen did not share in the awards at this year's International Art Exhibit at Carnegie Institute.

This opinion was expressed today by Homer St. Gaudens, chairman of the jury of award and director of the institute, who proclaimed the Italian exhibt an exceptionally fine collection; modern without being "wild" and a credit to Roman art.

St. Gaudens was interviewed on the Italian ambassador's visit to Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon yesterday. From Secretary Mellon, it is understood, the ambassador sought information as to requirements for entry, character of exhibits and basis of award. From this arose a belief that the Italians felt somewhat slighted in that none of their artists received recognition by the jury.

"I believe that if the Italian ambassador will go back into the history of the last six Internationals, he will feel more satisfied than at present as to the recognition accorded to Italian painters in the Carnegie exhibition," declared Mr. Saint Gaudens.

"In the past six years, during which time I have been director, the Italians have won one first prize, two seconds and one honorable mention. Ferruccio Ferrazzi received first prize in the twenty-fifth International; Giovanni Romagnoli won second in the twenty-third, and Ubaldo Oppi won second in the twenty-fourth International. Antonio Donghi won first honorable mention last year.

"In proportion to the number of pictures which Italy has in the exhibit each year, she has received more prizes than any other nation. It may be recalled that Giovanni Romagnoli, the year after he took second prize, came here as a member of the jury of award, and for that International, he was given a one-man exhibition with 24 paintings."

Mr. Saint Gaudens has a high regard for Italian art and he says her artists rank among the foremost in the world. "They are modern with a touch of conservatism," he said, "and their works always excite favorable comment on the part of our visitors.

"I am sorry that Italy did not receive a prize this year, but that is a matter left by the institute to the discretion of the International jury. There certainly can be no grounds for thought of favortism when a Frenchman wins first prize without a Frenchman on the jury, and a Spaniard wins second prize with a Spaniard on the jury, as was the case this year. We all admire greatly Italian art, and I sincerely look forward to seeing her win other prizes in the future," he concluded.

There are a total of 381 paintings in this year's exhibit, 253 of which are by European artists and 128 by Americans.

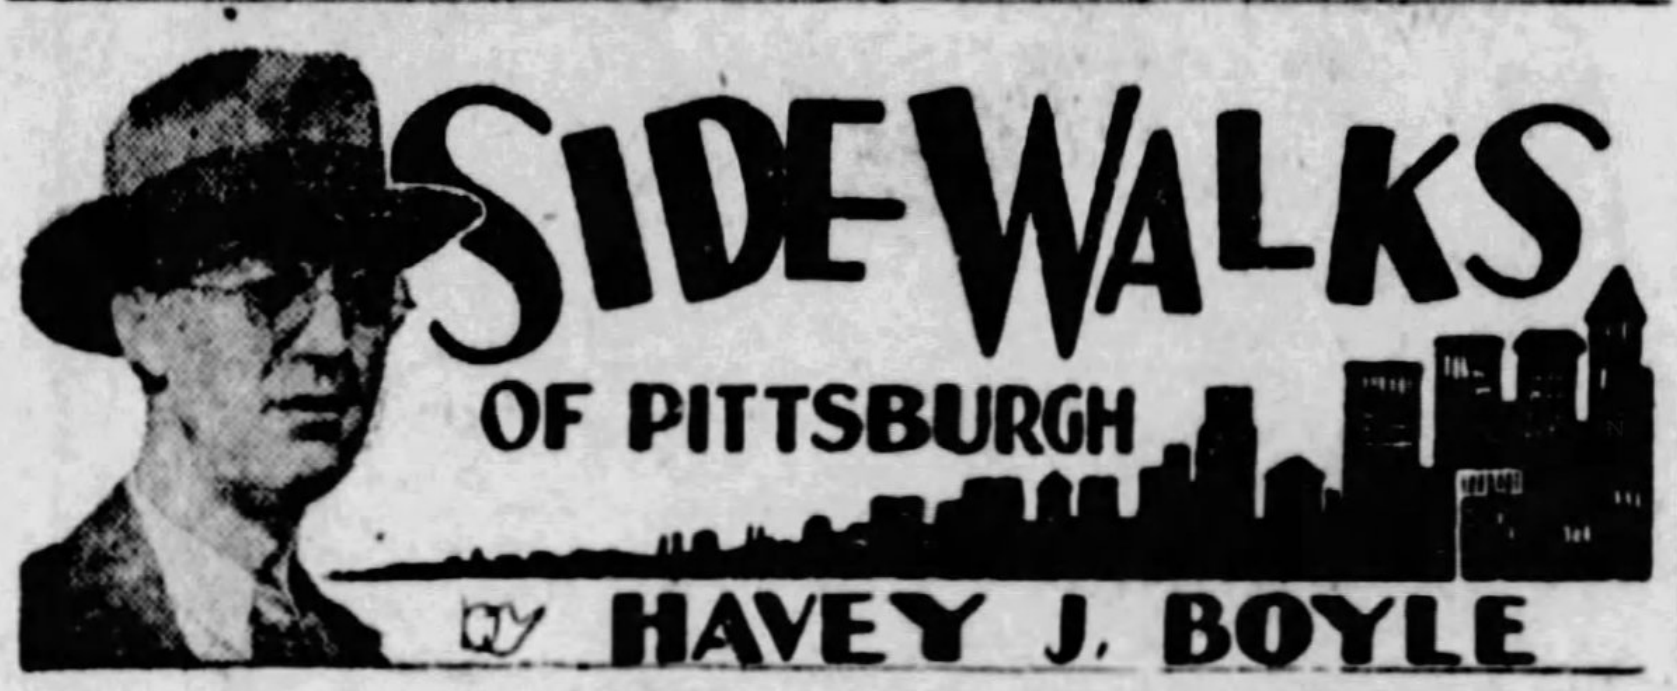
STREET LITTERED, RUTTED, COUNCIL ORDERS REPAIRS

Magnolia street, between Juniata and Liverpool streets, is almost impassable as a result of deep ruts and holes and the fact that the thoroughfare is seldom cleaned, according to a complaint made to Council by Joseph Weckerle.

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, was requested by Council to provide temporary relief by filling the holes until finances are available to permanently improve the street. He was also asked to order the Bureau of Highways and Sewers to clean the thoroughfare frequently.



THE only movie house in town catering almost solely to colored people and showing films wherein the actors and plots concern colored people is the Elmore in Center avenue in the Hill district. It is operated by a white proprietor. It was in the Elmore that practically all colored stars, later acclaimed in a larger sphere, displayed their talent. Florence Mills, Josephine Baker and others worked on the wheel that served the Elmore.

The movie running at the Elmore this week is called "The Broken Violin." It was written, produced and directed by Oscar Micheaux. While it is a conventional movie, in that things look rather dark at first, (would-be punsters will consider their knuckles rapped with the ruler), it finishes up with cloudbursts of happiness for all but the deep-dyed (be still) villian.

FATHER has been drinking and he comes home crocked to the ears. His talented young daughter plays a violin, while right handy is the mother industriously bent over a washtub. Father takes two strikes and then fouls one off mamma's head with the little girl's violin. The violin is broken. A good son returns home and he gives father what is known as a boxing lesson.

Herr Somebody discovers the little violinist is a prodigy with the fiddle. He gives her lessons. On an evil day a gentleman in a limousine gave the small artiste a ride, to save her from getting wet in a rain. Mamma, never suspecting the gentleman in the limousine (few mammas do, by the way) invited him in to dinner. The rich villian, for such he is, makes tender advances to the artiste. She, however, does not love him, although a match-making aunt, who thinks love should be a practical affair, (with one eye on the limousine), attempts to persuade the artiste contrary to the murmurings of her romantic and uncommercial heart.

MAMMA becomes ill, which was not strange, considering that auntie and the villian had given her dope. Mamma must go away. For some reason Pike's Peak is considered the ideal place for people who have been doped. But there is no money. Ah, that is easy. If the little girl will marry the rich villian the money will be forthcoming.

* * *

The artiste's heart belongs to another, an inventor who has gone to a distant city. Will she turn down the inventor to save her mother? The inventor is not without his troubles, either. A wicked lady likes him and would ensnare him, but, in spite of the siren's connivings which lead the inventor to doubt his sweetheart's loyalty, the inventor still thinks of the girl back home. (All inventors are a little queer).

THE inventor, at last, gets a letter from the artiste, and he rushes home. He steps into the room in what might be called the nick of time, as the artiste was dangerously close to saying "Yes" to the limousiner. In fact, the minister was on hand. The inventor and the artiste go into a clinch and after that the inventor tells his little girl that his invention is a success and he will make millions.

* * *

The play is well-directed and well acted, and if you think the plot is a lot of hokum, be careful you're not living in a glass house.

98 LOSE $100,000 IN REALTY

A total loss of more than $100,000 in cash to 98 investors in South Hills real estate has been disclosed by R. W. Semenow, attorney for the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board. The losses were suffered in a lot plan beyond Brentwood in Baldwin township marketed by the Country Club Development Company, a Delaware corporation. A large part of this plan was sold recently at sheriff's sale.

A survey shows that 40 persons who purchased lots received deeds but no release from the blanket mortgage which covered the entire property. As a consequence, the deeds are not worth the paper they were written on since the property has been sold at sheriff's sale to the holder of the mortgage.

There are 58 agreements outstanding in which the purchasers have made payments of from $250 to $1,975. This money is lost. There are 41 cases where the purchasers paid their money and demanded release from the mortgage and these buyers have a clear title to the property.

The original owner, Frak T. Wakefield, conveyed a tract of 45 acres in a deed recorded July 25, 1925, for a consideration of $35,274.40 He took back a purchase money mortgage of the same date for the same amount, so that the Country Club Development Company did not put a cent into the property.

The mortgage was assigned on May 11, 1928 to Frank M. Reed. Mr. Reed accepted a sheriff's deed for the property October 6, 1928, with the exception of the 41 lots which had been released from the mortgage.

An effort was made by Mr. Semenow to have the sales in certain cases set aside and the money refunded by the Country Club Development Company on the ground that certain improvements which had been promised in the plan have never been installed. This action was not contested in the courts and judgement was granted for the amount, but the Country Club Development Company has no assets on which to levy.

EMSWORTH SEES NEED OF JUNIOR HIGH BUILDING

A four-year junior high school is advocated by Principal R. M. Boggs, of the Emsworth public schools, as a solution of the growing educational problem in that borough.

The Junior high, he pointed out, would include the seventh and eighth grades and first two high school classes. This would keep Emsworth students at home except for the last two years of the high school course. At present they must attend school outside the borough for the entire four years as Emsworth is without a high school.

"We are sending about 100 students away from our borough to attend high schools of other communities each year," said Mr. Boggs. "This costs Emsworth about $12,000 a year for tuition. Half of that sum could be saved under the four-year junior high plan.

"We soon will need additional facilities. Our elementary enrollment is now between 360 and 370. About 100 pupils left the public schools when the Sacred Heart parochial school was erected two years ago but their places have been filled by other students, due to the steadily increasing population.

"We have a lot 100 by 115 feet already purchased adjoining our present building. This could be used for erection of a separate building or we could build an annex and utilize the newly acquired property for a playground. A junior high school expert of the State Department of Education made a survey here and urged erection of a junior high."

The population of Emsworth is placed at approximately 3,000, Mr. Boggs said.

SON INJURED, ASKS $40,000

For injuries his son Phillip Rosfeld, Jr., 201 Aidyl street, received when a produce truck ran away and upset, cut and bruising the lad, the father, Phillip Rosfeld, Sr., has brought suit in Common Pleas Court against Samuel Carlisle for $40,000 damages, of which sum $15,000 is claimed by the father. It is averred in the bill of particulars that Carlisle permitted the boy to get on the truck September 12.

The truck ran 150 feet to Waddington and Aidyl avenues before it overturned. It required 17 stitches to sew up wounds in the boy's head.

Couple Wed, Separate Secretly

REVEALED BY DIVORCE ACTION

Her marriage having been kept a secret until the separation, Virginia A. LaVelle landed in divorce court yesterday to ask Judge Thomas D. Carnahan to grant her freedom from Thomas J. LaVelle.

Judge Carnahan told Mrs. LaVelle, who lives at 332 South Negley avenue, and whose maiden name was Virginia Gavin, that she was a very foolish girl. It appears that the parents were opposed to LaVelle, who was studying to be a chiropractor at the time of the marriage in 1925. Because of parental opposition they went out together for a period of several months after the marriage and then LaVelle, failing to provide a home, they parted. In the meantime, the wife testified, her husband had been put out of school.

She testified that a week after she had been operated on for goiter, her husband grabbed her by the throat and as a result opened the incision. He did this a second time, she said. Judge Carnahan wanted to know where the father was, but Mrs. LaVelle said the action was kept from him because of the secret marriage. On one occasion the attack was made on the porch of the LaVelle home and Judge Carnahan remarked that the man should have been pitched over it. Friends of the couple pulled him away from his wife.

On another occasion LaVelle attacked his wife in an automobile and the couple they were with made him get out, it was testified. Mrs. LaVelle does not know the present whereabouts of her husband.

Miss Bishinger is the daughter of Robert Bishinger who conducts two hairdressing establishments in Pittsburgh. She met Olivierio last year in Chicago. He had been absent in California all summer, returning to Chicago Monday for the opera season.

In Suit

PHILLIP ROSFELD, JR.

Philip Rosfeld, Jr., 201 Aidyl street, finds himself the center today of a lawsuit his father has entered against Samuel Carlisle, 1276 Ridge avenue, for $40,000 damage, averring that Carlisle allowed the lad to board his produce truck and that it ran away and injured Phillip, Jr., last September 12.

EFFECTS SOLD, ASKS $50,000

J. F. Sullivan, Carnegie, has brought a damage suit against Morris Scheuer, of Carnegie, in Common Pleas Court for $50,000 damages, because the defendant illegally, it is averred, sold his goods and threatened him with arrest should the plaintiff fail to leave the premises.

Sullivan avers that the defendant, who owns the premises at 7, 9 and 11 East Main street, Carnegie, was aware that on October 15, 1928, a petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against the plaintiff in the Federal Court; that the plaintiff informed the defendant of the action and that notwithstanding, the defendant caused a landlord's warrant to be issued and a levy made. It is further averred that George W. Arehart, who was active for the defendant in the discharge of his duties, threatened plaintiff with arrest if he did not leave. It is alleged that the defendant knew the goods were in the custody of the United States Court.

HUSBAND DIES IN FALL, SUES HOTEL FOR $25,000

Emma T. Vennum has filed two suits in Common Pleas Court for $25,000 for the death of her husband, Earl O. Vennum, who fell down the cellar stairs of a hotel at 544 East Ohio street, August 13, 1927, and was killed. The defendants are Elizabeth Lehmer, who owns the building at the address stated, and Vincent Zedler, who leased the structure for hotel purposes. Mrs. Vennum claims that the owner of the building and the lessee of the hotel were negligent in not providing proper safeguaurds to patrons to descend the stairs.

JAIL TERM PROLONGED BY HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

Edward J. Haley, who gave his address as 1905 Forbes street, was free yesterday after spending an extra 24 hours in jail. Arrested in Dormont and accused of begging, Haley had pined away in jail since last Friday without receiving a hearing.

Tuesday his lawyer obtained a writ of habeas corpus in an effort to free Haley. At about the same time Burgess William Haddock, of Dormont, notified the county jail to discharge the prisoner.

The jail attaches were preparing to liberate Haley when they were notified officially of the habeas corpus writ, which was to be acted upon Wednesday in court. So, despite Haddock's order, they had to keep the defendant, a prisoner of his own making.

When Haley was brought to court Wednesday Judge Carnahan discharged the action, thus freeing the prisoner.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 25.

I hope the Democrats win this election just for one thing. I have heard five thousand hours of "speeches" on a "return to Jeffersonian principles," and I want to see what "Jeffersonian principles" are.

IS IT JUST AN ORATORICAL TOPIC, OR IS IT AN ECONOMIC CONDITION?

I know that Jefferson was for the poor, but in his days that was good politics, for practically everybody was poor.

JUST WANT TO TELL YOU ALL WHEN YOU GET THROUGH RAVING ABOUT BOTH OF THESE CANDIDATES THAT COOLIDGE COULD START TOMORROW AND BEAT BOTH OF THEM.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

STOLEN LOVE

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Bill Finds Joan in the City and She Asks Why He Came to See Her

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Joan Hastings, seventeen and beautiful, lives with two old maiden aunts and one of them, Aunt Evvie, tells her of her unmarried mother's tragic love affair and death. Joan falls in love with Bill Martin, a penniless young man, and she is sent away to school. Bill, an innocent victim of a bootlegging gang, is sent to jail and Joan, begging for bail money from the aunts, confesses everything to them. She is put on a train for school in charge of a woman friend of Aunt Evvie's. Bill, freed, bids goodby to his mother, leaving no address and befriending Rollo Keyes, a rich young spender, is given a job by his father. Joan, escaping from the train, reaches his home just after he has gone. Concealing her presence from her aunts she gets a position in a department store and later works as a model in a smart shop. There Mrs. Barstow, a rich society woman, sees her, likes her and asks her to tea. She meets Curtis Barstow who immediately becomes interested in her. Joan goes to see Mrs. Martin and learns that Bill has written but has not asked for her. She thinks he no longer cares. Mrs. Kisamer, with whom she lives and for whose daughter she works, sees a love affair developing between her and Barstow and Francis tells her Mrs. Barstow has been asking about her past. Bill comes home and discovers that Joan is close at hand. He goes to the shop to wait for her, only to see Curtis drive away with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

HE almost wrecked the receiver with the fierce taps he gave it. "Joan, is that you—Joan, is it?"

"Yes, Curtis—can't you hear me either?"

Curtis. Curtis.

"This is—Bill!" he called desperately. "Bill!" A buzzing sound again—the sound of the empty wire. "Operator, you cut me off!" he shouted.

"Number, please? Number?"

He hung up furiously.

He took up his stand at the window again, to wait. To wait for Joan to come out.

A car drew up at the curb. A man jumped out, walked nonchalantly into the shop. Bill watched him, thoughtfully. He loathed men who went into women's shops, but he admired the fellow's courage just the same.

Curtis . . . Joan distinctly distinctly said Curtis . . . oh well, some friend. She had friends, of course . . .

He was musing on that when he saw her. Her sweet, gold head, her slim, tall body, moving gracefully past him. Her deep eyes, deep and clear and green as sea water. Her red lips parted, smiling. Smiling up at someone else.

Her fluttering blue gown almost touched him. He put out his hand—"Johnnie." Did he really call her, or was it the cry from his heart, his soul, his whole starved being?

She did not hear.

She stepped, with her delicate high-heeled slippers, into the waiting car. The man's eyes never left hers. He was loving her, worshipping her, as he helped her into the car.

And Joan put one slender yellow-gloved hand over his.

"Curtis, I'm so glad you came early?"

* * *

When the sun had set, and the street lights cast their bright blue-white light into the dark streets, Bill Martin was still walking, aimlessly now, up and down, up and down the deserted shopping district. He did not know three hours had passed.

CHAPTER XVI.

THE street lights went out, morning came. Bill sat down to rest on a bench in a park. He must have walked, aimlessly, all the night.

"Got an extra dime, partner?" An old man with a greasy coat collar buttoned up around his neck sidled nearer. He had been sleeping at the other end of the bench.

Bill gave it, absently. The old man limped across the street to a lunch wagon, and Bill followed.

The scalding coffee revived him. He threw another dime on the counter. "Set 'em up again!" He grinned at the old man.

"And another sandwich?" the old fellow whined.

"Sure!" Then he saw the battered alarm clock on the shelf with the ketchup and canned peaches. Seven o'clock. Seven o'clock, and he 'way out here, miles from Joan's shop . . . What time did she go to work? What time did girls start working in the mornings, anyway? Eight o'clock? He pushed the paper napkin and the second sandwich from him and looked anxiously up and down for a street car.

After a long time one came. On the ride downtown he looked at his grubby hands ruefully. Remembered that his collar was soiled, and he needed a shave. He should have gone to a hotel—he had money enough for the best. But he wanted Joan so . . . wanted to take her hand, talk to her, tell her all the silly fears of the night, fears that he had lost her . . . Joan!

Eight o'clock! Could he have missed her? He almost ran the last block. No . . . the place was still closed. He leaned in the doorway to wait.

Now she was near. And now his two hands were out, grasping hers tightly, crushing them.

"Johnnie! Johnnie!"

"Bill!" And all the color drained from her face, leaving it white and waxy as the flowers she wore.

"Bill—I've wanted you so! Why didn't you come? Why didn't you?" her heart cried, but her eyes searched his face, saw the dark circles under his eyes, the stubble on his cheek, the soiled linen, the creases in his well-cut clothes. The wave of tenderness, the great rush of aching gladness that had almost swept her into his arms, shook her so that she had to cling to his hand from very weakness, but she did not speak. She couldn't, because she was afraid.

A horror of what she had almost said, almost done, sickened her while she still clung to his hand. "I've almost thrown myself at him again . . . when he never cared . . . not even enough to write . . . when he can come to me . . . like . . . like this . . ."

She looked up at him piteously. Her mouth jerked. Oh, why did he come this way? To think of finding him, lounging in a doorway, looking . . . looking . . .

"I thought you had gone away," she managed to say, and dropped her eyes.

"Yes, I've been down in Bakersfield for a while. I have a good position down there, with an oil company. I've been kind of lucky—"

She stiffened. "That's nice."

"Yes, it's a big field down there. I was kind of lucky," he stumbled on. It wasn't what he wanted to say, what he had come to say. "She's changed!" he thought, miserably. Anger flamed against this new Joan, this city girl with gardenias on her coat. This girl who walked past him, unseeing, last night. "Joan!" he called to the old Joan, the real Joan, the Joan of the fly-a-way hair, and the old gingham dress. The Joan who told him she'd always love him, and never be sorry—ever—"Joan!"—but she couldn't hear...

"Why did you come back then?" she asked coldly, so coldly he could not believe that he had heard her aright.

"Why did I come back?" His hold on her tightened. He searched her eyes hungrily. "Joan—don't you know why I came back? Don't you? Don't you"—

"What do you want?" she whispered "Why did you come here—where I work?" Involuntarily, she looked behind her as she spoke. She didn't want the girls to see, to ask...

He saw her look back. She hadn't looked back last night, when she walked into the car with her hand on another man's arm. She hadn't been ashamed then.

He dropped her hand. "I guess I'm too late."

And now she saw the weariness in the slouching figure, the pain in his heavy eyes. "He's ill—He isn't really happy."

She was reaching out her hands to him again, but he jerked aay. Swung his shoulders with the old reckless, devil-may-care gesture, managed a laugh, "Oh, well—that's all right, too. Sorry if I upset you, turning up like a bad penny. I must look like a tramp—I'm on my way to bed. Good-bye Joan. Good luck!"

"Good-bye, Bill," she said. Pride kept her voice steady.

September, and the long, easy days in the shop were over. Fall styles! Francine's harsh voice grew more rasping. The long cutting tables were never clear. New girls came, sat humped in their chairs, stitching, whispering, giggling. Joan worked early and late.

"Poor kid, she looks real peaked," Maisie said.

"I wish you'd get out of that madhouse," Curtis begged. "I never did like your working there."

Joan only smiled and went on working, but she leaned on Maisie and Curtis more than she knew. Especially Curtis. He was the benevolent despot, forcing her to rest at last, to take long, peaceful drives with him under the stars, in the cool evening.

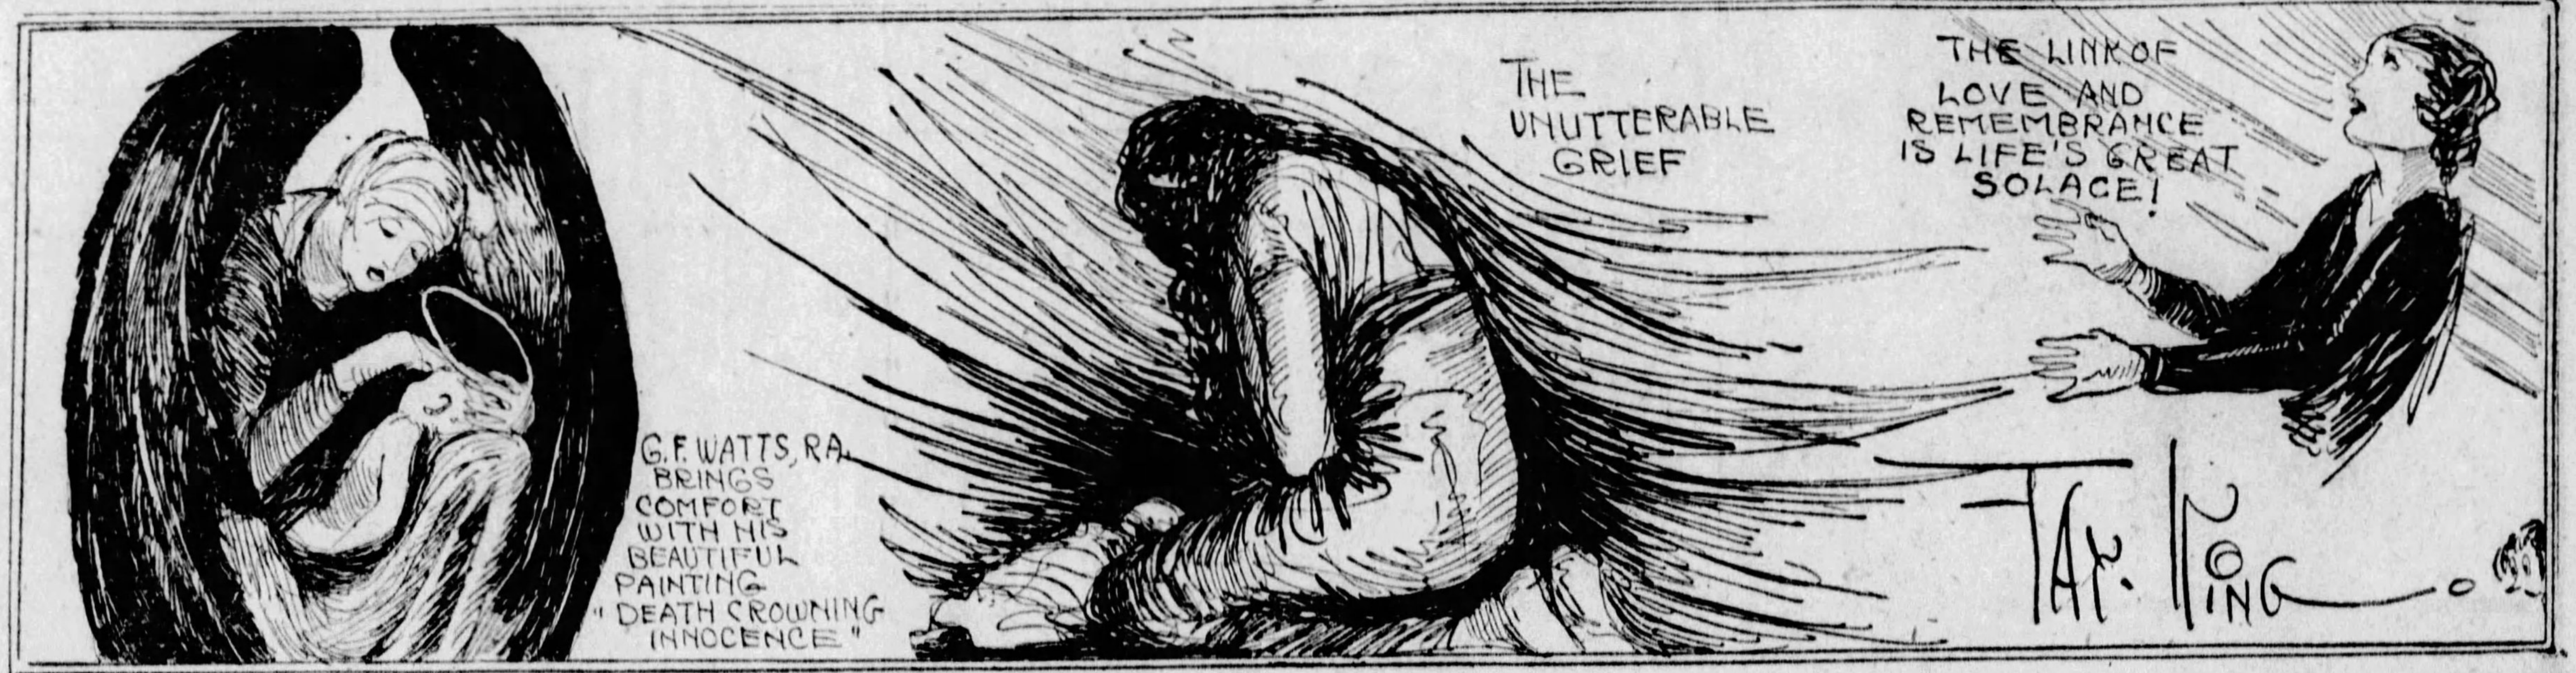
Fay King Tells How Sting of Death Is Cured by Time



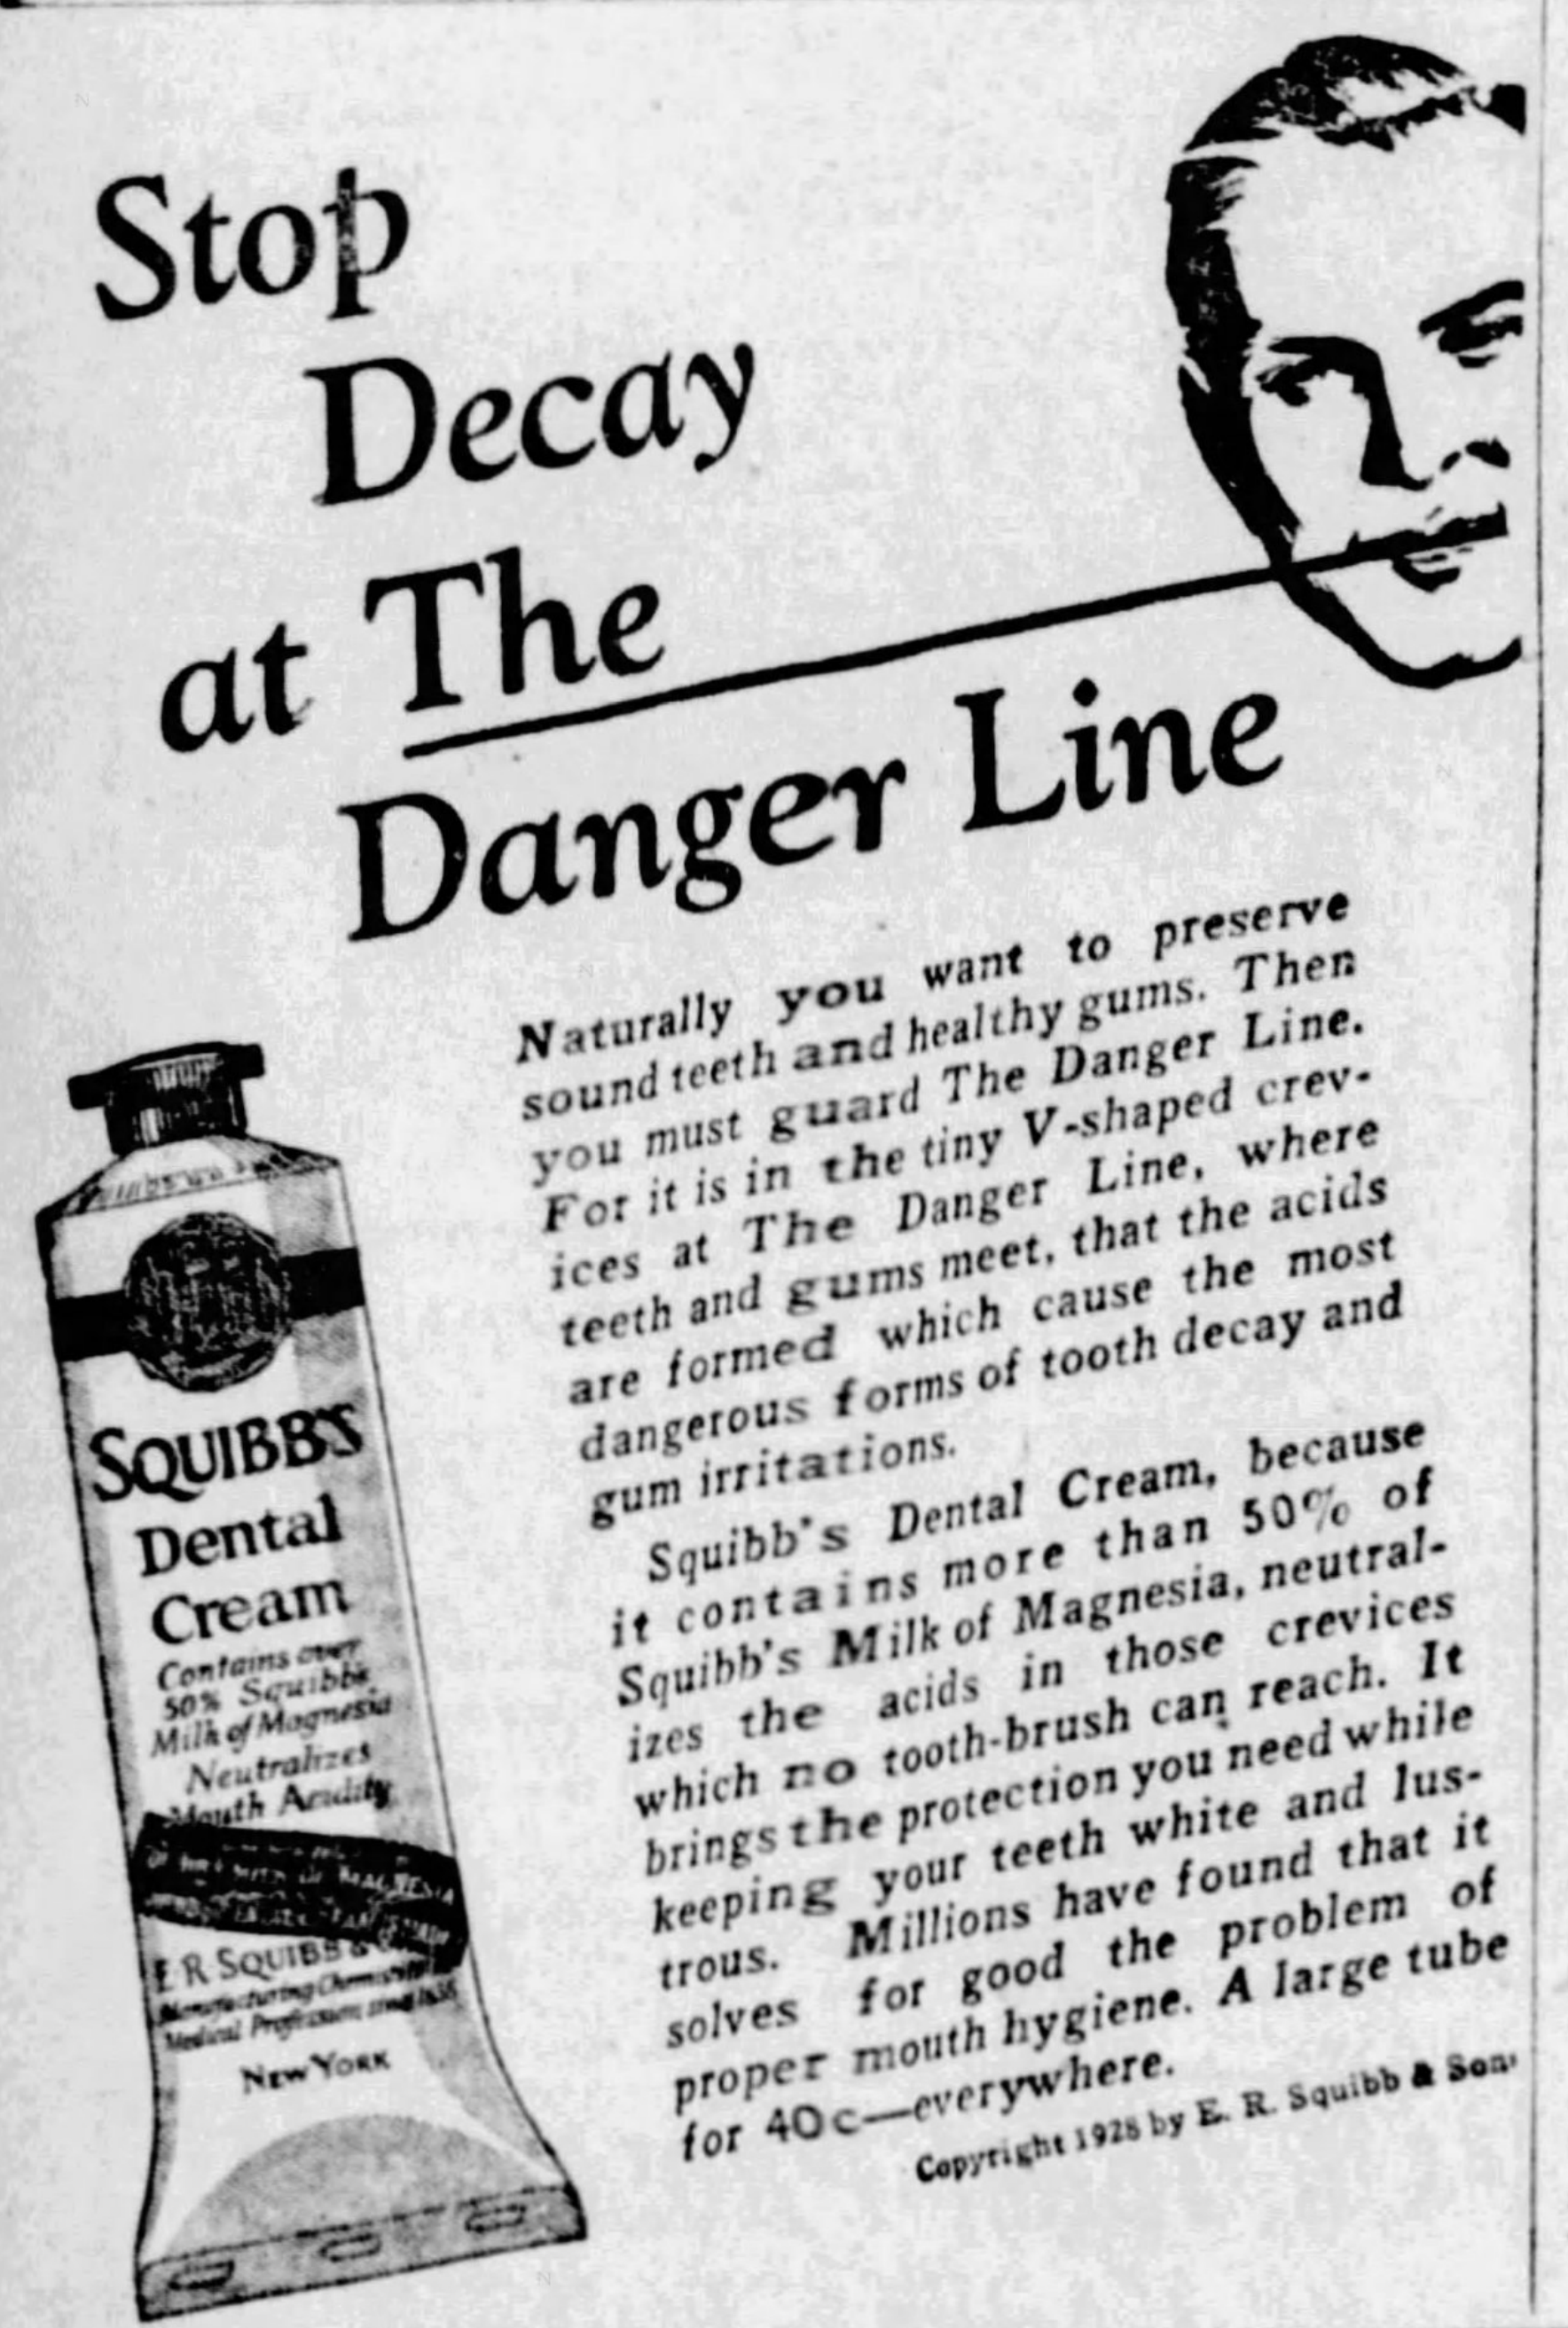
G. F. WATTS, R.A. BRINGS COMFORT WITH HIS BEAUTIFUL PAINTING "DEATH CROWNING INNOCENCE"
THE UNUTTERABLE GRIEF
THE LINK OF LOVE AND REMEMBRANCE IS LIFE'S GREAT SOLACE!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

WHO has not wondered why this should be that a little child so loved and welcomed should be taken by death! The world's saddest note is when bells toll for innocence and youth stricken upon the threshold of life.

There is no word of comfort we can speak or write. Unutterable grief plants first seed of resentment in the heart, then waters them with bitter tears of despair. But time brings them forth into flowers of hope!

Remembrance and love form a code of constant communication with our dear dead. Many who seem alone in truth walk hand in hand with their invisible loved ones. Time teaches us that Death is after all but absence. A separation less than by land or sea life.



Stop Decay at The Danger Line

Naturally you want to preserve sound teeth and healthy gums. Then you must guard The Danger Line. For it is in the tiny V-shaped crevices at The Danger Line, where teeth and gums meet, that the acids are formed which cause the most dangerous forms of tooth decay and gum irritations.

Squibb's Dental Cream, because it contains more than 50% of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, neutralizes the acids in those crevices which no tooth-brush can reach. It brings the protection you need while keeping your teeth white and lustrous. Millions have found that it solves for good the problem of proper mouth hygiene. A large tube for 40c—everywhere.

Kids Love its Flavor!

Mother, be generous with Fruit Flavored Gelatin . . . it's a health food children thrive on

No wonder children always pass plates for more when there's "Fruit Flavored" Gelatin for dessert.

They know the difference! That fresh fruit flavor wins the children's vote whenever it is served.

Here's gelatin with real flavor. With nourishment. With the aroma of fresh fruit. Nothing flat or tasteless about it.

And isn't it comforting to know that when you serve Royal Gelatin, you're giving your children a real health food? Abundant in protein, the energy-giving, muscle-building nutriment that is so important in daily diet.

Be generous with gelatin. Let your children have all they want.

Serve it frequently . . . at least once a week.

But remember . . . one word of caution before you buy. All gelatins are not alike. If you want the healthful kind . . . the one with five flavors from the real fresh fruit . . . insist upon Royal. Tell your grocer nothing else will do.

It's made by the makers of Royal Baking Powder . . . thus you know that it's a quality product.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

P. C. W. Benefit Play To Be Presented Monday Night

THIS is not only the day of benefits, but of theatrical benefits at that. The Pennsylvania College for Women is sponsoring, I've mentioned before, the presentation of "The Desert Song" at the Alvin Monday evening.

And among those acting as sponsors for the event are such prominent names as Miss Cora Helen Coolidge, Mrs. J. Boyd Duff, Mrs. William N. Frew, Mrs. Ralph Harbison, Mrs. C. P. Hespenheide, Mrs. John M. Irwin, Mrs. Frank Ligget, Mrs. H. E. McKelvey, Mrs. Alexander Murdoch, Mrs. F. B. Nimick, Mrs. William H. Patterson, Mrs. Charles H. Spencer, Miss Alice Thurston and Mrs. Edwin A. Coyle.

OF course no matter how many benefits there are, the position of the debutante in the center of the stage remains unchanged, for without the debbie the season wouldn't be half so brilliant as it is.

And a very charming debutante made her bow yesterday, Helen West, daughter of the Charles Howard Wests. Mrs. West gave a tea in her home yesterday afternoon for Helen.

Helen was charming in a gown of taffeta, shaded from flesh to pale orchid, and fashioned with a bouffant skirt. And of course no bouffant skirt this season has an even hemline. To accentuate the unevenness were little flounces of taffeta. During the afternoon the debutante carried different gift bouquets.

Helen received with her mother in the livingroom of the home which was decorated with chrysanthemums in autumnal shades and the debutante's bouquet. Mrs. West wore raspberry crepe, trimmed with velvet.

Mrs. West had as her aides Mrs. James J. Brainard, Mrs. William M. Robinson, Mrs. Richard G. Herron, Mrs. William W. Nicola, Mrs. Henry Clay McEldowney, Mrs. Herman G. Veeder, Mrs. Robert H. King, Mrs. Leonard Kent Guiler, Mrs. Charles A. Fisher, Mrs. H. E. Wainwright, Mrs. Stansbury Sutton, Mrs. Stephen Stone, Mrs. William T. McCullough, Miss Hattie Wainwright, and Mrs. S. Brainard West.

Of course, Helen's aides were sister debuutantes. Among them were Jane Edson, Jane Allderdice, Bettie Dunlap, Louise Evans, Rebecca Follansbee, Bettie Guiler, Mary Marshall, Margaret Holdship, Elizabeth McCullough, Nancy Brown, Virginia Kuhn, Oliveretta Sutton, Marion Stone, Katherine Schley, Elizabeth Orr, Janet MacGregor, Harriet Wainwright, Emily Stuart and Rhoda Gamble.

AND to vary the entertainments for the debutantes there will be at least one costume party. One will be given by William Christopher Robinson, of Sewickley Heights, Wednesday, October 31, for Margaret Holdship, daughter of the Charles Frederick Holdships.

THERE are so many things for society folks to choose between these days. Last night a number chose a concert, and no wonder, when that concert was given by Louise Homer, contralto, and her two young daughters, Louise Homer-Stires, soprano, and Kathryn Homer, pianist, at the Syria Mosque.

Among those entertaining in boxes were Mrs. William Watson Smith, Mrs. H. H. McClintic, Mrs. W. J. Holland, Mrs. H. P. Davis, Mrs. Harry Sheldon, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Dr. and Mrs. Ogden M. Edwards, Mrs. W. H. Pfhal, Jr., Mrs. E. F. Ebberts, Mrs. John F. Casey, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. George E. Tener.

NO formal invitations have been issued for the wedding of Cora McClay, daughter of the Samuel McClays, of Devon road, and Stanley Logan Yonce, of Duluth, to take place Wednesday at 5:30 o'clock in the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, with Bishop Alexander Mann officiating. Since the wedding will be very small, Cora will have as her only attendant Mrs. Murray Smith, of Dayton, O., and Mr. Yonce, Carlisle Heimbach, of Duluth.

PAULINE FREDERICK, stage and screen star, who is appearing in the Pitt Theater in "The Imperfect Lady," and Zelda Sears, who wrote the play in collaboration with Mrs. Arthur Nevin, now visiting at her old home in Sewickley, will be guests, I hear, at the benefit matinee to be given tomorrow afternoon in the Pitt Theater by the Sewickley Valley Hospital Cot Club players. The Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs is the beneficiary.

Among the boxholders will be Mrs. Frank B. Ingersoll, Mrs. George R. Gibbons, Mrs. William Watson Smith and Mrs. John Walker. Mrs. W. E. Schmertz, Mrs. J. R. McCune and Miss Margaret Campbell are among the patronesses.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER C. RALPH, of Sagamore terrace, Buffalo, N. Y., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Emily Margaret Ralph, to Charles Jean Caspar, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Caspar, of Denniston avenue, on Saturday, October 13.

A DOUBLE wedding will be held this afternoon at the Morrowfield Hotel in the Terrace Grotto, when Miss Rose Weinman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Weinman, of Northumberland street, formerly of Baltimore, Md., will become the bride of Irving Gusky, son of Mrs. Anna Gusky, and her sister, Miss Jeanne S. Weinman, will become the bride of Arthur D. Markey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Markey. The ceremony will be performed by Rabbi Goodman A. Rose at 5 o'clock, and will be followed by a dinner for the families, and a reception for friends and relatives at 9 o'clock.

THE University of Pittsburgh Women's Association will hold a Halloween party for children of faculty members Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Heinz House. The committee in charge includes Mrs. George Ellis Jones, chairman; Mrs. Manuel C. Elmer, Mrs. Ellis M. Frost, Mrs. Mont R. Gabbert, Mrs. Montfort Jones, Mrs. M. K. McKay, Mrs. Oliver L. Reiser and Mrs. Jesse H. White.

A BRIDGE luncheon will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the South Hills Country Club. Mrs. Albert Baker is chairman of the luncheon.

Mrs. Samuel E. Donald has issued cards for a bridge luncheon at 1 o'clock on Saturday, November 3, in the South Hills Country Club.

CONSTIPATION CAUSES MANY A SLOW UP

But you can protect yourself

No man can do justice to his job—no woman can remain vivacious and happy—with constipation daily undermining health and strength. Aching heads, painful muscles, nervousness, blemished cheeks—these are just little things that constipation brings on. In the end, it causes more than forty dreadful diseases.

Begin now combating constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve it. More—to prevent it. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Healthful and delicious with milk or cream, or with fruit or honey added. Sprinkle into soups. Recipes on package. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

What Is Pride of Possession Worth?

When a woman goes to buy clothes or accessories—whether she is a millionaire's wife or a $100.00 a month stenographer—she is on an expedition of self expression.

The rut of the usual repels her. Her problem is to obtain personal interpretation of the new and authentic modes.

Pittsburgh women know that Kaufmann Looby matches their ideals.

What the majority do not know is the reasonable pricing in force here.

What a pity that "exclusiveness" usually carrys the inference of unreachable prices.

Our word for it—you do not pay for the name "Kaufmann Looby". You pay a close price for unquestionable style and dependability, expressed in exquisite things that will contribute mental satisfaction long after the price tag has been forgotten.

And this holds—whether you have much or little to spend.

A visit is the only way to confirm.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Seek Causes When Baby Expels Food

LAST week I told the mothers a few things about a baby's loss of appetite. I advised that the intervals between feedings be lengthened and the richness of the mixtures be reduced.

DR. COPELAND

Today I want to speak about another uncomfortable digestive symptom. Anything that upsets the stomach and anything that interferes with comfortable digestion is a matter of importance.

Almost the only things a baby does are to eat and sleep. If something interferes with the sleep, or overturns the eating habits, the household is in trouble. Mother cannot be happy if her baby is suffering. Her feelings will be reflected in the attitude of the rest of the family.

One of the ailments or symptoms of a young baby is vomiting of its food. It is not uncommon, indeed, for the youngsters to throw up a little material very shortly after nursing. Within a few minutes of finishing its bottle, some of the food is expelled.

This is quite a different thing from vomiting a quantity of sour material an hour or so after feeding. If the baby is overfed, or permitted to feed too fast, the stomach may be crowded and up comes the milk.

The milk may be the best in the world. The mixture may be wisely made. But if the eager appetite of the child causes it to gulp down its food, vomiting is almost certain to follow.

You must talk with your doctor about this. He may find that the rubber nipple has too large a hole. This permits the milk to flow too freely and the bottle may be emptied in five minutes. Of course this is altogether too fast and vomiting is to be expected.

While we are on the subject, let me say, too, that the hole in the nipple may be too small. The effect of this is to cause the baby to use too much effort in nursing. The milk runs so slowly that it may take half an hour or more to empty the bottle.

In consequence of the baby's efforts, a lot of air is swallowed with the milk. This may result in vomiting.

Roughness in handling the baby may cause the symptoms. Bouncing and jumping the youngster is improper at any time, especially just after eating.

If the nipple is right and the feeding properly done, it will take the average infant about a quarter of an hour to empty the bottle. If one had to choose between feeding too rapidly or too slowly, the rapid way is to be preferred. But it is better to have it just right, isn't it? This should be 15 or 20 minutes.

In speaking about loss off appetite last week, I told you that too much fat, an excess of cream, in the milk may be responsible. This same cause, too, may produce vomiting.

In preparing the feedings for the bottle-fed baby, a certain quantity of sugar is used. This must be milk sugar or corn sugar. At least, it is true that the majority of the authorities do not think highly of cane sugar for this purpose.

Of course I have no desire to run counter to your doctor. There are some very famous physicians who prescribe cane sugar. It is certainly the fact that many babies thrive upon it.

Perhaps we may conclude, as in the case of adults, that it depends on the individual. But if cane sugar has been used, it is probably wise to change to another form in case of frequent vomiting.

But if the symptom does not disappear, it is well for you to tell your family doctor about it, so he can advise you after seeing the baby.

Answers to Health Queries

H. N. Q.—I have been taking medication for sluggish elimination for a long time and cannot do without pills. I have tried everything, being careful of my diet, etc., with no results—would the constant taking of laxatives prove harmful and what can I do for gases?

A.—Watch your diet, including more fresh fruits and vegetables, drink plenty of water between meals and take suffient outdoor exercise—if you follow these instructions you should benefit.

M. B. Q.—Is kidney trouble hereditary?

A.—No.

B. R. S. Q.—What can I do for high blood pressure?

A.—You should correct your diet. Eat simple food, omit tea and coffee. Constipation and failure in kidney function have an undoubted effect upon the production of high blood pressure. It would be wise to have your family doctor prescribe a special diet.

JOHN STEINLE

Penn. Mother Has Right Idea

For over fifty years, physicians have recommended it and mothers all over the world have recognized this fine old medicine as the standard remedy for those ills of childhood such as biliousness, sallow, "broken-out" skin, constipation, nervousness, indigestion, feverishness, no appetite or energy, etc. Children love the rich, fruity taste of California Fig Syrup and their whole system benefits from its gentle influence. It quickly purges the child's system of all waste; it regulates the bowels and stomach, and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act normally, of their own accord.

A Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Steinle, 231 South Itham St., Philadelphia, says: "I never saw anything better than California Fig Syrup for regulating the stomach and bowels of children. I have used it myself and for my children over 20 years. It stopped my little son John's constipation quickly, strengthened him, gave him a good appetite. I use it with all my children for colds, feverishness, etc., so I am never without it."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name to protect yourself from imitations. All drug stores have it. Four million bottles used a year show its popularity.

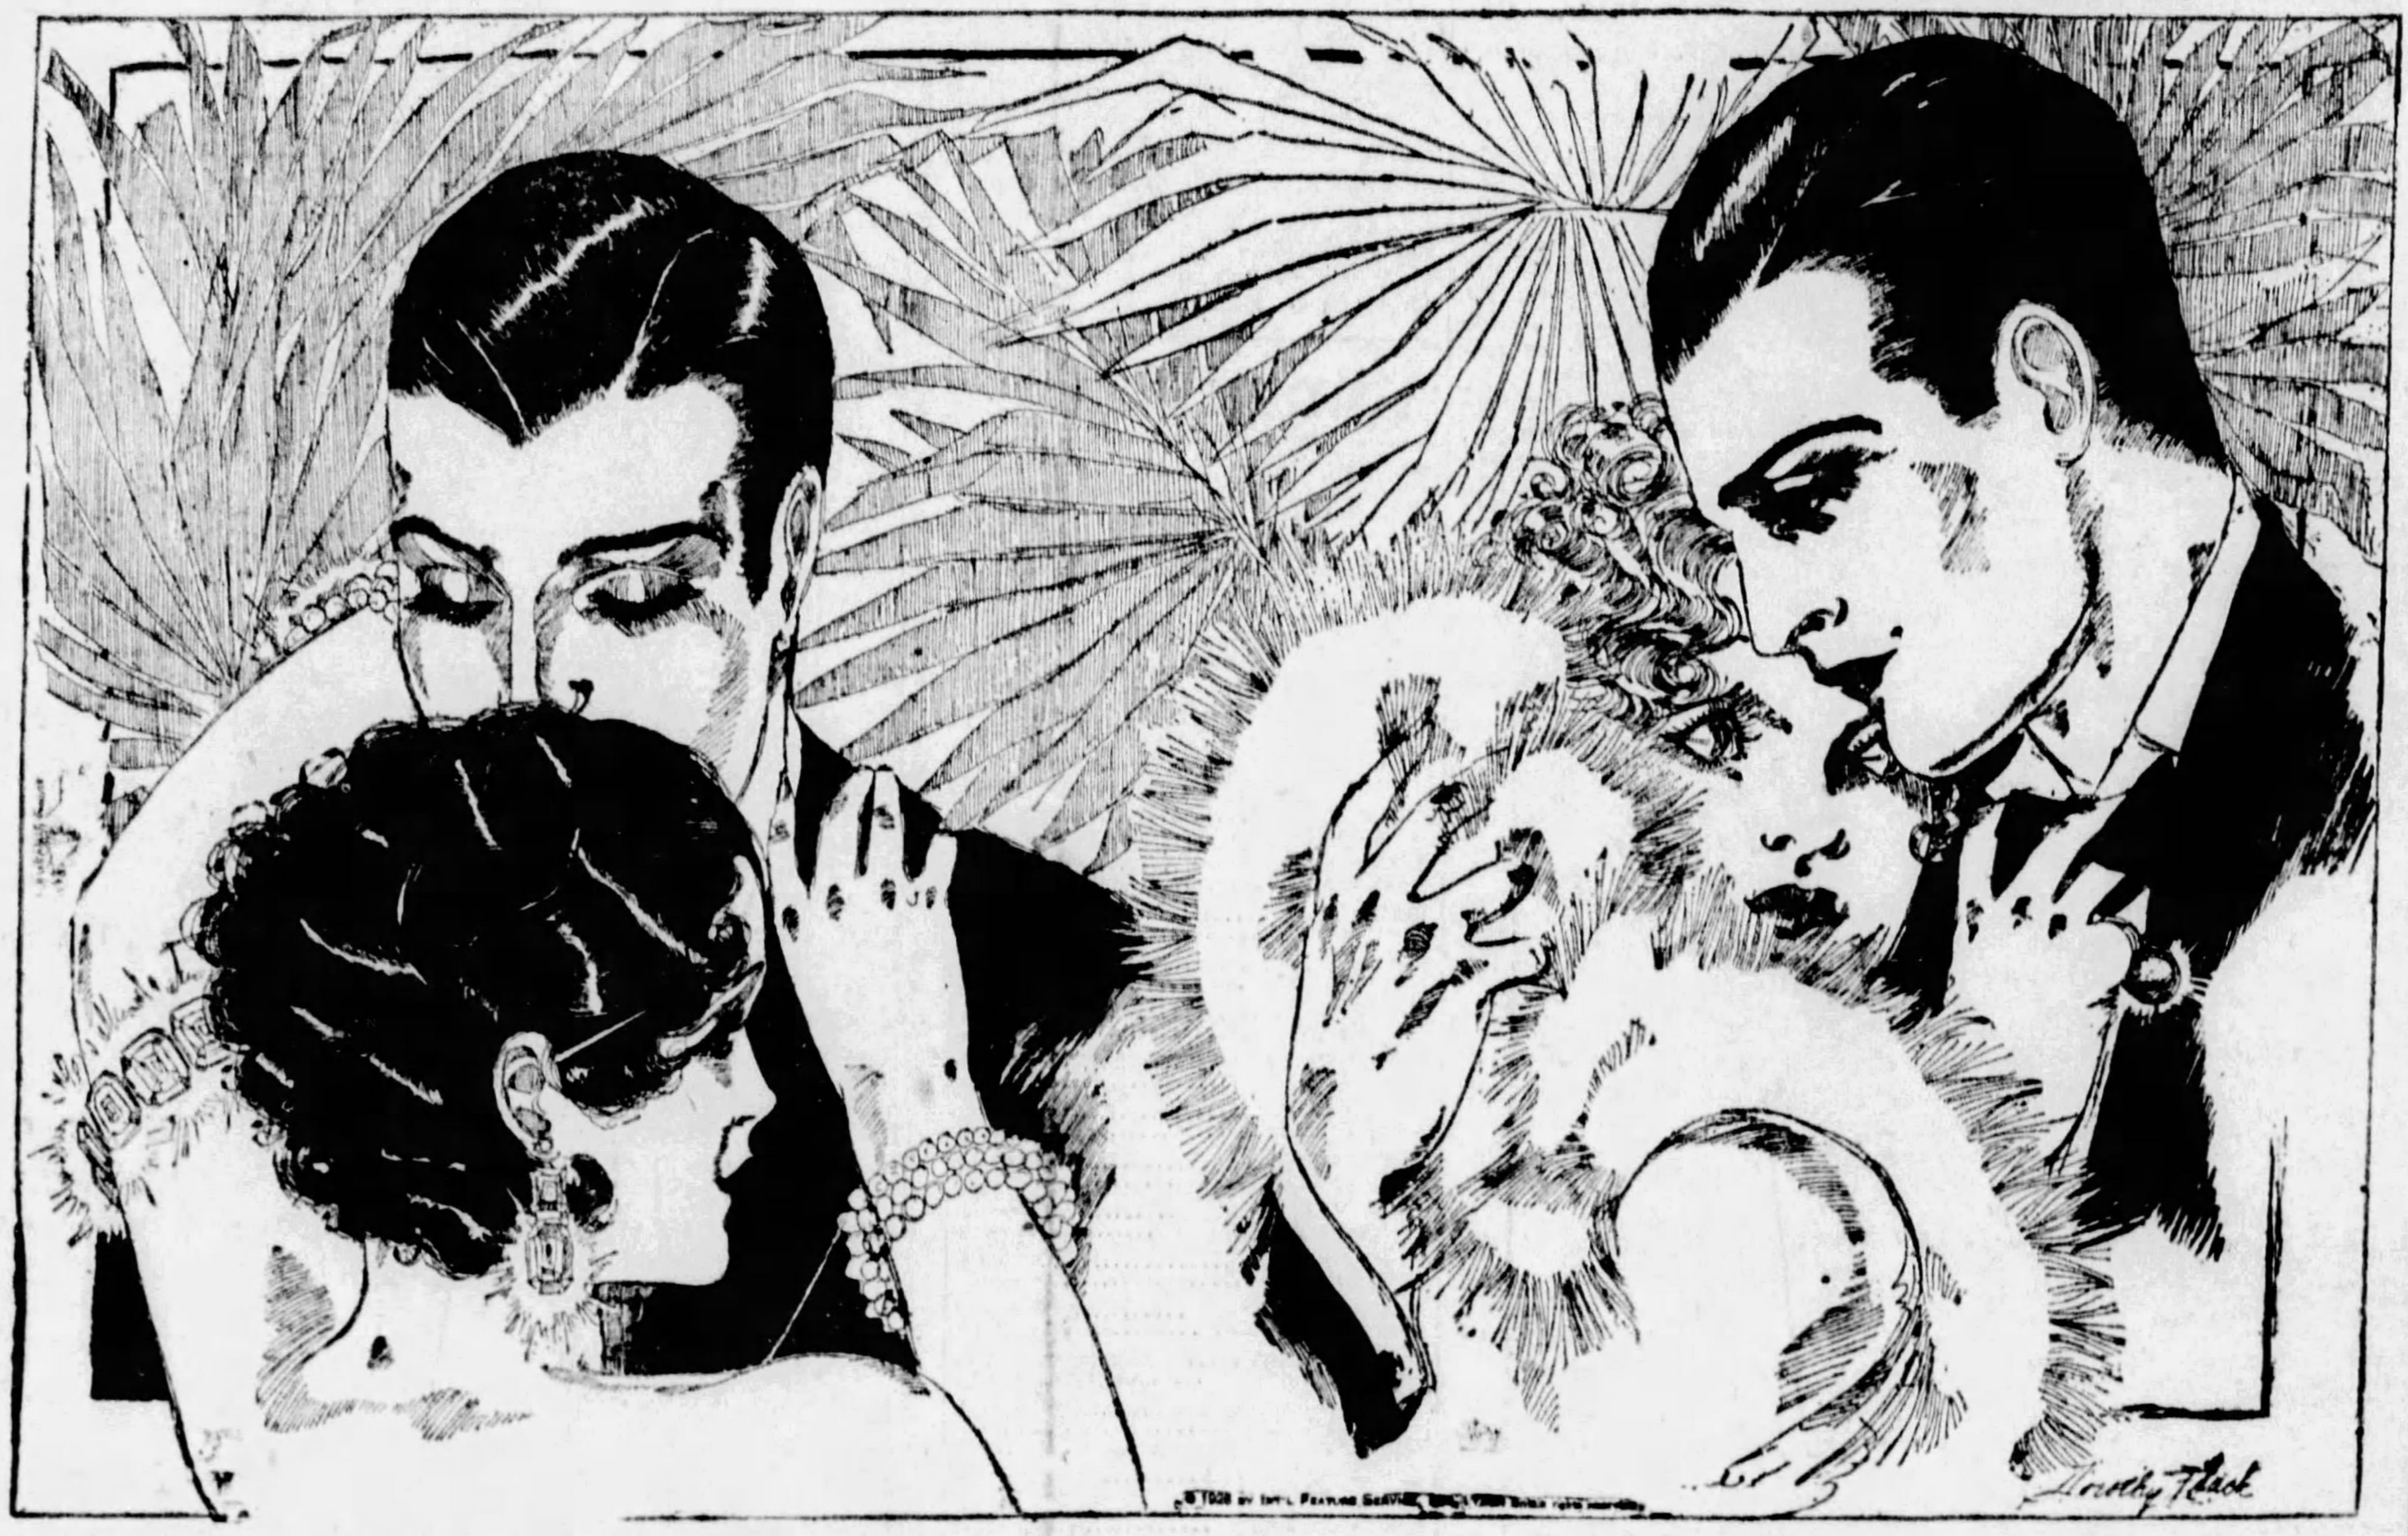
CHEATERS

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



THERE are cheaters at cards, cheaters in business, cheaters in almost every walk of life, but the love cheater is by far the worst.

To cheat love is essentially to cheat yourself in the end. Particularly when the loved one thinks you are just about perfection. When you're dancing and you flirt over the adoring shoulder of your partner you're really committing one of the worst crimes known in the realm of love. Just think how you'd feel if you caught your partner flirting! Wouldn't it hurt you and make you feel silly and foolish? Wouldn't it make you think that you were being "made a fool of?"

Then take the lesson to heart! Your partner probably would feel exactly the same way if he knew what you were doing, and it is no sign of your charm and loveliness to know you are trying to steal the one whom Love has destined for another.

So watch your step! Don't cheat! It may be lots of fun for the time being, but later on it may make you the most unhappy and miserable person in the world. Love always punishes the cheaters, and in ways and means all his own, and you don't want him to pass you by, do you? Certainly not! So guard your eyes and your lips and keep them from straying, for in this way does happiness lie.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, October 26

UNDER the most gracious regency of the Love Star, assisted by the ever benignant Jupiter, this should be a day of merriment, happiness and general progress and fulfillment, especially in those things of life deemed less sordid. While domestic, romantic, artistic and feminine things should flourish, there is augury of a sudden change or journey, which, it is safe to predict, may be in connection with personal affairs. Be discreet with personal correspondence.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of much happiness and gratification in the personal relations, with many fulfilled desires and ambitions. These may involve change or travel of radical importance, but all should flourish. It is suggested that caution and discretion be used in signing all writings.

A child born on this day may have many graces and accomplishments, making for its success and popularity in life. It may be original, ingenious and have an eventful or spectacular career.

O Venus, hail! All hail immortal Queen! Thou reign'st unbounded o'er the human scene.—BOHN.

A Continuation of Love's Embers

Shadows of Edith Fairfax Fall Across a Happy Moment

"HOW about it, old dear? Up to the well-known shell-like ears in work, or can you spare me a minute?"

Dicky's voice held its old provocative drawl as he came out on the upper veranda where I was typing. I found myself thrilling to that teasing note, once so frequently investing his tones, but conspicuously absent during the months of our estrangement. But ever since the day when he had asked me to "pick up the pieces" of our shattered happiness, he gradually had slipped back to the old amusing though sometimes irritating raillery.

I was in no captious mood, however, in these glorious days of late Summer. I was grateful to Dicky for not hurrying me into the reconciliation which I tentatively had promised him, and was glad of the opportunity to give him the friendly, careless comradeship which so far was all he had asked. He never had repeated the rough embrace and impassioned kiss which he had given me upon that day of adjustment, and I knew that he must have been chilled by my failure to respond to his caress. But not yet could I bring myself to complete forgetfulness of the terrible unfaith in me which had driven me from him.

"I can spare you any number of minutes," I told him, smiling. "This work isn't urgent. I'm simply copying an inventory of Marion's clothing and room furnishings for Lillian. She and Marion and I are going shopping in the city some day this week, for the seamstress is coming on Monday. But I have all the afternoon to get this out."

"Sure of that?" Dicky's tone was solicitous. "I'd forgotten that it was so near the time for the kid to go back to her school."

"Do you want an oath or an affirmation?" I laid my typed sheets to one side and swung around facing him. "We have several weeks before the opening day, and as for this list, it can be finished any time today or tomorrow."

"Well, then," Dicky squared his shoulders as if he had some arduous task to face, "do you realize that somebody else besides Marion has to go back to school, and that we've got to plan for it?"

"Do you mean Junior?" I parried hastily, for I knew only too well the problem he was bringing me for solution, and I was distinctly not ready for it. "Why he hasn't—"

"No, I don't mean Junior," Dicky retorted, "although he enters into the thing, of course. But I mean me, myself, and you, yourself, also Mary and the rest of the family. The summer's almost over and I've done less work in the last two months than I've done in years. It's piling up into a mountain. Ede says I'm getting too lazy to live and she's about right. I've certainly dumped the magazine end on her lately, and it isn't fair. I've got to get into the city and that pronto. And that means we must decide now, when, where, what and how much we're going to live."

"Ede" again! I bit my lips to keep back an irritated comment, for I did not wish Dicky to suspect the anger which flamed at his reference to Edith Fairfax. At any rate, I told myself grimly, I need no longer worry about any indifference of mine toward my husband. The rancor, which was quickening my pulses, held as much jealousy of our old friend and Dicky's partner in his magazine venture, as had been there in that long past moment when she had faced me stormily and told me that she loved my husband far better than I did.

But instinctively I knew that my best safeguard against Edith Fairfax was to convince Dicky that I felt no jealousy—not even uneasiness—at his professional association with her. My experience and my common sense told me that I need feel none, for my husband repeatedly had shown his emotional indifference toward her. But the woman who can contemplate unmoved the mental picture of her husband in daily professional intimate association with a woman who loves him, is either not in love with him, or possesses far more poise than is my portion.

"I suppose it is hard on her," I said, trying to get the same note in my voice that I would have used in speaking of a masculine office associate. "But I think she ought to realize that you haven't been lazy. You've simply been lavishing all your time and strength for weeks on Harry Underwood. No wonder you're behind in your work."

"Shut up!" Dicky whispered savagely, and for the fraction of a second I stared at him, too astonished at his rudeness to be angry. Then from behind me came the explanation.

"Right you are, Lady Fair," said Mr. Underwood. "You sure rang the bell in the center of the target that time."

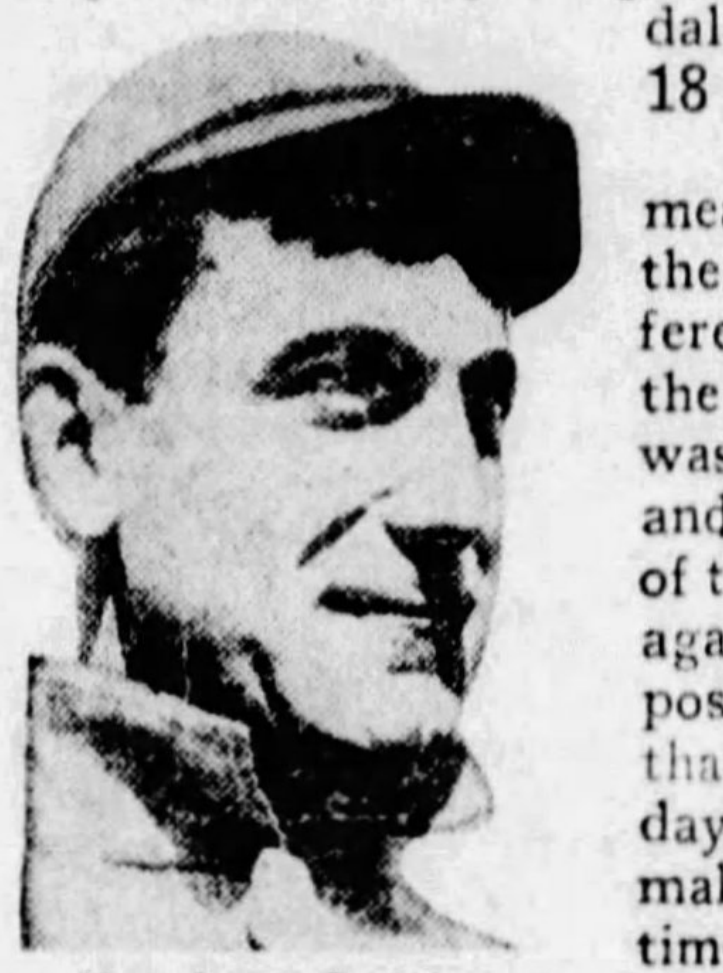
Manush-Goslin Muddle Recalls Close Finish in 1910 That Caused Near-Scandal—Worters and McCaffery Are Holdouts on Pittsburgh Hockey Club—Cleveland One of First to Seek Baseball Trades.

COMPARISONS of the present Manush-Goslin batting championship muddle in the American League with a similar situation in 1910, in which Ty Cobb and Napoleon Lajoie were the principals, recall the atmosphere of near-scandal that surrounded that close finish of 18 years ago.



Napoleon Lajoie.

The hitting leadership that season meant more than mere honor of topping the list, as an automobile had been offered as a prize to the winner. When the final day of the season arrived, Cobb was leading Lajoie by a slight margin, and it was charged that he remained out of the Detroit lineup in the closing game against Chicago in order to hold his position, as unofficial figures showed that unless Ty lost ground on the last day it would be necessary for Lajoie to make at least seven hits out of eight times at bat in Cleveland's concluding double-header at St. Louis in order to beat out his Tiger rival.

SENTIMENT around the circuit unmistakably favored Lajoie, and there was general rejoicing among the Frenchman's supporters when returns from St. Louis showed that he had made eight hits in eight times at bat, and, according to unofficial records, had finished ahead of Cobb by a margin of one point.

Then the scandal began. It developed that about half of Lajoie's eight hits—seven singles and a triple all told—had been made on bunts along the third base line (though Larry was anything but a bunter, as a general rule), and it was charged that St. Louis players, particularly Third Baseman Frank Corridon, had deliberately allowed those bunts to roll safe in a desire to help the Cleveland star to beat out Cobb.

THE games were played on October 9, and accusations of a lay-down to Lajoie became so strong during the next few days that on October 14 President Ban Johnson of the American League demanded a report from Third Baseman Corridon. After an investigation, Johnson announced that he was satisfied that all of Lajoie's hits were legitimate.

John Karcis.

One day later, however, the American League chief set aside the unofficial figures which had shown Jajoie in first place and officially ruled that Cobb had won the batting championship with an average of .384944 against a mark of .384084 for Lajoie.

ANOTHER significant development was the fact that, though President Johnson told the public he was perfectly satisfied that there had been no jobbery and that Lajoie's hits were untainted, both Third Baseman Corridon and Manager Jack O'Connor were released by the St. Louis club during the following winter and dropped out of the majors. Incidentally, though he was denied the batting championship, Lajoie did not go unrewarded, as another automobile was presented to him as a sort of consolation prize.

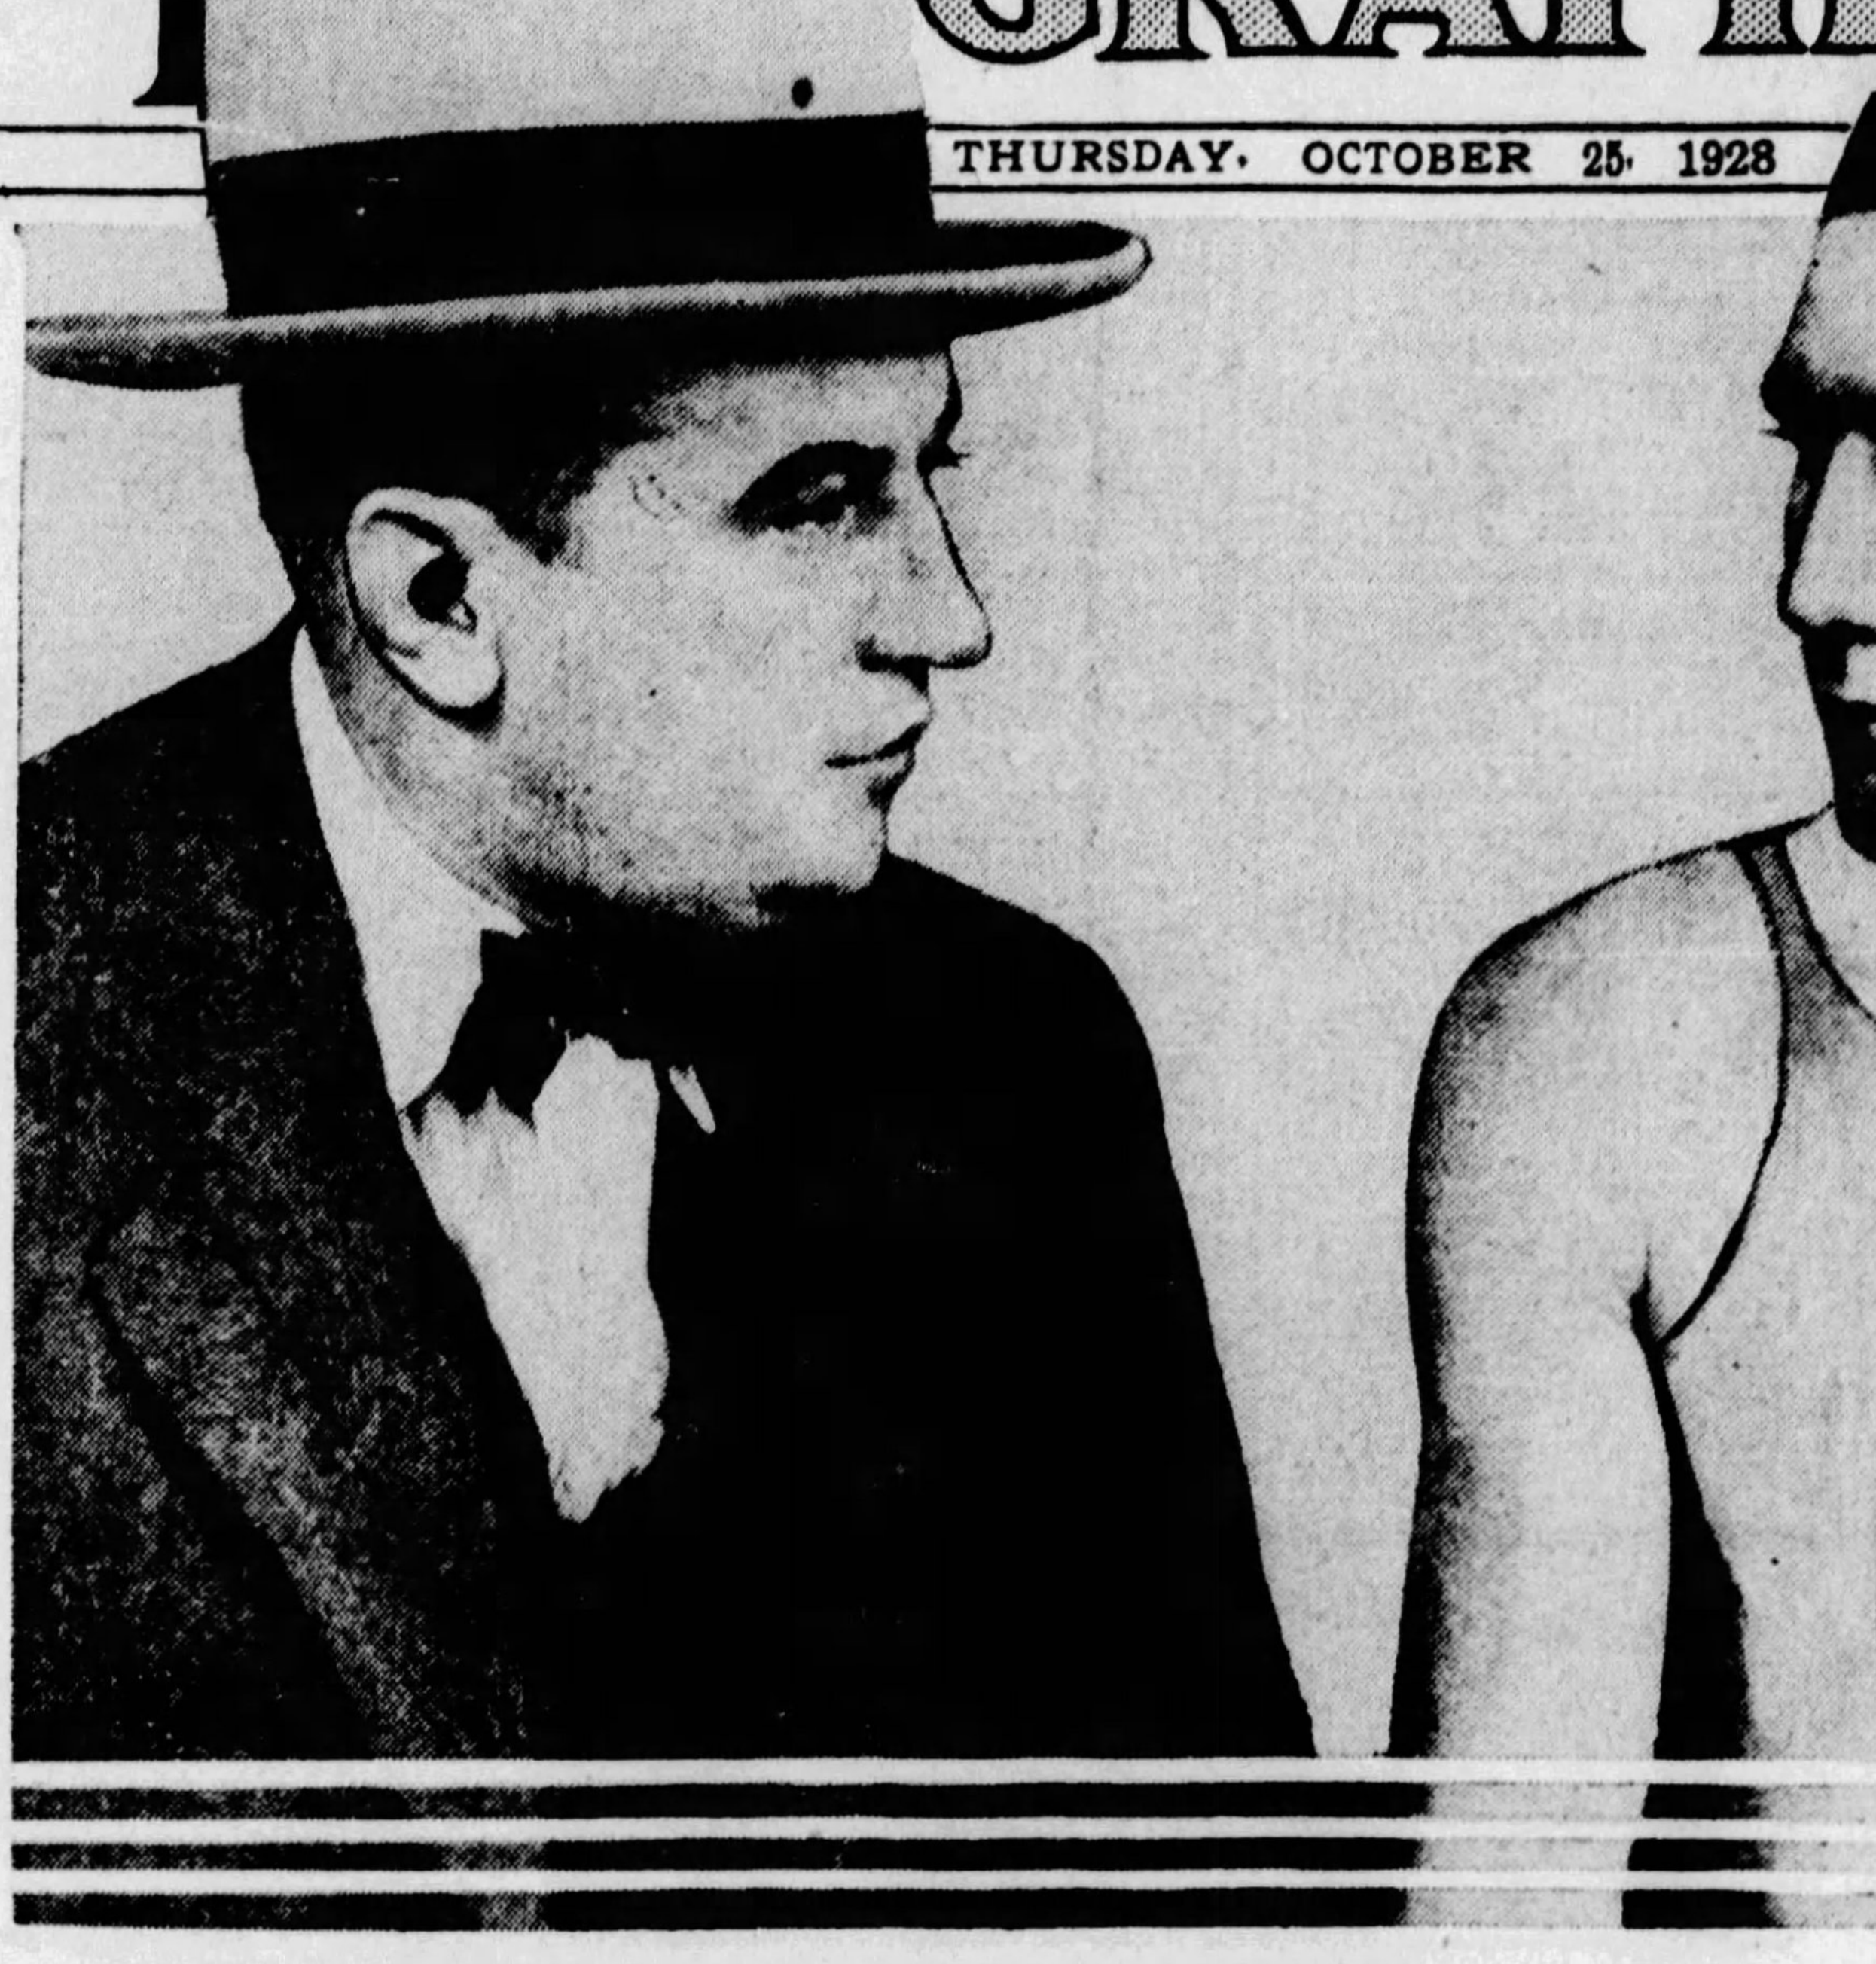
Real Irish Fighter Here



LUKE CARNEY DAVE M'CONNELL

Dave McConnell, of the North Side, makes his local professional boxing debut in the second bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, and will carry into the ring with him the distinction of being the only Irish-born active boxer now residing in Pittsburgh. He is 21 years old and has been here from County Down less than four years. He is one of four brothers and a bricklayer by trade. He donned his first fighting glove two years ago as an amateur and engaged in only six bouts as a simon-pure, but has had five stirring fights in the short time he has been a pro. His opponent will be Bob Collera.

GOOD BOXING FORM

McConnell, who is tall and rangy and whose best weight is 138 pounds, has fine boxing form for a newcomer and promises to go far in the ring. Despite his limited experience, he has appeared in five cities, Washington, Pa., Johnstown, Mt. Clemens, Mich., Louisville and McKeesport, and has pleased the fans. One of his first bouts was a 10-round windup with the clever Steve O'Malley at Washington. He defeated Frankie Eber, of Detroit, at Mt. Clemens, Mike Hogan at McKeesport and Rusty Jones, of St. Paul, at Louisville.

Carnegie Clan to Return

A GATHERING of the Clan Carnegie will be held tomorrow and Saturday when hundreds of alumni of the Carnegie Institute of Technology will return to the campus for the second annual Alumni Homecoming. According to Clarence Overand, executive secretary of the Alumni Federation, all parts of the country and every graduating class since 1908 will be represented among the "home comers."

The principal attraction in the two days of celebration is the annual football struggle between Carnegie and Pitt. In addition, the committee in charge has arranged a full program of events and entertainment beginning at 11 a. m., tomorrow, and continuing through Saturday night.

Friday's features will include a meeting of the Alumn Federation in the gymnasium, a buffet luncheon in

PITT STAR CONFINED TO BED

By JESS CARVER.

TOM PARKINSON, Pitt's plunging fullback is a 10-to-1 shot NOT to see action against Tech in the city classic in the Stadium on Saturday.

Parkinson, confined to his bed with four badly battered ribs, two of which are broken, will not be able to don a uniform today or tomorrow as the Panthers put on the finishing touches for the game at a country club on the outskirts of the city. Parky had his ribs, on the left side, bruised while Pitt was at camp. The hurt was made worse by the battering he took in the West Virginia game, and as he would not complain, he was used, unfortunately, in the Allegheny tussle.

Both Pitt and Tech left for their secret training camps today. The Panthers are hieing to a country club near town, while the Tartans plan a retreat in the mountains. Neither will return until shortly before game time on Saturday.

TECH HOLDS EDGE

The advantage that Carnegie Tech holds over Pitt, and will hold when the rivals meet Saturday, lies principally in weight and in the ever-important factor of reserve material.

In yesterday's Sun-Telegraph, a comparison was made of the rival backfields, with Tech's edge being established through the superiority of Harpster as a quarterback and the greater heft of the Plaid backs. In studying the line, no clear-cut advantage of any one player can be found, but Tech again gains a slight advantage because of the superior weight and because of more and better replacements.

With men of the bulk of Highberger, Meilziner and Lovewell or Schnupp in the lineup, the Tech forward wall will compare favorably in size with any in the country. Schmidt and Dreshar are average sized linemen, with Dreshar the lightest of the five inside men.

GETTO PITT HEFTY

Opposed to these giants, Pitt has only Mike Getto with his 195 pounds to offer. Dimeolo, Fox, Tully and Montgomery are much lighter, and will be outweighed many pounds to the man. Meilziner will have about 80 pounds on Dimeolo. But the Panthers have speed, a very important asset.

Pitt has the advantage at the ends. Donchess and Honey Boy Guarino compare favorably with any wingmen in the country. Flanagan and Rosencweig have been playing good football, but they lack the experience of the Panther terminals. Loehr and Scanlon are good reserve ends, on a par with Shaughency, Kousman and Sweet of Tech.

The Tartan tackles, Schmidt and Highberger, are two tough chaps to get past. Mike Getto is the equal of either, but Tully, lacking both weight and experience, brings down the Pitt average. He'll fight, though, and he has a deal of natural ability that must be taken into account.

Speaking Of Sports

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

SPEAKING of the Michigan football situation, as who isn't these days, has it occurred to you that Judge Steffen has not had occasion to deny that he still is the advisory coach of the swell Carnegie Tech eleven this season?

The Pitt-Carnegie game at the Stadium Saturday is assured the banner crowd of the local campaign to date. The Pitt-West Virginia game drew about 19,000 persons, the best so far, and the advance sale for the Pitt-Tech clash already has almost doubled that. It is estimated that some 35,000 tickets have been disposed of. At this rate the battle may set a high-water mark for the entire season locally.

SATURDAY, November 17, will be a peculiar one in local football history. Both Pitt and Tech will be involved in big games—but away from home. Pitt plays Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb., and Carnegie goes to South Bend to play Notre Dame. The only local attraction will be the Duquesne-Thiel game at the Stadium. At that, a flock of local fans are anxious to get a peek at the up-and-coming Dukes and this third local engagement of the Thiel eleven on Pittsburgh soil this season, against them, will afford the opportunity.

A McKeesporter, Frank Flynn, is going to furnish Pittsburgh training facilities for boxers such as other cities boast in the way of downtown headquarters where all of the fistic talent may meet and go through their paces. He has taken a lease on the third floor of the building at 136 Sixth street (near Penn avenue) and is having installed a regulation size ring, showers, rubbing tables and all other necessary equipment and will be ready for business November 1. Local and visiting boxers will be charged a nominal sum for the use of the training quarters and the public will be invited to see them train.

IN Chicago, Mullen's gym fills this need, and in New York there are several such spots, of which Billy Grupp's and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien's are the most famous. Philadelphia also has several. Among the boxers who already have signified their intention of patronizing the new headquarters here are Jack and Pete Zivic, Jimmy Belmont and Cuddy DeMarco. A feature is that the arrangement will give them an opportunity to work out with one another and familiarize themselves with the various styles of boxing and fighting instead of being limited to training with one or two partners, as is the case now.

A word of praise for Cyril Letzelter, Carnegie Tech halfback star, in this column last Monday, struck a responsive chord in the breasts of a number of readers, who have not hesitated to write in or call up and express their thanks. Letzelter, a hard worker, and an able one, has been very badly neglected when credit has been passed around for the achievements of the Plaid on the gridiron, and it required only

SCRUBS BEAT VARSITY; PENN ELEVEN BENCHED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—The University of Pennsylvania first team was benched yesterday when it failed to gain ground against the scrubs. The second team took the field and after 15 minutes of pounding, Walter Opekun, a substitute left halfback, caught a pass and ran 50 yards for a touchdown.

Coaches were at a loss to know just why the regulars played so poorly. They think that the long drill in blocking which preceded the scrimmage, accounted for the lack of drive among the first-string players.

Dick Gentle, who tore a ligament in his knee three weeks ago, scrimmaged with the second eleven. Although Ralph Monk, regular guard, was kept out of the rough work, the team physician said Monk would be able to play against the Navy.

ST. VINCENT'S TO MEET WAYNESBURG NEXT YEAR

They will also meet in basketball at Waynesburg, December 20.

BUCK M'TIERNAN BEATS MIDDAUGH AT CINCY

CINCINNATI, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—Davey Abad, Cleveland, 130 pounds, won the decision over Chuck Feldman, Toledo, in a 10-round bout here last night. Buck McTiernan, Pittsburgh, outpointed Freddie Middaugh, 150 pounds, Detroit, in six rounds. George Kennedy, Boston, 126 pounds, knocked out Ohmer Martin in the first round of a six-round bout.

WORKOUT TODAY IS OFF

By CARL W. SHATTO.

PLAYERS who aspire to star roles in the revival of King Winter's renowned and thrilling drama, "National Hockey League Race," will appear before Casting-Director Odie Cleghorn at Duquesne Garden at noon tomorrow for the initial rehearsal of the 1928-29 season. Cleghorn is the right-hand man of Benny Leonard, producer of this foot-chilling drama, and it is Cleghorn who will select such actors as are capable of capturing the popular fancy.

True, Cleghorn is a man of few words, but in this drama the lines mean nothing and the gestures mean everything. And how Odie knows the proper hockey gestures!

FIRST DRILL POSTPONED

The first workout had been scheduled for today, but Manager Cleghorn, finding some of the players arriving on the scene of action with their wives with no place to stay, decided it would be best to defer the initial drill in order to permit them a chance to find housing quarters.

Players who in seasons past have shown enough ability to warrant their being tentatively cast in lead roles are Roy Worters, Hib Milks, Harold Darragh, Harold Cotton and Bert McCaffery, but there are plenty of others, including Johnny McKinnon, Tex White, Paddy Sullivan, Roger Smith, Herb Drury, Hank Holway and Charley Langlois, who have sufficient temperament to dispute their claim to the starring vehicles, and the competition promises to be keen.

The first rehearsal tomorrow is to be limited to comparatively light exercises, but as soon as the boys get the "feel" of their skates, two drills each day will be on the program. Last season the Pirates' practice began less than one week before the opening of the league race, and the abbreviated training grind won the locals 10 defeats and a tie in the first 11 games of the campaign. The disastrous start of last fall is fresh in Cleghorn's memory, and he is determined to waste no time in whipping his club into shape for the 1928-29 opener here on November 15.

DENNENY DEAL OFF

The Pirate manager has given up hope of buying Denneny from Ottawa, and the chances of getting Hart from Providence are very slender, according to Cleghorn, but the Buccos' boss anticipates no trouble from holdouts, and it is probable that all members of the Pirate fold will be out for the practice sessions. This means that if there are to be any changes in the Pirates' starting lineup, Sullivan or Holway will be most likely to provide them.

With Sullivan and Holway out of the picture, the Pirates' lineup probably would be Worters at goal,

Fight Results

At Cincinnati—Davey Abad defeated Chuck Feldman, 10 rounds; Buck McTiernan defeated Freddie Middaugh, 6 rounds; George Kennedy knocked out Homer Martin, 1 round.

At New York—George Hoffman defeated Jack Humbeck, 6 rounds; Bob Olin won by technical knockout over Willie Lancaster, 1 round.

At Mitchel Field, L. I.—Chester Mallenski won by technical knockout over Frankie Bush, 2 rounds.

W. & J. SHOVES OFF TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 25.—Washington and Jefferson grid athletes will leave here tonight at 9:30 o'clock for New York City, where on Saturday they will meet the Fordham University eleven at the Polo Grounds.

The W. & J. party is due to arrive in New York City tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock. The squad will be taken to the outskirts of the metropolis to remain until shortly before game time.

Head Coach Andy Kerr announced last night that he was uncertain about the makeup of the W. & J. eleven Saturday, due to the large number of cripples resulting from the game with Carnegie Tech. He hopes to have his full strength available for the test with Fordham.

WILKINSBURG STUDENTS TO INVADE GREENSBURG

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 25.—More than 2,000 supporters of the Wilkinsburg High School football team are expected to accompany Elmer Carroll's eleven when they clash with the Greensburg High School gridders at Offutt Field here Saturday.

Greensburg, eliminated from the W. P. I. A. L. title chase by virtue of its 13-7 defeat by Charleroi last Saturday, now hopes to sprag the rush of the Holy City team towards the championship.

PATERNITY CASE DELAYED BY RED GRANGE

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Harold (Red) Grange, former football star, named by Mrs. Helen Flozak, as the father of her seven-months-old child, failed to appear before Judge William R. Fetzer in the Court of Domestic Relations when the paternity case was called today.

Attorney J. J. Gorman, representing Grange, said he did not believe that his client had to appear personally in court.

"Nonsense," said Judge Fetzer. "It's the rule of my court that all defendants must appear. Have Grange here in one-half hour."

Gorman pleaded that he could not reach his client today, although it is known that Grange is residing at a downtown hotel and is appearing at a theater here. Gorman asked for a two weeks' continuance.

"Grange holds that this case is an out and out attempt to blackmail him," Gorman told the court. "He intends to fight the case to the limit and wants time to check up on the reasons for the filing of this charge against him. He denies that the child is his or that he knows the child's mother at all."

MOTHER TELLS STORY

Judge Fetzer refused to grant the continuance, but permitted the case to be passed on the call in order to have Gorman get in touch with the former football star immediately.

The mother of the baby was in court with her child and told her story.

"I was a checker at the Morrison Hotel," began Mrs. Flozak. "Grange importuned me many times for dates. I finally went with him to his home in Wheaton.

"There were many parties and automobile rides out in the country. The baby was born last March, and I named her Haroldine, after her father.

"I tried in vain to obtain support from him for the child and myself, but he refused even to talk to me about the case. I had no other recourse than to come to court."

BABY HAS RED HAIR

Mrs. Flozak, it was explained, was married and divorced five years ago. Since that time she had taken her maiden name of Helen Morrissey. Actual hearing of the case, it was indicated, would lapse to the afternoon session of court today after Grange has been found by his attorney.

Grange finally appeared a few hours later and asked for the continuince on the grouds that he wished time for an investigation of the charge and "the motives inspiring them."

He told the Court he did not know the young woman who claimed she was the mother of his child other than remembering her as a hotel employe. He did not glance at Helen nor at the tiny red-haired infant which she carried in her arms when he faced the judge.

Martinsburg Club Sells Pair to Milwaukee

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 25.—Sale of Robert (Lefty) McIntire, of Washington, southpaw hurler with the local club of the Blue Ridge League, and Edward Judd, third baseman with the locals for the past two seasons, to the Milwaukee club of the American Association, for $1,500, was announced today through Lewis N. Thompson, of the club board. Both players are to report to the Brewers at the beginning of the 1929 training season.

Thompson and Earl Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, manager here in 1925, were instrumental in negotiating the sale. McIntire was with the Brewers for a short time this year, going there directly after the close of the local season on Labor Day.

SPORT COMMENT

By JAMES J. LONG

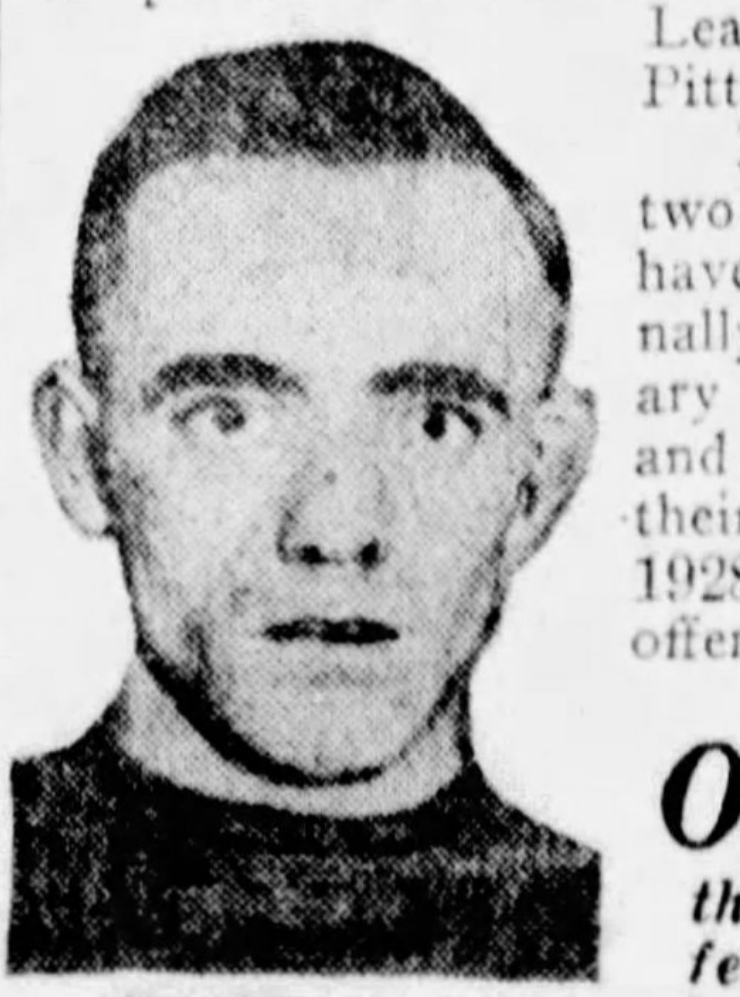
Haven next Saturday may be safely looked upon as the champion team of the East for 1928. Pittsburghers, among others, may be pardoned for wondering where they get that stuff. In addition to Dartmouth, New York University, Cornell, Georgetown, Boston College and Tufts, there is Carnegie Tech to be considered among the major elevens that have not yet been beaten nor tied.

If the Steffenites should defeat Pitt Saturday, and follow up by beating Georgetown, Notre Dame and New York University, the gentlemen who are taking it upon themselves to award the Eastern title would have a hard time explaining any failure to give a full measure of recognition to the powerful team that is built around Capt. Howard Harpster and John Karcis.

THE salary holdout fever that has broken out at several points on the circuit of the National Professional Hockey League this fall, has finally hit the Pittsburgh club among others.



Roy Worters.

It is learned that there are at least two players on the Pirate roster who have refused to sign the contracts originally tendered to them because the salary figures are unsatisfactory to them and have declared they will not affix their signatures to playing pacts for the 1928-29 season until better terms are offered.

ONE of the holdouts is Roy Worters, star goalkeeper, and the other is Bert McCaffery, defense man. There may be others before the beginning of practice, which has been postponed from today until tomorrow, but for the present the cases of Worters and McCaffery are the most important ones with which the club officials have to deal. Worters expected a big boost in pay this season on the strength of his great work for the club since he came here three years ago, at a medium salary, but though the contract sent to him did call for an increase, the raise was not as large as the clever goalie had anticipated, and he has informed local friends that he will loaf this coming winter rather than sign for the sum offered. McCaffrey is reported to be equally firm in his refusal to sign at the terms tendered by the club.

OTHER members of the Pirate ice brigade may be heard from later on the same subject. Some are said to be dissatisfied because they did not receive salary increases, and others are protesting because their pay was cut.

All in all, it looks as if Benny Leonard will have plenty to do in the line of satisfying recalcitrant players before the season opens here three weeks from tonight. It will not be surprising, from what can be learned of the attitude of the club officials, if the situation leads to a couple of releases and possibly a trade.

THE size of the attendance at the Yale-Army football game in New Haven Saturday will be limited only by the capacity of the stadium.

The Yale Athletic Association admits that it has been unable to supply the demand for tickets by at least 20,000, and speculators who managed to get hold of a large number of pasteboards have been able to dispose of them in New Haven, despite the reported vigilance of the police, at prices ranging from $20 to $30 apiece.

Roger Peckinpaugh.

CLEVELAND is one major league baseball club that plans to do a heap of trading during the off-season. Manager Roger Peckinpaugh, though well supplied with infielders and catchers, admits that his team is weak in the box and in the outfield and plans to take early steps to bolster the wobbly places. He wants at least two pitchers, and two outfielders who can hit well enough to be fit teammates for Charley Jamieson. George Uhle, Joe Shaute and Walter Miller are said to be three of the pitchers slated for trades, and some young hurlers also are to be dropped.

SIX MITTMEN SUSPENDED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission yesterday announced the following suspensions of boxers:

Ray Romney, Wilmington, indefinitely, for failing to honor contract at Elam.

Lew Chester, New York, indefinitely, failing to honor contract in Norristown, Pa., October 19.

Dominick Petrone, New York, indefinitely, failing to honor contract in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., October 19.

WESTINGHOUSE, FIFTH BATTLE

THE week-end brings several interesting scholastic grid battles to the fore. The Westinghouse High-Fifth Avenue High clash, originally slated for tomorrow, is to be played today on the Schenley High field in Herron Hill. The Schenley High-Oliver High embroglio, scheduled for the Brighton road grounds tomorrow, has been changed over to the former's gridiron.

Today's contest between the champion Silver Lakers and the Downtowners will be something of a warm-up battle for Ken Ormiston and the rest of Coach Burton's battling squad. Fifth Avenue will be fortunate if it holds the champs to a few well-scattered touchdowns. Ormiston has been out of the Westinghouse lineup for some time and will need to make up for lost playing. The star fullback hopes to be in his best form for the harder battles which are yet to come.

Interest over the week-end, however, centers in the game between the North Siders and the Gross-coached Bellefield machine. Both teams have been going at a hot pace this season and are rivals of old. The outcome will be watched with interest.

Peabody High School will take a trip into Ohio Saturday. Carrick and Langley battle in Section 2 tomorrow. South Hills meets Dormont in a non-league exhibition.

The three drivers have informed Henry Coslow, manager of the Bridgeville Board Speedway who is sposoring the motor meet, that they will be on hand early because they wish to see that their cars are properly primed for the speed duels.

BOXING UNION OPPOSED BY MULDOON

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—William Muldoon, New York state boxing commissioner, will oppose any attempt of the New York State Athletic Commission to join a national organization as long as he is on the present board.

"I am against New York state becoming entangled with any other boxing organization," he said. "If another state needs our help and appeals to us we will try to help them. If New York needs help we will ask it. We will never join a national organization. It is better to have two or three big boxing bodies working separately. A big organization is too unwieldy."

PHILLY PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO GET 210 COACHES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—A corps of 210 paid coaches for public school athletic teams, to develop first and second teams and extend the "moral and physical benefits of athletics," was authorized yesterday by the schools committee of the board of education.

The new system of paid coaches will entail an estimated yearly cost of $38,000. In past years school coaches have been members of the faculties of the respective schools who served without pay.

INJURIES BESET MIDDIES, TIGERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—With the mid-week practice battles for varsity places producing injuries almost as frequently as the Saturday games, more than one eastern football coach is following the gloomy example set by Gil Dobie of Cornell.

The Navy and Princeton were the worst sufferers yesterday when the hard scrimmage sessions ended. With monthly examinations hampering the practice by keeping many of the men off the field, a new woe descended on the Navy camp when Oscar Hagberg, a newly-discovered end prospect, received a broken leg during the scrimmage session. The injury will prevent his becoming a first string player this year if he is able to play at all before the end of the season.

Hardin, Navy center, also went on the unavailable list with injuries. A pounding received in the Notre Dame game aggravated old injuries and he will not recover in time to play against Pennsylvania Saturday. The only bright spot for the midshipmen was the return of Spring, a backfield star, who has not been able to play for some time.

The Princeton varsity went through a long session against the coaches and some former varsity players and came out with two damaged first string men. Sam Levine, guard, was pretty well battered and will not be able to practice for several days, while Graham Jones, back, received a slight injury.

At Cornell, Dobie has an undamaged team to send against Princeton. An open date Saturday, with the resulting opportunity to bring his men along slowly, brought Dobie through the last scrimmages without injuries.

The Penn coaches, likewise, are shrouded in gloom because of the poor showing the Red and Blue varsity made against the scrubs. The whole first team was benched during the scrimmage session yesterday and the second team promptly crossed the scrub goal line.

The Army squad, with five men still on the hospital list from the Harvard game, had its first hard session in preparation for Yale, but the plays were halted before they became too rough in order not to risk further injuries.

Only one case of serious damage was reported in Western Pennsylvania. When Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech completed their home preparations for their meeting Saturday and prepared to vanish into the hinterlands outside the city for final secret workouts, it was announced that Parkinson, star Pitt back, still was disabled and probably would not get into the fray. Penn State came through a scrimmage against a mythical Syracuse team.

ADELMAN, RYAN BOX TONIGHT

DAVEY ADELMAN, popular Jewish bantamweight of Philadelphia, and Johnny Ryan, of Erie, are set for their 10-round windup battle in the McKeesport ring tonight. Both are fast, clever boxers and good hitters and the match has the makings of one of the slickest bouts in the Tube City arena this season. It certainly should not lack for action, at any rate.

Dominick Proflo, of Cecil, the new knockout sensation, and Jackie Murray, Negro welter of Center avenue, meet in their return battle in the six-round semi-final; Battling Gizzy, of Donora, boxes Frankie Moran, of Homewood, in the second bout, and Jimmy Kane, of McKeesport, meets Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, in the six-round opener.

Proflo recently made his professional debut in McKeesport against Murray, winning the decision after knocking down Jackie a number of times, but failing to stop him. Murray believes he can even the score in tonight's battle.

PECK MEETS DANDO

Georgie Peck, of the North Side, takes the place of Joe Louder, of the South Hills, against Shifty Dando in a 10-round bout at Marietta, O., tonight and also meets Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, in a six-round preliminary to the Willie Davies-Johnny McCoy bout at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, next Monday night.

A change has been made in the opening bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, whereby Tiger Joe Randall, Negro welterweight, who fought a thrilling battle with Dominick Proflo in the same ring a few weeks ago, will be back on the boards, meeting Marco Polo, of the North Side, for four rounds at 145 pounds. Originally, Nunci Villa and Johnny Haggerty, bantams, were paired, but Haggerty is fighting at McKeesport tonight and Nunci is unable to make the weight demanded by Johnny, anyway. Villa will appear in the following show at the Garden.

The DeMarco-Goldstein bout will be fought at 140 pounds. Cuddy likely will have to hustle to make this weight, while it will be easy for Goldstein, who scaled only 136½ pounds for his bout with Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, in the same ring a little more than a week ago.

The semi-final at Motor Square, Monday night, between Jackie Rodgers and Dan Billick, will be an eight-rounder. The Dominick Proflo-K. O. Chappie bout will be six rounds, and the second melee will be a four-rounder between Dave McConnell and Bob Collera.

MORGAN TO BOX HERE

Matchmaker Jules Beck is planning to show Tod Morgan, the junior-lightweight champion, at Motor Square Garden soon, his opponent to be selected from among Johnny Mellow, Sid Terris and one or two others.

Johnny Vivio, of Bloomfield, has a bout with Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, pending at East Liverpool, O., where he fought Freddie Boylstein last Monday night.

Art DeChamplain, of Johnstown, boxes Frisco Bautista, the Filipino, in a 10-round bout in New York tonight.

Benny Bass and Phil McGraw box the main bout at the Arena in Philadelphia next Monday night. Jackie Pilkington and Emory Cabana are paired for the 10-round semi-final.

Baby Joe Gans, the Negro lightweight sensation, is married and has two children. He is 23 years old, and, like the late Tiger Flowers, is a deacon in his church.

A smoker show will be held in Forester's Hall this evening for the Harry McVeigh basketball club. Jack and Pete Zivic, Jack Katkish, Jack Unglo, Andy Stahura, Bobby Burns and other boxers will appear in bouts.

Leon Rains, former matchmaker at the Olympic Club and the Arena in Philadelphia, is considering an offer from Benny Leonard to make matches for him at Duquesne Garden. So it appears Benny was not merely spilling idle chatter when he said here a few weeks ago that he planned to couple boxing with hockey, at the local arena.

Maxie Strub is incapacitated and has called off his match with Augie Pisano at Erie tomorrow night.

PEABODY, SOUTH HILLS WIN

Peabody seniors captured first place in Section I of the high school girls' swimming league with six straight victories and no defeats. First place in Section II went to South Hills seniors, with five wins and a clean slate. Langley seniors who won the title last year, finished third.

Among the juniors South was first in Section I, and Perry was first in Sectiou II, with the same number of wins as the senior victors. South juniors are the title defenders and have yet to come through the trials and the championship meet before they can rest on their laurels. The final standing of the teams for the dual meets follow:

and Dreshar and Meilziner in the center of the line, the Skibo advantage becomes plainly evident. Any one of the five outweighs the Pitt squad of guards, composed of Capt. Fox, Dimeolo, Jess Crissinger and Lewis. Crissinger is the heaviest of the quartet and he scarcely sizes up with Dreshar, who is about the lightest of the Tech crew.

The Pitt guards, Dimeolo and Fox, have an edge in experience over all of the Plaid hopefuls with the possible exception of Meilziner. Meilziner is playing center on the offense and guard on the defense, with Dreshar shifting along with him.

At center Monty Montgomery has shown himself to be as good a pivot man as either Meilziner or Dreshar. Baker and Barnes, light and fast, the Pitt center replacements have it over any of Tech's secondary centers. Montgomery looms as one of the best men for the position in the district. He is a made-over tackle and guard, don't forget that.

There is little comparison between the reserves of the teams. When Lovewell, Yerina, Middleton and Young are pitted against Corson, Faw, Lewis, Crissinger and Fuge, the Skibos get the call. They have the weight and so far have shown to better advantage in action.

As far as is known now, Tech will start the same line against Pitt as was used against Wash-Jeff. T. Flanagan and Roseneweig will be at the ends; Schmidt and Highberger at the tackles, Dreshar and Lovewell at the guards, and Meilziner at center. The Pitt wall will be made up of Dorchess and Guarino, ends; Tully and Getto, tackles; Fox and Dimeolo, guards, and Montgomery, center. Schnupp is fit for duty if needed on the Tech line. He is not slated to start.

DUKES' PERFECT ATTACK

Duquesne's ends and backs never went through such a workout as they were given yesterday, and they hope never to get another like it. Coach Leyden worked the first and second team terminals and backfield combinations for a solid hour on passes, concentrating on the perfecting of the teams' aerial attack and the breaking up of the Geneva plays, which have been secured by scouts.

While Layden was hammering away on the aerial game with the backs and ends, Bob (Paddy) Reagan was drilling the linemen on the proper method of making a whole for your own offense and closing one for the opposition. He and the tackles rolled all over the Bluff gridiron, and despite Bob's age and general decrepitude, he gave the Duke hopefuls all the play they wanted.

The Dukes injured list is gradually evaporating. Donnelli, the doughty-captain, was in the scrimmage for a while yesterday. Burns had his uniform on, and while he did not engage in any of the rough work, he was drilled with those handling the aerial game.

HOCKEY

McCaffery and McKinnon at defense, Milks at center and Darragh and Cotton at wing. If Sullivan, one of the best poke-checkers in the sport, shows a return to his old-time form, he might be given the center job, Milks pairing with Darragh at wing. Holway seeks to win a defense barth, and if he makes the grade McKinnon is the man who probably would be listed with the spares.

Sullivan, Holway and McKinnon, then, will hold the spotlight and much of Cleghorn's attention in the early drills.

Sullivan is a Pittsburgher well known to local fans through his valiant work for amateur teams. Holway is a sturdy defender, recently purchased from the Montreal Maroons.

BENNY TO BE AT DRILL

Worters arrived here last night and Cotton, Holway, White and McKinnon reported to Manager Cleghorn this morning. McCaffery accompanied Cleghorn here yesterday, and Drury, Sullivan and McCurry are "natives."

Benny Leonard today wired Cleghorn that he would arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow morning and would attend the initial workout at the Garden. Leonard expects to settle salary differences with Worters and McCaffery at that time.

WEST VIRGINIA MAY LEAVE STUMPP AT HOME

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 25.—(AP.)—Eddie Stumpp, star halfback and field general of the West Virginia football team, will not be taken on the trip to Easton tonight for the game Saturday with Lafayette, officials of the athletic department intimated last night.

Stumpp was injured in the game against Washington and Lee at Charleston last Saturday and has been confined to his bed since. He suffered a dislocated knee and other injuries.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Due to a foot injury, Vincent Chimenti, Lafayette's crack halfback, will be unable to play against West Virginia on Saturday.

GRIMES, BUC HURLER, HONORED AT E. LIVERPOOL

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 25.—Burleigh Grimes, the Pittsburgh Pirates' pitching ace last season, and Harry (Hi) Myers, former Brooklyn and St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, now a county bank cashier at Youngstown, near here, were guests of honor last night at the East Liverpool Industrial Baseball League's annual dinner.

Two hundred and fifty fans attended the celebration, which was held in the Potters' Auditorium.

A silver trophy was presented the Homer Laughlin team, of Newell, W. Va., for winning the league championship.

DUQUESNE U. RESERVES PLAY KISKI SATURDAY

The Elmer Layden-coached Duquesne University Reserves will travel to Saltsburg Saturday to battle the strong Kiski football team, which has not lost a game this year, although it has been tied by the W. & J. Freshmen.

The reserve team will be made up of the reserve strength Layden has in the varsity. One of the players, Todd, who will be at right half against Kiski, played in the lineup in one period of Duquesne's biggest game, that against W. & J.

SIDE-STEPPING IS CHARGED

By TOM BIRKS.

NOW that the West View club has officially opened the gridiron season by saying that some clubs are side-stepping the Parkers, the season can be classed well under way. And seeing that the Port Vue Quakers and the McChesneytown gridiron machines are the two outfits that refused to meet the West View club at the latter's terms, they are the clubs at which the ire of this highly-press-agented club is aimed at.

Fans reading the epistle naturally come to the conclusion that the clubs run by Kennedy at McChesneytown, and Rogan at Port Vue are trying to steal through a season and at the end claim a championship. West View is crying—it is trying to book all the clubs in the district, and it is, but here's the catch—at its own terms. This North Side club, with its enclosed park and admission charge, probably feels that every gridiron machine in the district should feel highly honored to play at the park for nothing. McChesneytown and Port Vue, feeling that their clubs are just as much of an atraction, do not play for nothing. In fact, Manager Rogan has not yet been able to talk to Manager Muzzio regarding a meeting of these two famous clubs; a third party has done the talking for West View.

One week ago last Monday, Manager Rogan, of Port Vue, called the West View booker regarding a meeting Sunday between Port Vue and West View.

"We will come down to West View on Sunday," stated Manager Rogan. "What will you give us?"

"Two hundred and fifty dollars," answered the West View spokesmen. And the fans can imagine the answer to that, when it is estimated West View would take in a $1,500 gate for a game of that kind.

Rogan was not satisfied, so he offered West View $350 to play at Port Vue on an open field. West View turned that down flat. They do not travel. So the fans can sit back and digest that to see if West View is side-stepping.

McChesneytown's record also is attacked. Last season McChesneytown played every club on the road that would pay a reasonable guarantee, and finished in being defeated by the Burns Club Thanksgiving Day. This season its toughest game has been with the club West View side-stepped, Port Vue, and it played for the same guarantee offered West View.

This season West View has met Irwin Scholastics, a good club; South Greensburg, a set-up; New Castle, another set-up, many pounds lighter; Blaw-Nox, a good football team, but much too light for West View, and East Pittsburgh Firemen, which, with Irwin, is a real football club, and the only opposition West View has met this year. Last season the first real club West View met was the Bridgeville Firemen and the Der outfit beat West View, 7 to 6. Last Sunday Manager Der tried to talk business with West View, but nothing was doing.

McChesneytown last season beat Springdale 31 to 12; defeated Pitcairn Mohawks, 21-0; Johnstown Collegians, 18 to 0, and lost to Burns, 9-0; has been the most popular road club ever seen in the tri-state district. Its clean, collegiate type of club, certainly the most colorful in the district, is a great attraction. McChesneytown will meet West View any time at any place, but if West View is taking in $1,500 at an ordinary game, the Red and Black machine from Latrobe is not playing for $200 of it. No grief is being held by the writer for either McChesneytown or Port Vue, but in the interests of fair play, it is certainly good form to look into the booking methods of the West View club before it attacks the records of other clubs in order to force them to meet West View at the latter's own terms.

West View is not the greatest drawing card in the district. The fans naturally go to see both clubs in action. It takes two clubs to make a game. One club on the field without another, would not take a plugged nickel at the gate. So if it takes two clubs to make the game, both clubs are surely entitled to a fair share of the gate receipts.

Speaking Of Sports

FOR instance, P. J. Marshall, Carnegie '12, writes:

"That little note about Cyril Letzelter, which was in your column of Monday evening, was just what I've been waiting, or rather hoping, for. Cy holds down that old thankless battering halfback job that Mike Goodwin played so well. In Steffen's scheme of things, this position is vital, and, unless it is functioning well, the whole backfield clogs up. All Cy has to do is to throw himself right and left, clearing the way for the ball-toter, who gets the credit for possibly a sensational run. While, of course, the man with the ball must do his part, the general public and a great many sports writers overlook the boy who makes the run possible. For instance, last Saturday, Harpster made a beautiful run of 60 yards, as only he can, but how about the boy who protected him, his interference? Nobody remembers him."

And from J. F. Mullaney, of tins Ferry, O., comes this communication:

"Many thanks for your fine tribute to Cyril Letzelter. Sport writers in Pittsburgh seem to forget that only two years ago, when Cyril was in his nineteenth year, he tore the great Notre Dame line to shreds and took a particular delight in driving through Boringer, the all-America center of 1926, for five, seven and 10 yards at a crack. A little history on this lad would not be amiss.

"In his senior year at Martins Ferry (O.) High School, Penn State, West Virginia and Yale were greatly interested in him. Through my personal friendship for John Laboon and the high regard in which I hold Judge Walter Steffen and Clarence Overend I insisted that he take up his college work at Tech. I certainly appreciate the fact that you are one sport writer in the city of Pittsburgh who has found that Pitt, Tech and Duquesne are football teams of 11 full-blooded American boys. Most of them figure that last year Gibby Welch and 10 dummies defeated every team but one on their schedule. This year, when they sense the fact that Tech will have a winner, they flood the press with Harpster's deeds, leaving the impression that 10 other men move toward the goal line only when he suggests and at no other time do they even think. Harpster is a great player, but the other boys deserve some of the credit, and I am glad to see Letzelter begin to get what is coming to him."

GAME DOMESTICATED

DUNN FUNERAL IMPRESSIVE

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—Jack Dunn, owner-manager of the Baltimore Orioles, was buried today while scores of men prominent in baseball circles stood at his graveside.

Floral tributes that overflowed from eight automobiles expressed the sorrow of others throughout the nation. The funeral was held from Dunn's home. A requiem mass was said at St. Mary's Catholic Church and the burial was in the graveyard adjoining the church.

Among the mourners were Connie Mack, pilot of the Philadelphia Athletics; Ned Hanlon, former teammate of Dunn; Michael Drennan, scout for the Athletics; Clark Griffith, of the Washington club, and J. Conway Toole, president of the International League.

Each team in the International and most of those in the American and National leagues were represented. A floral tribute from Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis formed part of the huge banks of flowers.

TWO TIGER STARS HURT IN SCRIMMAGE

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Princeton's varsity scored 19 points against an all-star eleven and the freshmen yesterday, but two regulars sustained costly injuries. Sam Levine, first string guard, will be out for several weeks and Quarterback Jones was badly hurt.

PLEBES BEATEN BY BELLEFONTE

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The Bellefonte Academy eleven defeated the West Point Plebes in the stadium here yesterday afternoon, 27 to 6. Glattly starred for the locals, running a kickoff back for a touchdown. Temple, Reider and Smith led the visitors in the scoring.

The victory marked the fifth straight game for Bellefonte. The lineup:

Plebes—6.		Bellefonte—27.
Lankenan	L. E.	Hardy

Hillberg	R. E.	Croissant
McKeown	Q.	Graham

Touchdowns—Glattly, Temple 2, Smith, Reider. Points after touchdowns—Hardy, Vogel, Smith. Time of quarters—12 and 10 minutes. Referee—Hastings. Umpire—J. J. Sullivan. Linesman—C. A. Way.

TUSCALOOSA HIGH WINS 30 GAMES IN ROW

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 25.—(AP.)—The Tuscaloosa High School football team recently won its thirtieth straight game, and from all indications will run the string to a considerably higher figure before the current season has ended.

The Bears have not lost a game since 1924—and only one that year. During that period they have won from many out-of-the-state teams, including Senn High School, of Chicago.

Deal, Suther and several other products of the school have since won honors playing at the University of Alabama.

QUAKERS SIGN LOCAL BOY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

IN HIS rebuilding of the lowly Quakers, perennial cellar champs of the National League, Manager Bert Shotton included a powerful youngster of Upper Soho.

Shotton has succeeded in signing George Susce, former catcher of the Schenley High baseball team, and a football star of last year's Bellefonte Academy team.

The Philly pilot was so much impressed by the actions of Susce that he asked him to accompany the club from Pittsburgh to Chicago. George was a member of the Philadelphia entourage while the Phillies battled the Bears and on the same trip he worked under the bat in an exhibition game at Fort Wayne.

THOMPSON SPONSORS LAD

Fresco Thompson, peppery captain of the Quakers, is one of the sponsors for the muscular scholastic receiver. Thompson prevailed upon his manager to talk to George and after Susce had worked in the exhibition game Shotton was for signing him at once. His receiving, hustling and hitting caused the Quaker boss to make the lad a tempting offer.

Susce worked against some of the County League teams and was able to show to a good advantage. Although the Quakers are fairly well supplied with backstoppers, Shotton apparently thinks the Pittsburgh youth will force his way into an active role inside of a few years.

The acquisition of Tommy Thevenow for the shortfield position was another fine stroke on the part of Shotton. Burt aims to enter the next race with a first defense composed of Hurst, Thompson, Thevenow and Whitney. There is a quartet that will stand the major league test. Whitney is not a Pie Traynor, by any means, but he is a fair defensive player at worst; on offense he is a bearcat, his bat driving in something like 100 runs this year.

TO IMPROVE OUTFIELD

Shotton plans improvement in his outfield and there is no doubt but that Bert will make an effort to get one or two good pitchers. Just before the curtain went down on this year's race he was showing the rival clubs some promising sharpshooters. Anyhow things are looking up a bit for the new pilot, despite the handicaps which face any Quaker manager.

Chillysauce

REINDEER BILL KILLEFER, a man who has put an ideal into professional baseball, is one of the possible successors to Rogers Hornsby at Boston, provided the Rajah is traded. Killefer declined a chance to manage the Cardinals when they were champions of the sport, presumably because he thought he might not be dealing in a sportsmanlike manner with Hornsby, whose assistant he was at the time. Hornsby and Killefer were seen in earnest conversation at the recent series.

At the present time the lowly Red Sox have the call on Boston folks, despite their last-place finish. Bill Carrigan is such a square-shootin' fellow he appeals to fandom. Any little spurt on the part of the Red Sox is deeply interesting to the populace, largely because Bobby Quinn, president of the club, and Carrigan, are making a real effort to get somewhere. The condition as regards the directing of the Braves is so muddled up that the fans do not place much confidence in the club. Hence the Braves sustained a terrific loss in finances this year.

THE latest Redbird slated by the off-season gossips for a change in scenery is Catcher Jimmy Wilson, whose work in more than 142 games was a big part in the pennant drive of Bill McKechnie's club.

When the matter was put before Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, the big chief refused to comment on it other than to pay a tribute to summer's performances of the hard-working catcher.

WILSON'S failure to hold to the ball after touching Babe at the home plate in the third game of the series won him a place with the boys who like to put over the mythical trades. There are a lot of other receivers who probably would have dropped the rocket under similar conditions. Ruth is no gentle zephyr as he slides into a base with the winning marker.

MACK DENIES ORIOLE RUMOR

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 25.—Before leaving for Baltimore yesterday, to attend the funeral of Jack Dunn, Connie Mack emphatically denied he had any intention of taking over the Baltimore club.

"Mrs. Dunn is too much grieved over the untimely death of her husband," Mack said, "to talk at this time over the future of the Baltimore franchise. There is absolutely nothing to the report that I seek to buy a controlling interest in the club.

"You may also say that in the event Mrs. Dunn sells the club that Eddie Collins will not manage it. Collins is pleased with his present post of assistant manager and captain of the Athletics and nothing would induce him to make the change.

"Eddie is now in Canada hunting deer, but I know that I can speak for him in that respect. Eddie knows his future is here with the Athletics and he will never consider an offer to go elsewhere."

Mrs. Hagen Gets $1,000 Judgment Against Walter

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Judgment of $1,000 was secured by court order yesterday against Walter Hagen. The famous golfer's promissory notes for Mrs. Hagen's support had not been honored during June and July of this year. Hagen was not present to contest the judgment, which forthwith was rendered by default. Mrs. Hagen's testimony was that in November of last year she entered into a separation agreement with Sir Walter, the terms of which called for the latter to contribute $6,000 to her support on monthly notes, calling for $500 each.

$100,000 Grows to $5,000,000; Rosenwald Workers Well Off.

By B. C. FORBES

HAD you invested $100,000 in the stock of one company floated in 1906 your holdings would today have a market value of more than $4,500,000 and your cash dividends would have been almost $600,000, giving a total of $5,161,853.

A $35-a-week employe of 10 years' service who joined the employes' saving and profit-sharing pension fund when it was started 11½ years ago has today $27,280 to his credit on total savings of only $1,046.

The man at the head of this company was one of eight pioneers of business honored at a great gathering in New York last evening, Julius Rosenwald, of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago.

EMPLOYES in the savings fund can withdraw their fortune at any time after 10 years' service.

"People should not have to wait until they are ready to die before getting a reward," said Mr. Rosenwald when I talked with him in Chicago the other day. "They should be placed in a position to use their money, if they so wish, while they are living.

"The value of the securities—Sears, Roebuck stock—in our savings fund now exceeds $60,000,000. Only a small part of which, of course, has been actually paid in by the employes. They contribute only five per cent of their wages, up to a maximum of $300 a year.

"We have already paid out millions to employes who have left or are retired.

"BY investing the savings in our company's own stock, the employes have a direct incentive to do their best for the company. The company contributes 8½ per cent of its net earnings each year, without reductions for dividends or Federal income taxes.

"As a reward for long service, those who have been with us from five to 10 years have participated in the benefits to the extent of 50 per cent more than those under five years' service, while those with us 10 years or more have been allowed 100 per cent extra participation.

"It is really a great satisfaction to me that employes have fared so well under these arrangements."

AT my request, Mr. Rosenwald had General Auditor E. J. Pollack prepare a few typical examples of the amount received by employes who have resigned this year. Here they are:

	Yrs. in Fund.	Savings.	Co.'s Contribu.	Amount Received.

MR. ROSENWALD would be the last man to claim that the success of Sears, Roebuck & Co. has been mainly or even largely due to his own efforts. But everyone else frankly acknowledges that he has been the "daddy" of the enterprise. So whole heartedly has he devoted himself to it that he has always refused to become a director of any banking, railroad, industrial or (with one temporary exception) any other company.

He, more than any other individual, was responsible for raising the standards of the mail order business. A generation ago the morals of mail order houses usually were very different from what they are today. Rosenwald from the start insisted upon the exact truth and on fair dealing with everybody.

THIS will interest you. Mr. Rosenwald never regarded any other line of business as being as promising and attractive as his own until the Woolworth Company was floated. He analyzed it as a sure winner. He immediately placed an order for $1,000,000 worth of the stock being offered. All he was given, however, was $100,000 worth.

His judgment, of course, proved extremely sound, but the extraordinary fact is that the $100,000 invested in the new Woolworth stock has not yielded as much as $100,000 invested in the original Sears, Roebuck stock. The total value of the $100,000 Woolworth investment is today, including cash dividends, $3,546,600, against the Sears, Roebuck present value of over $5,000,000.

INCIDENTALLY, Mr. Rosenwald has given away probably more millions than he has left. Many years ago he told me: "All the other pleasures of life seem to wear out, but the pleasure of helping others in distress never does."

America does well to honor such men as Julius Rosenwald.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The raw sugar market was unchanged at 3.93c for spots duty paid, with no sales reported. The raw sugar futures market opened one point higher to one point lower with some selling of the distant positions by houses with European connections, while trading and commission houses bought the nearby deliveries. Subsequently the whole list steadied up on increased covering and prices advanced 1 to 2 points, although offerings appeared to increase on the upturn and reactions followed with prices at midday about net unchanged to 1 point higher. Trading, however, was not very active and operators were still inclined to limit fresh commitments and await developments in the spot market. A fair inquiry for nearby requirements was reported for refined sugar with prices unchanged at 5.25@5.30c for fine granulated.

New York Clearing House.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Clearing house statement: Exchanges, $1,391,000,000; balances, $125,000,000; Federal Reserve Bank's credit balance, $108,000,000.

HIGHER MONEY HALTS RALLY IN STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—Marking up of the call money rate from 6½ to 7½ per cent, coincident with the calling of upwards of $30,000,000 in loans, checked a brisk rally in today's stock market. Early gains of 1 to 9 points in a wide assortment of oils, motors, public utilities and foods were cut down, and a number of recent strong spots in the metal, merchandising and specialty shares were carried 1 to 7 points below yesterday's final quotations.

The rise in call money rates was generally regarded as temporary, although it brought about a sympathetic strengthening in the rates on short-term time loans. Wall Street bankers generally are of the opinion that the peak of the fall commercial demands has been passed. Announcement was made of the engagement of $2,000,000 in gold at London for export to New York, bringing the total on the current movement to around $12,000,000.

The bulk of the day's business news was favorable. Directors of the Gulf States Steel Company resumed dividends on the common stock, which had been suspended since July, 1927, and the new stock of the Consolidated Gas Company was placed on a $3 annual dividend basis, equivalent to $6 on the old stock, which previously paid $5. The Westinghouse Electric, Motor Products, Motor Wheel and Republic Steel Companies reported third quarter earnings, substantially in excess of those in the same period last year.

Oil shares again attracted a large speculative following. Reports that Cutten interests were large buyers of Sinclair were confirmed by an announcement that Mr. Cutten and his associates had purchased a large block of treasury stock, and that Mr. Cutten would be elected to the board at the next meeting. Sinclair common crossed 37 to a new high, and then fell back below 36 on realizing. Phillips, Skelly, Atlantic Refining, Independent Oil and Gas, Midcontinent, Sun and Superior oils all moved into new high ground.

U. S. Industrial Alcohol attained a new high record at 138 and then fell back on realizing following the announcement of an additional stock offering with valuable "rights" to shareholders. Western Union extended its gain to 8 points, American Bank Note to 7, Motor Products to 5 and Gotham Silk Hosiery, Mohawk Carpet, Sears, Roebuck, General Ice Cream and Radio were among the score or more issues to sell 3 to 4 points above yesterday's final quotations.

National Bellas Hess dropped 7 points, National Tea 5½, Greene Cananea 4½ and A. M. Byers, International Nickel, Johns Manville, Eastman Kodak and Coty yielded 2 to 4 points.

Oils Strong in Shaky Market.

A tightening money market brought a fair volume of realizing sales into the stock market today and served to put the brakes on the speculative enthusiasm which has been rampant most of the week. The impending brokers' loan report, due after the close today, was a matter of considerable conjecture with the street unable to make up its mind as to just what might be shown in the statement. There was a disposition to believe that a small reduction or a gain much smaller than last week's $75,000,000 increase would be disclosed. The reactionary movement at the end of last week was given as the reason for the expectation of the lower loan figures. Cautious selling in many sections of the market was evident most of the day. Oils, however, were a prominent exception, working higher with more or less speed under the leadership of Atlantic Refining which opened with another wide overnight gain. The new Atlantic, representing the four-for-one split of the old shares, sold today above 62, a much higher ratio than was attained by the old shares in the initial dealings. Arbitrage selling of the new stock offered a profit of almost 10 points at one time as the old stock was around 238 at a time when the new was around 62.

ARKANSAS GAS SHOWS STRENGTH IN LOCAL MARKET

GLASS BUSINESS BOOMS; PRICE STILL LAGS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

HIGH rates of activity in both the automobile and building industries have given the makers of plate glass a large volume of business, but no improvement in prices has been secured. Foreign competition still compels domestic makers to keep their quotations at low points, which are unprofitable for many producers.

Plate glass prices started downward in July, 1925. After declining over 40 per cent they have been practically stable for a year. An attempt on the part of one maker to establish higher levels early this year was unsuccessful.

WINDOW GLASS makers have been faced with similar competitive conditions, but they have recently announced two advances in prices, so that their outlook for the next few months is far brighter than that of the plate glass industry.

The Standard Plate Glass Company reported a net loss of $117,910 in the quarter ended September 30. This compared with a loss of $87,586 in the corresponding period of 1927.

In only one quarter during the past two years has Standard shown a profit. This was in the three months ended June 30, 1928, when net profits of $1,267 was reported.

In the first nine months of this year Standard showed a loss of $346,564 in spite of rigid economies in operation.

THE loss in the same period of 1927 was $332,528. At present the company has only one of its two plants in operation. July and August are normally dull months. These factors contributed to the loss in the third quarter. Production in the future may be concentrated at the Butler plant, where a new process for grinding and polishing is being installed.

THE manufacture of automobiles began to show a seasonal decline in September, but the output still is far ahead of 1927. In September 413,722 passenger cars and trucks were made in the United States. This was the second best month of the year. It was exceeded only by August when 461,356 cars were completed. In September 153,335 more cars were made than in the same month of 1927.

In the first nine months of this year production of cars was greater than in the entire year of 1927. It exceeded the first nine months of 1927 by 562,403 cars.

The combined production of both passenger automobiles and trucks has been greater in every month of this year than in the corresponding month of last year, with the exception of January. The output of passenger cars alone has been greater in every month.

THE spurt in demand for steel sheets last month can be seen in the fact that sales of independent producers, who report to the National Association of Flat Rolled Steel Manufacturers, were 370,936 tons in September, compared with 254,397 tons in August. Production was 318,907 tons against 329,396 tons in the previous month. This increased unfilled tonnage to 539,960 on October 1, against 498,023 tons on September 1.

Reports to the association cover about 70 per cent of the total sheet capacity. Practically all of the producers except the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company and Bethlehem Steel are members of the organization.

Sales in September were equivalent to 117.5 per cent of estimated capacity and production to 101 per per cent of capacity. This confirms the belief in the sheet trade that capacities have been estimated at too low a point.

NARROW CHANGES NOTED IN MISCELLANEOUS LIST

There was no change in the character of the trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, the list continuing to mark time and paying practically no attention to the excited market in New York.

Arkansas Gas displayed further strength in the early market and by the end of the first hour had advanced a small fraction to the level attained in the sudden spurt two weeks ago. In the recession following that rise to 3⅞ the stock fell back to around 3, but has moved forward steadily in the past few days, reaching the 3⅞ level again this morning. No definite news has been forthcoming as to the reason for the strength in the stock, but it is generally believed that further consolidation of Cities Service and other gas properties in the Southwest will find Arkansas in the deal. An additional incentive to the upward movement is the general betterment in the oil industry. Arkansas has substantial oil production on some of its properties.

Miscellaneous issues were steady to firm. McKinney Manufacturing common recovered the large fractional loss sustained in the late market yesterday, while William Zoller common scored a further fractional gain and Pittsburgh Plate Glass was unchanged at 280.

Curb stocks continued strong and substantial advances were recorded in this market. Plymouth Oil moved up further and there was a strong gain in Follansbee. Reymers was higher on reports that a block of stock overhanging the market had been absorbed.

In the late market Arkansas Gas went through its previous high on the current upturn and sold into new ground at $4 a share.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The cotton market opened firm today at an advance of 5 to 18 points, with December and later deliveries selling about 14 to 23 points net higher during the first few minutes on trade buying and covering. The latter was probably promoted by slightly lower ginning figures than suggested by some of the recent reports, but the advance to 19.80c for December and 19.64c for March met a good deal of realizing or liquidation and considerable southern selling. This soon eased the market off to 19.52c for December, or about 4 to 5 points below yesterday's closing quotations, and the market was rather nervous and irregular at the end of the first half hour. October contracts sold off to 19.74c or 6 points net lower under liquidation attributed to the circulation of notices representing about 5,400 bales.

The final liquidation of October contracts sent the price about 25 points below December with October selling off to 19.20. The weakness of the near position had an unsettling effect on the general list. December declined to 19.45 and March to 19.40, making net declines of about 8 to 12 points on the more active positions, but after trading ended in October at midday prices steadied slightly on covering. October went out at 19.28 to 19.30 compared with 19.80 at the close yesterday.

Mr. Gardner's Opportunity
He Can Move to Abolish Evil System That Is the Key to Graft Scandal.

District Attorney Gardner admits that city magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace have discharged or dismissed on payment of small fines defendants in liquor and other cases of commercial vice that they were required by law to hold for court.

He admits that this system practically amounts to the licensing of vice.

He admits that it may offer a key to the solution of the problem on which the grand jury investigating graft is working.

He admits that magistrates who have been following this practice may be liable to prosecution for malfeasance in office.

But he qualifies his promise to go into the situation thoroughly by saying "if time permits," "if opportunity presents itself."

Nobody but the District Attorney can make the opportunity or devote the time to this important matter that it requires. He is the man to whom the public looks for the abolition of the evil sytsem. He was elected to do just that kind of work. There is no one else to whom the task can be shifted.

Voters Should Support Good Roads Bond Issue

The Chamber of Commerce, through its committee on highways and bridges, has indorsed the proposal for the issuance of $50,000,000 of state highway bonds, which will be among the important matters coming before the voters Tuesday, November 6.

The resolution of indorsement, copies of which have been sent to officials of the State Highway Department, includes a statement of an exhaustive study of the road situation in the state, a look into the desirability and economy of road construction through bonds, and, finally, an inquiry as to whether it were best to build roads to the extent permissible within the limitations of current revenues, or make greater extension of the state highway system as soon as possible and achieve at once the benefits improved roads bring.

With recourse only to current revenues it is found that the state may extend its system by not more than 170 miles per year, while the highway department is so organized that it can efficiently build 800 miles per year. The bonds would provide means to construct 330 miles per year in addition to the mileage possible from current income of the department.

Argument in favor of more speedy extension of the system is based on the monetary saving through the existence of good roads. If it is desirable to have good roads at all it is desirable that the benefits therefrom extend to all the territory contemplated in the entire highway system, now 60 per cent complete, as soon as possible.

The committee emphasizes the value of improved roads as a distinctly business proposition, through facilitating the flow of commerce, benefiting cities, boroughs and townships, also the individual through the enhancement of property values. The committee also points out that more improved roads will increase the car-carrying capacity of the state highways, which will mean more cars to provide revenue to care for retirement of the bonds.

This is another important thing for voters to keep in mind on election day.

J. & L. Dividend Shows Steel Trade Prosperous

This is not an "off" year. Despite the great public interest in the outcome of the national election, the jinx that is supposed to alight on the shoulders of business and industry during a presidential campaign is not in evidence. In fact, the contrary is the case, if we take our basic industry, steel, as a criterion.

The Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, with a record of earnings in the quarter ended September 30 greater by nearly $2,000,000 than for the same period a year ago, declared an extra dividend of $1 per share. Net profits for the quarter were $4,504,905; corresponding period last year, $2,607,013. Also the profits for the last quarter were substantially in excess of those of the previous three months.

The prosperity of this concern is a reflection of general conditions in the steel industry. The Jones and Laughlin plants are operating at 85 per cent capacity. The Department of Commerce reports that new orders for fabricated steel in all plants throughout the country were 95 per cent of capacity in August and 84 per cent in September.

Evidently there is a very sensible opinion that the country is not "going to the dogs" no matter who is elected. It also is evident that Pittsburgh is quite prosperous.

Talk—What Is It?
Only TRUTH Hurts.

Attorney General Sargent is for Hoover, needless to say, but he is even more strongly for enforcement of law and reminds all his subordinates, including Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, of a statute that "forbids the use of official authority or influence to coerce the political action of any person or body."

Newspapers suggest that "this means the muzzling of Mabel Willebrandt," but it probably DOESN'T. Attorney General Sargent knows the law, including one established in the Garden of Eden, taking precedence of all others, and he would probably not attempt to muzzle any lady, especially Mrs. Willebrandt. However, talk harms no one. Only TRUTH can hurt.

Big Companies Worry
But NEED Not.

The Radio Corporation of America disturbs Western Union and Postal Telegraph, planning a domestic radio message company to compete with telegraph messages.

With no wires to erect or maintain, radio could cut prices, and promises to do so.

Radio also MIGHT make an arrangement with telegraph lines to avoid cutting rates and provide "enough for all." That is probably what would happen, the public paying the bill, as usual.

Body vs. Soul
(Luke 12; 16-34.)

AND he spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully:

And he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits?

And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods.

And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry.

But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?

So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.

And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on.

The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment.

Consider the ravens: for they neither sow nor reap; which neither have storehouse nor barn; and God feedeth them: how much more are ye better than the fowls?

And which of you with taking thought can add to his stature one cubit?

If ye then be not able to do that thing which is least, why take ye thought for the rest?

Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

If then God so clothe the grass, which is to day in the field, and to morrow is cast into the oven; how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind.

For all these things do the nations of the world seek after; and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.

But rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you.

Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.

Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth.

For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

Rats

THERE are 120,000,000 of them (estimated) in the United States. And, according to the Public Health Service that is just 120,000,000 too many.

We seem to have succeeded in keeping this land free of the rat-bred bubonic plague which in the past two decades has killed more than 11,000,000 people in India alone.

Nevertheless, our rat population is costing us $400,000,000 annually in needless waste. If we were as thrifty as, say, the French, we should prefer reclaiming this waste and putting it to useful purposes—as, for example, to education or the advancement of art.

Only to stop it we should have to kill those 120,000,000 rats. Everybody knows they ought to be killed. But who will undertake the job?

Curb Your Appetite

THERE are things that you know you should not eat, but you do eat them, and you suffer for it every time.

You complain about the old machine within because it will not operate as it once did.

But you won't give it a chance to improve, to build up its defects and weaknesses created by your own poor judgment and desire to do as you please.

Probably you have been warned that the course you are following is likely to end in disaster.

And you have said that when you reached the time when you could not do as you pleased you would be ready to die.

Well, you may have reached it, but you are not willing to meet the end and give up to it, are you?

Isn't it time for you to mend your ways?

Less self-indulgence and you would be enjoying more things today.

When nature balks you can't force it.

It may be a bitter dose, but the sooner you take what your system demands the less discomfort you will have as you journey to life's end.

A STARRY NIGHT
By Garrett P. Serviss

"Oh, look, how many stars there are tonight!"

I HAVE often heard this exclamation, and I am sure that some of those who uttered it thought that the number of stars in the sky was changeable, like that of the number of clouds. They imagined that the stars were lighted up at night like lamps, and that on particular occasions the heavenly lamplighter chose to treat the earth to a holiday illumination. Seeing some star that specially struck their eyes at the moment, they supposed it to be one that had never been seen before. This idea, that the stars are mere casual lights, plentiful at one time, scarce at another, is more common than seems possible. Even when assured by an astronomer that such is not the case, some people are slow to believe him.

"Why, I was told when a boy," said a man, "that the stars were not the same in number one night after another and I never thought of questioning it. It always looked so to me."

"But didn't you think it might be due to the state of the atmosphere—clearer some nights than others?"

"It never occurred to me that way; of course I didn't expect to see stars on a cloudy night."

"And did it never occur to you that when a bright moon is present in the sky, her light may dim the stars?"

"I never thought anything about that!"

On a full-moon night stars below the fourth magnitude are hardly visible to an untrained eye, while on a clear, moonless night any good eye can see stars of the sixth magnitude, or a little below. This means that on such a night between 6,000 and 7,000 stars are visible to the naked eye, in the whole sky, while only a few hundred are visible on a moonlit night. I speak of "the whole sky" in connection with the number of stars visible, in order to remind the reader that only half of the sky can be seen at one time; the other half being then below the horizon. But the circumpolar stars, of course, are all visible every night, at all seasons.

On a clear, dark night a good eye can distinguish at one time about 3,000 stars, most of them very faint. But at the same time an opera glass will enable the eye to see about 50,000, while the 100-inch telescope on Mount Wilson could probably photograph a billion.

Even the brightest stars when seen with the naked eye through full moon light seem disinished, their light being concentrated into a curiously piercing ray.

There is a singular misconception concerning the visibility of the same stars in different countries. This is illustrated by a story of an Irish maid in America, who, one starry evening, was lamenting her homesickness to her mistress:

"O, be these the same stars, ma'am, that be seen in Ireland?"

"Yes."

"Ah, then, they're a message like!"

It is not between the West and the East that the starry heavens change their appearance at corresponding times of the night, for the stars, like the sun, make an apparent round of the sky from East to West every 24 hours; but there is a permanent difference between the North and South, for all the stars that lie below the southern horizon from our point of view in the northern hemisphere are visible to people in the southern hemisphere, and vice versa. That is why we never see the constellation of the Southern Cross unless we go far south, and the South Americans must come north of the equator to see our Pole Star. But the constellations that lie in the middle of the sphere, along the celestial equator and the ecliptic, are visible from both hemispheres. Thus the great constellation Orion, lying on the equator, can be see nfrom all parts of the globe. But the full moon can dim even the glories of Orion.

Tales That Are Told

Obvious

AN old-fashioned man not very well versed in etiquette visited his son at college one day. There he was invited to attend a formal dinner. When coffee was served, he poured the hot coffee from the cup into the saucer.

The student, feeling embarrassed as all eyes were turned towards his father, asked in a whisper:

"Why do you do that, father?"

The old man, unabashed, answered:

"You go to college and don't even know that! Why, I do it to cool the coffee."

On Business

JOE WOOD was a clerk, Jim Riley was a barber. Joe and Jim were madly in love with Flora Wilkins, a waitress. Joe always visited his love on Saturday nights. Jim's night was Wednesday.

Flora finally married Jim. On the following Saturday night Joe presented himself at her door as usual.

"You can't come in, Joe," said Flora, regretfully. "You know I'm married now."

"Huh!" said Joe, giving her a haughty glance. "I didn't come to see you. I came to get shaved."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today
By WILL ROGERS

DOROTHY come home from school all het up about Americanizing our language. She found out at school that they was all kinds of French words creeping in, especially in automobiles and airplanes. She was explaining to her dad that patriotic Americans ought to use American words whenever they was two kinds of words to choose from.

"Now, looka here, Dad," she says "for instance, what do you call a guy that drives a car for a living?"

He was a sensible dad, and he says, "Well, that depends on whether he hit me or I hit him."

The Rhyming Optimist
By ALINE MICHAELIS

Amends

WE envy, sometimes, childhood's gay estate
Where, on swift, dancing feet,
The little revellers with hearts elate
Find every hour so sweet.

We fancy, sometimes, could we enter there
Old faiths would come again
And we would hear in answer to our prayer,
Life's sweetest, first refrain.

Yet soon this futile, sudden longing ends
And gladly back we turn
To manhood and its pride that makes amends
For wounds that ache and burn;

To manhood and the vision that it brings
Of lofty destinies,
Its glimpse of splendid and immortal things
In other realms than these!

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

New York Day by Day
by
O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—New York seizes the new and original with an enthusiastic hysteria. Ga-ga is the term. But it turns a cold shoulder and stifles a yawn at a repeat. Steve Brodie's alleged and oft disputed leap from Brooklyn Bridge won him undying fame.

Yet an intrepid fellow from St. Louis jumped from the bridge three different times a few months ago and won only a skimpy paragraph in the tabloids and a heavy cold. Diamond Jim Brady conceived the idea of decorating himself like a Tiffany show case and became a celebrity.

A half dozen itching for his Broadway mantle tried the same thing and found everybody looking out the window. The bedlam inspired by the first trans-Atlantic fliers gradually thinned down to a handful of the official reception committee in silk hats.

The response of New Yorkers to something different, no matter how absurd, was illustrated in packing Madison Square Garden to see the first dance marathon. Until it was stopped, as some humorist observed, "for cruelty to dogs," it was a high spot for Broadway night owls.

One night many winters ago, a group of celebrities found all tables taken at a supper club. Some one suggested snaffling a sandwich any old place and calling it a night. A taxi driver let them out at a delicatessen store on upper Broadway, where sandwiches were served in a back room.

A society editor happened to drop in there to use a telephone and included their presence in the next day's jottings. In two weeks the place became a social rendezvous and the proprietor is now rated a millionaire. Scores tried to ape the idea, but with no success.

Such queer little haunts are hit by the bolt of popularity for no reason save to assuage the Manhattan thirst for something new. People who go places are always looking for them. One of the newest is the back room of a Fifth avenue candy store—serving soft drinks, sandwiches and salads.

A magazine editor and his art editor slumped into a semi-collapse the other day over something arriving in the morning mail. Some one inclosed a double page spread of a pen and ink drawing torn from their magazine and marking one touch in it with "How revolting!" Beads of perspiration popped from their classic brows as they gazed at an obvious bit of pornographic art that had escaped them. What they beheld, however, was the prank of an artistic practical joker. He had inked in the shocker in such a fashion only a microscope revealed the deception.

A gentleman with nothing to do and doing it well collects artistic "bulls" in magazines and newspaper illustrations, and they show how experts often O. K. blunders. One from the cover of a celebrated weekly when turned upside down would make a dandy "special" for those whispering post card salesmen of Paris.

* * *

The $3 a day room with bath is available in a number of the large new hotels in town. Astute hotel men say prices will never reach a pre-war level in this generation, but this winter will see a marked reduction all around. The chief reason is over building. And patronage the past summer reached a low level.

* * *

Men who have lived in New York 10 years seldom return to home towns to visit. As the old melodramas had it: "Once the city gets into your system, etc." The real reason, however, is that in 10 years a small town undergoes a complete change. You do not know the old place and in trying to fit in with the new surroundings you become just another village nuisance. Going back home is no longer romantic, save in the sentimental song.

* * *

The last time I visited my home town trying to look wise as though I had just joined the League of Nations or something, an old-timer inquired: "Still in the printin' business, Bub?"

THE BAD MAN
By Dr. Frank Crane

A trite subject is the influence of a good man. We are often told that the gist of the gospel is the kind of influence that a good man exerts unconsciously.

My attention was called the other day to the influence of a bad man.

"I can pardon all he did to me," said the divorced wife to me, "that is, I can overlook his abuse of my generosity, his stealing from me and his acknowledged infidelity.

"The worst is, what he has done to me internally. He has ruined my inner life.

"He has destroyed my faith in human nature. It takes a great effort for me not to become hard and cynical. I used to believe in folks and think there was good in everybody. I have become dubious and suspicious.

"The parables of the Prodigal Son and the Good Samaritan do not somehow convince me any more. I think if that Prodigal Son were to return to me I would put him upon a year or so's probation. If I were the Good Samaritan I should want to have the man wounded by the roadside investigated.

"I used to think that everybody had some spark of goodness in them, no matter how bad he seemed, some good trait that could be appealed to, some latent virtue that the right environment might develop.

"It is a revelation to me, and a bitter one, to realize that there are some people who cannot be accounted for by heredity or environment or any of our other usual excuses, but are just plain bad.

"All the kindness you show them, all your forbearance and forgiveness, simply hardens them. All your restrictions simply make them slyer.

"It is as though some one had tarred all my bright ideals. My finer beliefs have been smudged. I am polluted internally.

"Just to know that such a man exists destroys all the young and verdant faith I once had.

"I do not want to be hard. I do not want to be cruel. But somehow I am leaning toward these things.

"I even used to be thoroughly opposed to capital punishment, but now I believe there are certain persons who should be exterminated.

"I have been immune to all the arguments of the cynics and the pessimists. I simply did not believe them. Now my optimism has been ruined.

"Believe me, a bad man can do more harm just by living than any advocate of Satan could accomplish by argument.

OH, THESE WOMEN
By Leola Allard

A CALIFORNIA woman had her husband turn over all his property to her, promising, he says, to give him a $75 a month allowance, and to establish a trust fund to insure its payment. Then she didn't do it.

Every day women are getting their husbands to turn over all their property, promising anything that it takes to accomplish the transfer. And through it all, never a wave of suspicion seems to flit across the face of the poor simpleton who gets the bequest.

Chicago beauty experts say, "Good business men have thin, brittle hair, and stupid men have heavy flowing locks." They add: "He men have naturally curly hair."

I saw one having a permanent wave in a beauty salon today. If that's a HE MAN, Heaven help us!

Hendrik Vanloon's third wife is divorcing him and naming his second wife co-respondent.

It's being done in the best circles all over the country. Those who divorce one or two, find that they all have pretty much the same faults and it's easier to get along with one you're used to than get adjusted all over again.

Remarriage dinners are being given to old friends to announce the return engagements.

An 84-year-old man is a "coy bridegroom" in California.

He would have been merely a bridegroom in any other state. You can't blame them for boasting.

No sales resistance at all.

A seven-year-old boy in kindergarten on Columbus Day was to talk on Columbus. He had clipped a picture from a magazine, and he held it up to the class in which he was a shining light. "This," said he, "is Columbus, and that female standing there beside him is supposed to be Justice."

The World Bureau says that the Countess Magnani, formerly Miss Mary Hager, of New York, complains to a Paris court that when her husband forced her to write him a check for $100,000 while he held a stiletto against her heart she thought it was a little too much."
